ST. JOHN, N. B., FEBRUARY 14, 1902

VALENTINE DAY.

Saint Valentine, whose festival is observed on February 14th, was a Christian martyr of the reign of Emperor Claudius, about 270 A. D. The festival was observed before the time of Gregory the Great. The custom of sending valentines had its origin in a heathen practice connected with the worship of Juno on or about this day, and its association with the saint is wholly accidental. The goddess Juno was regarded as the special protectress of marriage, and the guardian of woman from birth to death.

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

Speaking at a meeting in Boston this week, Rev. Dr. Winship stated that while 95 per cent. of the teaching in the schools of the state, outside of cities, is done by women, the leadership is with the men. Outside of the cities the female teachers do not get more than $1.75 per day. In contrast to this Dr. Winship pointed out that nurses get $3 per day and board, dressmakers $3, and washerwomen $1.50 per day. According to this comparison the encouragement for girls to enter the teaching profession is very small. And the pay of female teachers is higher in Massachusetts than in many other states. Similar conditions prevail in this province, where the salaries of all teachers are too small and of female teachers exceptionally so.

THE ISSUE IN CHARLOTTETOWN.

The Charlottetown Examiner speaking on Tuesday of the recent civic elections says: "If Messrs. Wear and McDonald should be elected tomorrow what will the world think about the consistency of the electors of Charlottetown?"

It may be a relief to the esteemed Examiner to know that the world is not from present indications greatly worried over the civic elections in Charlottetown. Here is Prince Henry coming to New York, and the policemen's sports drawing nigh in St. John. Parliament is in session at Ottawa. Then there are Kentucky battles, the Anglo-Japanese alliance, Mr. Tarte's protection speech, and the four editors of the Telegraph. We fear the Examiner must for the present be content with the opinion of the island folk, and let the world go by.

AMERICAN APPROVAL.

The Portland, Me., Press expresses itself in favor of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, which it says is of importance to all nations that are seeking markets in the orient. Continuing, the Press says:—

"Russian dominion in the Chinese empire means restriction of opportunities of other nations to extend their trade therein. England on the other hand stands for the open door with equal opportunities for all nations. But neither England nor Japan contemplates aggression in the Chinese empire. Their purpose is to preserve its integrity and to prevent domination either directly or indirectly by any other nation. The alliance is in effect a notice served on Russia that she will not be permitted to seek exclusive opportunities in the Flowery Kingdom. It ought to have the moral support of the United States, for it is in our interest as well as in that of the contracting parties.

The Quebec Chronicle, in a long editorial, settles the fast Atlantic service to its own complete satisfaction. The scheme is to transfer the I. C. R. to the C. P. R. and run a line of 25 knot steamers to Halifax in winter and Quebec in summer, calling at Sydney to land the mails during the latter season. St. John, which is the Atlantic terminus of the C. P. R., and an all-the-year-round port, is not mentioned by the Chronicle at all. However, we have heard of this fast Atlantic service several times, and also of the transfer of the I. C. R. to the C. P. R. There is as yet no occasion for panic.

Now that the parliament is in session at Ottawa, the country will be grateful to its representatives if they esteem the despatch of public business of more value than many speeches. Some glorification of themselves must be expected from the members of the government, and some keen criticism by the opposition, but the country will willingly forgive the patriot who is self-sacrificing enough to say nothing when he has nothing to say.

What the city council can do to strengthen the hand of Mr. George Robertson, M. P., on his dry dock mission to Ottawa should be done cheerfully and without unnecessary delay.

If the American authorities wait long enough the Bulgarian brigands may offer a bonus for the privilege of returning Miss Stone to her friends.

MANITOBA WHEAT.

Is Listed at Duluth—American Millers Want It—Will Duty be Removed?

Manitoba wheat for the first time in the history of the grain trade has been listed on the Duluth grain exchange. This is interesting as showing the progress that the Canadian wheat country is making in the eyes of the wheat world. The contract grades of wheat from here are now being handled in Duluth in exactly the same way that Duluth prices are looked after here. That is, Manitoba bonded wheat is sold direct from Duluth for export, and it is expected that in a year or so Manitoba wheat will be quoted the same way on the Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Louis and New York markets.

The prohibitive tariff on wheat enforced by the United States from Canada prevents the wheat being sold across the line for local account, or for re-inspection on the Duluth basis and this has given rise to an interesting discussion among grain men across the line as to advisability of removing the tariff on Canadian wheat. Speaking of this matter C. A. Young, president of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange stated to a Winnipeg Free Press reporter that the question involved so many different sides that he would not care to express an opinion. "It would be to the advantage of the farmers here certainly to have wheat on the free list into the states, but if it came to a compromise, and taking off the tariff here, there would be more to say. The wheat here, while I don't say it is of a higher grade than wheat grown across the line, is of a different kind, and there has been a great demand for it."

