WOODEN TEETH.

Japanese dentists have introduced wood as a substitute for porcelain and rhinoceros ivory in the making of false teeth. The wooden teeth used by the Japanese dentist are remarkably natural in appearance and in the fine bluish color peculiar to the teeth of the Malay race. The teeth are fastened in place by a secret process jealously guarded by its inventor.

CLEVER LINES FROM THE TEST.

Dramatic critics in the leading cities are unanimous in declaring that "The Test," Eugenie Blair's latest success, contains some of the cleverest lines ever written. The following are a few of the excerpts from the play:—
From the children of the poor come the great men of the earth.
Marriage is a sacrament, and, without love, it is a degradation.
Happiness is the right of youth alone.
Charity is the greatest crime of the age, for it is a begging of the question, "The Right to Live."
The rich who do charity work are usually in need of charity.
A woman always gets what she wants—that's why she is miserable.

The woman who marries a man to reform him is a widow before she's a bride.
Every woman is jealous. Even if she doesn't want a man herself, she is jealous of the woman who gets him.
There is no friendship between man and woman; for one is always sure to give more than the other.
We search everywhere for that which may be found only in ourselves.
Out of the labor of despair was born the flower of genius.
The joy of work, which can alone bring happiness, has turned to the chase of the dollar.
We are rainbow chasers, looking for bags of money at the ends of the rainbow and losing the radiance.
On the canvas and signed by Millet, the picture of a man of sixty, out of some millions, would be bought by some millionaire for $50,000. In the flesh, signed by God Almighty, he isn't worth fifty cents.
