A PRINCIPLE AT STAKE

We are trustees for the public in supplying the best possible service at the lowest possible cost.

As the wages of our employees enter into the cost of service, we would not be worthy of the public trust, did we not endeavor to settle them on principles of reason and justice and not succumb to force.

This is the principle involved—reason or force—and it is for the public to endorse or not our efforts to keep the cost of service to them at the lowest possible figure.
