How Do You Hoe Your Row

Say, how do you hoe your row, young chap?

Say, how do you hoe your row?

Do you hoe it fair?

Do you hoe it square?

Do you hoe it the best you know?

Do you cut the weeds, as you ought to do,

And leave what's worth while there?

The harvest you'll garner depends on you;

Are you working it on the square?

Are you killing the noxious weeds, young chap?

Are you making it straight and clean?

Are you going straight,

At a hustling gait?

Are you scattering all that's mean?

Do you laugh and sing and whistle shrill,

And dance a step or two,

As the row you hoe leads up the hill?

The harvest is up to you.

—New York "Sun."

Twelve Reasons for Home Buying

1.—Because loyalty to a community by its men and women is the first essential to national patriotism.

2.—Because the interests of the home dealer and the home consumer are mutual—what hurts one must hurt the other.

3.—Because the home business man pays the lion's share of assessment rates and all public welfare donations. Whereas the foreign dealer contributes nothing, and has absolutely no interest in your community other than the cash he takes out of it.

4.—Because prices of farm and town property and local markets go down to zero where there is no healthy, progressive community trading.

5.—Because the fundamental law of commonwealth economy is to spend your money where you have earned it.

6.—Because your home business man is entitled to your cash. He stands behind the goods he sells, while you have no redress from being "stung" from outside dealers.

7.—Because spending your money away from home is like sowing grain in a stranger's field so that he may reap the harvest.

8.—Because when you drain your community by diverting legitimate channels of trade you also drain it of its young men and young womanhood of all energy and substance for development.

9.—Because the more money circulating in a community the more valuable property becomes, the higher are wages and the better the general conditions that prevail. "In unity there is strength," and united home buying builds up a community bulwark that will weather the severest economic storms.

10.—Because it is a duty you owe yourself, to your family, and to prosperity to build up your community so that it has a wholesome atmosphere and is advancing with the times instead of drifting into the habits of sloth, ruin and decay.

11.—Because you must send cash in advance to the big city dealer and you have no opportunity to inspect the goods. Apart from the hundred and one good, sound reasons for home buying, it never pays to buy a pig in a bag or a suit of clothes in the dark.

12.—Because continued patronage of the big city catalogue concerns is a short-sighted, unprogressive, and in the long run an economically suicidal practice.

Richest Negress Left Estate of Million

The title of "Richest negro woman in the United States," which was held for many years by Madame C. J. Walker, manufacturer of a hair ointment, widely popular with her race, will pass to her only daughter, Mrs. Lela Walker Robinson, under the terms of her will which, it was learned here, was filed in Indianapolis. With the exception of two trust funds of $100,000 each for the benefit of charities, distant relatives and friends, Madame Walker left her entire estate to her daughter. The estate is estimated at $1,000,000. Among the charitable bequests was one for the establishment of an industrial and mission school in Africa.

After taking 1000 ZUTOO TABLETS Says they are Harmless

Mrs. (Dr.) Shurtleff, of Coaticook, says "Zutoo Tablets must have cured 500 of my headaches, for I have taken 1000 tablets. After trying every remedy within reach, I discarded them all four years ago for ZUTOO, which I have taken ever since. I find the tablets a harmless and efficient cure for all kinds of headache."

WHEN TO CUT ALFALFA FOR HAY

(Experimental Farm Note.)

The yielding capacity of alfalfa depends on quite a number of factors, one of them being the time when the crop is harvested. The time of harvesting, indeed, effects the yielding capacity per acre of alfalfa more than it affects other hay crops for reasons which will be explained briefly.

It is unfortunately a rather common practice among farmers to delay the cutting of hay crops too long, under the mistaken idea that by waiting a little after that the crop has reached its best stage from a quality standpoint, larger and consequently more remunerative crops may be realized. This practice, however, works out rather the other way in alfalfa.

It is generally held that most satisfactory returns, both from the standpoint of tonnage per acre and from the standpoint of hay quality, are obtained if the alfalfa is cut when, as it is generally expressed, it is "one-tenth in bloom." This expression really means that it is time to cut alfalfa just after it has started to come in general bloom. The blossoming is, in fact, on the whole a rather good indication of the proper time to cut alfalfa; but it is not always so, for in certain seasons especially if wet and cool weather prevails in the early part of the summer, the blossoming period may be considerably delayed the best time for cutting the alfalfa for hay. Besides, it is not always easy to determine when an alfalfa field is "one-tenth in bloom" and, in case of doubt on that question, the alfalfa grower may easily be tempted to wait a little too long.

A far safer indication of the best time to cut for hay is given by the coming on of the second growth from the crown of the roots. The second growth generally begins to shoot just when the plants begin to blossom, but sometimes a little earlier. As the second growth is the one on which the size of the season's second crop of alfalfa depends, it follows that the first hay crop of the season should be taken off before the second growth has reached such a development that there is any risk of it being cut off with the first crop. And this might easily happen, if the cutting of the first crop is delayed too much, the result of course being that the return from the second crop of the season is apt to become smaller.

Under the circumstances alfalfa growers would be well advised not to delay the cutting of the first crop any time after that the second growth begins to come on. A simple examination of the crown of the roots will show how the new growth is developing and the cutting of the first crop should take place before it is high enough to be caught by the mower.

Enumeration for the coming referendum on prohibition is to be commenced within the next two weeks in the larger cities of the province. Hon. I. B. Lucas, Attorney-General, it is understood, called a conference of the Toronto members of the legislature in order to discuss arrangements for making an immediate start, and it is thought that it will be possible to have the chief enumerators for each of the Toronto ridings appointed at once. Under the plan to be put into effect the Government will be ready to hold the referendum early in October.

Couldn't be Wrong

Mrs. Wiseman was one of those women who always know. Whatever the subject under discussion, she had her own opinions, and made other people have them too.

"Joshua," said she to her husband one evening, "I saw in this morning's paper that old Mr. Biffer died on Saturday."

"It was a mistake," mumbled Joshua, as he bent down to unlace his boots; "he died on Friday."

"But the paper said Saturday!" repeated Mrs. Wiseman firmly.

"I know it," persisted Joshua, "but it was an error in the print."

"I thought that at first," said the lady decidedly; "but I got half a dozen copies of the paper, and it was the same. And they certainly couldn't have made the same mistake over and over again like that!"

"Oh," said his friend, "there's a penalty provided for that too."

"What is it?"

"Hard labor for life."
