NO EXEMPTION FOR THE JEWS

J. Moode, manager of the news stand in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, protesting against any legislation which would prevent tourists and other travelers from getting their American papers from Canada. The bill would drive away tourists from Canada. The bill would, Mr. Bourassa said, prevent the sale of postage stamps in hotels on Sunday.

Mr. German expressed the opinion that the clause should not be in the bill, and claimed that it was not proper to attempt to prevent the sale of newspapers on United States railroads running through Canada on Sunday.

Mr. Boie, having been informed last Sunday, out of curiosity purchased a New York Sunday paper, which, he said, was a record of divorces, social scandal and fifth generally, totally unfit to be circulated in Canada. The paper, he said, was a disgrace to civilization.

Mr. Laverne suggested that any newspaper unit for public reading should be stopped at the frontier by the criminal justice department. Col. Hughes came to the defense of the American newspaper, the character of which he defended.

Mr. Macpherson asked Mr. Macdonell whether he was opposed to the publication of Sunday morning newspapers. Mr. Macdonell said he was only speaking of the clause as it stood.

Mr. Macpherson insisted that the amendment was a whole, and it was inconsistent to allow United States papers in on Sunday when Canadian papers were not allowed to publish. Everybody knew American Sunday papers were not on the same level as Canadian papers, and were a menace to purity.

The clause was adopted. Upon the clause making exception in favor of persons who conscientiously and habitually observe the seventh day of the week, Mr. Bourassa offered an amendment. He contended that if left to the Jews with too much latitude, under which they might have more work on their employees on Sunday because they abstained from work on Saturday.

He moved that the clause be amended so that it should read: "Notwithstanding anything herein contained, whoever conscientiously, habitually and invariably observes as a day of rest and worship any other day of the week than Sunday, and actually refrains from work on that day, and, if he be an employer, permits no work or labor or trade to be performed on that day upon his premises, shall not be subject to prosecution for permitting work or labor on the first day of the week." This, he explained, would enable the Jew to open his store on Saturday night after sundown.

Mr. Wilfrid Laurier said that the clause was in favor of the minority. If the Jews wished to observe the seventh day of the week, and did not do anything to disturb other persons, then they should not be liable for a penalty on Sunday. It was impossible to come to any conclusion if everyone should get his pound of flesh in the present legislation. He would therefore support Mr. Bourassa's amendment.

Mr. Fielding suggested a clause along similar lines granting exemption to any person who for conscientious reasons observed another day of the week, but extended this only to work done on Sunday in an enclosed building.

Mr. McKenize asked how work could be allowed in a shop and not in a field. Mr. Fielding replied that work in a field would be a scandal in the sight of other people, and therefore objectionable. He favored Mr. Bourassa's amendment.

The road being cleared, the vote was then taken on the main clause eleven in the bill. The vote was 11 in favor and 11 against. The vote was 11 in favor and 11 against. The vote was 11 in favor and 11 against.

BIG EXPLOSION AT AMHERSTBURG

Twelve Tons of Dynamite Goes Off Near Grosse Isle.

WINDOWS BADLY SHATTERED

Two Detroiters Boating Near Scene of Disaster Nearly Drowned and Terribly Bruised.

Amherstburg, Ont., June 28.—With a report that shook everything in the vicinity of the lower Detroit River, 12 tons of dynamite stored on an artificial island, near Stony Island, exploded at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. No lives were lost, but Harry Rogers, 32 Montclair street east, and Theodore H. Perry, 477 Fourth avenue, of Detroit, who were shanty boat near by, had a miraculous escape from instant death. Amherstburg buildings were rocked and hundreds of windows broken. The populace, with visions of the Frisco earthquake horror, rushed to their homes in frenzy.

The dynamite was the property of Dunbar & Sullivan, dredging contractors, and was stored on the island to be used as needed for blasting rock in the ship channel.

Rogers and Perry were the only ones in the vicinity when the dynamite let go. Both say they did not know what had happened until they found themselves floating in the water some distance from the island.

"When I came to the surface," says Rogers, "I saw our boat smashed to pieces and knew something terrible must have happened. I looked at the island where the shanty had stood, but the island and shanty were gone and the spot was level."

Perry tells substantially the same story: "I didn't know what had happened until the water revived me, then I felt as if I was burning up. Rogers yelled at me that his legs were broken and I was afraid he would drown. I was hanging to a detached seat from the boat and he was clinging to a piece of the rail. I seemed to be bleeding all over and could not help him."

Dr. R. C. Rudy, of 161 Miami avenue, Detroit, was at Grosse Isle at the time and witnessed the accident. He put out in a small boat, while several tugs hurried over from Amherstburg.

Both Rogers and Perry were practically nude when rescued from the water by James Lafayette, a farm hand employed by Edwin Henderson, at his summer house on Grosse Isle. Their bruised and bleeding bodies presented a ghastly sight. Their shirts were torn into ribbons.

The tug Pauline Hickles was first to reach the scene after the men were taken aboard the small boat. They were transferred first to Dr. Rudy's launch and later to the Hickler, on which they were wrapped in blankets by Capt. J. H. Moran, and brought to Amherstburg.

When seen Wednesday night both men were swathed in bandages, and were resting comfortably in the Lake View Hotel. They will probably be out in a few days. A pair of trousers belonging to one of them was later picked up in the water near the scene of the explosion.

Amherstburg people, tug captains and dredgemen have various theories as to the cause of the explosion. One is that Rogers and Perry were bathing, and while taking a rest on the island indulged in a cigarette smoke, and carelessly threw a lighted butt near the shanty, setting fire to the building.

It is also alleged the boat the two men were cruising in contained a rifle and a 38-caliber revolver, and that the men were indulging in target practice, shooting at the dynamite shanty.

All these stories Rogers and Perry consistently and persistently deny. "I'll take my oath that we didn't land on that island," said Perry dramatically.

Amherstburg folks say it would not be necessary to land on the island to take a shot at the shanty. It is also asserted positively that smoke was seen issuing from the shanty just prior to the explosion.

Rogers and Perry say they were on their way to the Monroe yacht race. Perry is married. His wife is expected here tonight.
