There is an object lesson in this for the manufacturer who spends his money for nation-wide publicity without having distribution.

National advertisers who use newspapers spend their money where it actually moves their products from the dealers' shelves to people's homes. Newspaper advertising is the most profitable, because it eliminates waste.

The Lancaster Highway Board is introducing a welcome improvement by the installation of catch basins to drain the Fairville streets. In the past there has been no method of draining the streets in wet weather, except by surface drainage, and the catch basins connected with the new sewerage system, will help to keep the streets in much better condition.

Supporters of the Royals, the champions of the Fairville baseball league, are looking for better results in the remaining games of the series of seven, which they are playing with the Glenwoods of the East End League than they have had in the first two. Meanwhile the public meeting at which the two cups are to be presented to the Royals, has been postponed until the conclusion of the present series.

William Griffiths, of Chicago, who has been visiting his aunt, Mrs. James Masson, Fairville, will leave on his return trip tomorrow. Mrs. Masson will accompany him and will spend several weeks in the western city.

James McAuley, formerly a well-known contractor in Fairville, who went west several years ago, has returned for a visit and is renewing old friendships.

Against Russians—Vividly Recalls Days of Battle

After having watched some of the play in the local tournament this week, and not being expert at tennis, we hope our curiosity will be excused, if we ask why it seems so hard to hit the netting?

The sporting editor on being shown the preceding, became wrathy, and respired, "It's not."