They Want Our Wheat.

Under the heading "We Need Canadian Wheat," the Minneapolis Journal says:

"Attention is called to the growth of the Canadian grain trade by the presence in Minneapolis of a Port Arthur gentleman who is figuring with local elevator builders on an increased elevator capacity of 6,000,000 bushels at Port Arthur. That city and the neighboring Port William already have a considerable elevator capacity. They are now—with two railroads to the western Canadian wheat fields—in a fair way to become the Canadian counterparts of Duluth and Superior.

"The Canadian west has just begun to grow wheat. Within a few years it will be the most extensive hard wheat producing region in the world. The mills of Minneapolis will need that wheat. If it were not for the tariff the wheat would now be coming here and to Duluth-Superior, and would be handled as a part of the American wheat crop, instead of being sent abroad to compete with it in Europe.

"Well-informed grain men think that if this Canadian wheat were to be regarded as a part of the whole American crop it would cause the average level of wheat prices to rule somewhat higher than at present. Being denied access to the American market and the consumption of Canada being insignificant compared with the country's wheat-raising capacity, the Canadian crop is practically together an export crop. That is known in Liverpool and gives the buyers there certain advantages over the Canadian sellers. They jam the price down to the lowest notch, and that process, of course, has its effect on the price paid for American grain offered in the same market.

"If this be a correct view, the tariff instead of being a protection to the American wheat grower is really an injury. He should not overlook the fact that the price of wheat is determined in Liverpool, not in Minneapolis; that it is the price for the export surplus that determines the price for the whole crop.

"But from the view point of the milling interest it strikes us that there are very strong reasons why they should wish the tariff on Canadian wheat removed. Already in short crop years our millers have had to go out of the hard wheat region to get grain for their mills. Yet across that imaginary line to the north are grown millions of bushels of fine hard wheat and the output of those Canadian plains will bound up marvelously in the next few years."

CHAMBERLAIN AND WIFE.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—Replying to a toast to himself and to the luncheon which took place in the Mansion House today, Mr. Chamberlain said: "My wife is of two nationalities but, as those are the two which it is the chief object of our diplomacy to keep in agreement and affectionate accord, I hope you will think that my wife's position is no disadvantage."

The South African war, Mr. Chamberlain observed that it would have special effect in the United States, "whose friendship we desire, of all others, to keep and enjoy."

The above excerpts from the colonial secretary's remarks were the most interesting to the Americans present.

AMERICAN PULP MEN.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—The 25th annual meeting of the American Paper and Pulp Association began today at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. About 250 members were present. The president is Arthur G. Hastings of Niagara Falls, but he was unable to be present on account of illness. George W. Knowlton of Watertown, N. Y., one of the vice-presidents, presided today.

The report of the secretary and treasurer, J. Sanford Barnes of New York, showed that the present membership of the association is 324. Other reports as to the state of the trade were received from the vice-presidents for the various divisions, as follows:

Writing division, W. N. Coldwell of Holyoke; book division, C. W. Rantoul, Jr. New York; news division, Geo. W. Knowlton, Watertown; wrapping division, John S. Riegel, New York; dealers division, J. B. Forsyth, Boston; chemical fibre division, John G. Luke, New York; boards division, S. S. Merrill, Albany.

While these reports showed that the condition of the trade varied somewhat in the various divisions, there was a general agreement that, while prices were not phenomenally low, yet as a rule they were lower than an entirely normal condition would justify. It was said that while consumers of paper refused to consider the advances in the prices of raw materials, yet the general trend of such prices is steadily upward. Raw materials include chiefly labor, coal and spruce wood, although the prices of minor ingredients also show the same tendency. If this rising trend continues much longer, it was said, the prices of paper will inevitably be forced up in the near future.

PRESENTATION TO D. F. BROWN.

Rev. J. D. Freeman and Mrs. Freeman, accompanied by the deacons and trustees of Germain street Baptist church and their wives, waited upon D. F. Brown, another trustee, in his home on Rockland road last evening. The occasion of the visit was the presentation to Mr. Brown of a testimonial to the church's esteem of his services last summer in overseeing the large repair work upon the building. The gift, which consisted of a handsomely upholstered Morris chair, was presented on behalf of the deacons by Rev. J. D. Freeman, who in a felicitous speech expressed his appreciation of Mr. Brown and his services, and wished him long enjoyment of the comfort represented by the gift. After the receipt, recovered from his surprise, had gratefully responded, the guests were entertained through a very pleasant evening, the pleasure of which was greatly enhanced by a number of readings by the host's accomplished daughter, Miss Ina Brown.
