

Adams, F. W. L. Australian Essays, Lon., 1886, p. 8vo.

Adams, Francis, M.D., LL.D., 1796-1861, b. at Framingham, Aberdeenshire; educated at King's College, Aberdeen, where he graduated as M.A.; removed to London, and became a member of the Royal College of Surgeons in 1815, but returned to Scotland and settled in a medical profession in the village of Banochory, Tain, where he spent the remainder of his life actively engaged in the exercise of his profession. v. He devoted much time to scientific study and research, especially in Greek literature. Besides contributions to medical and classical journals, and an appendix to Dantley's Greek Lexicon, he published: 1. (Trans.) Hees and Leander, from the Greek of Musaeus; with other Poems, Aberdeen, 1820. 2. Horae Philologicae, or An Inquiry into the Causes of the Difference between Greek and Latin Syntax, Lon., 1820, 8vo. 3. (Trans.) The Seven Books of Pseudo-Egineia, with a Commentary, (Sydenham Soc. Pub.) Lon., 1844-47, 3 vols. 8vo. (The first volume was originally issued in 1838, but a publisher whose failure caused a suspension of the work.)

"The translation is useful, as the only English one of the writer, but the chief value of the work resides in the commentary, which shows wide and accurate learning, and gives a fuller account of Greek and Roman medicine (to some extent, of Arabian also) than is elsewhere accessible in English, or perhaps in any modern language. Considering the isolated position of the writer, remote from great libraries and immersed in professional work, it is a very remarkable performance."—Dict. of Nat. Biog., i. 53.

4. (Trans.) The Genuine Works of Hippocrates. With a Preliminary Discourse, and Annotations, (Sydenham Soc. Pub.) Lon., 1849, 2 vols. 8vo. Vol. I. was republished in New York in 1856, 12mo.

"The only complete English version, and the introduction and notes are important."—Dict. of Nat. Biog., loc. cit.

5. Arundine Devei, or, Poetical Translations on a New Principle, by a Scotch Physician, Edin., 1853, 8vo. Anon. 6. (Trans. and ed.) The Extant Works of Aretaeus the Cappadocian, Lon., 1856, 8vo. 7. On the Human Placenta, Aberdeen, 1858. (Reprinted from the London Medical Gazette, 1818.)

Adams, Francis, of Birmingham, Eng. 1. Lord Brougham, Birmingham, 1809, 8vo. 2. The Elementary Education Act, 1870; with Analysis, &c., Birmingham, 1870, 8vo. 3. History of the Elementary School Contest in England, 1882, 8vo. 4. The Free School System of the United States, Birmingham, 1875, 8vo.

Adams, Francis Colburn, an American miscellaneous writer, formerly residing in Charleston, S.C., who wrote under various pseudonyms. 1. Manuel Pereira, or, The Sovereign Rule of South Carolina: with Views of Southern Laws, Life, and Hospitality, Washington, 1853, 12mo. 2. Uncle Tom at Home, &c., Phila., 1853. 3. Our World; or, The Democrats' Rule. By Justia, a Know-Nothing. Lon., 1855, 2 vols. p. 8vo. 4. Justice in the By-Ways: a Tale of Life, 1856, 12mo. 5. Life and Adventures of Major Roger Sherman Potter, by Phlegm Van Truesdale, N. York, 1858. 6. An Outcast: a Novel, N. York, 1861, 12mo. 7. The Story of a Trooper; with much concerning the Campaign on the Peninsula, (1861-62), N. York, 1865, 12mo. 8. Siege of Washington for Little People. Illust. Phila., 1867, eq. 12mo. 9. The Von Tooodleburgs; or, The Memoirs of a Very Distinguished Family. Illust. Phila., 1868, 12mo.

Adams, Sir Francis Ottwell, K.C.M.G., C.B., F.R.G.S., 1825-1889; graduated with honors at Trinity College, Cambridge, 1848; called to the bar at Lincoln's Inn, 1852; entered the diplomatic service, and was successively attaché at Stockholm, &c., second secretary of legation at Washington, secretary of embassy at Berlin, chargé d'affaires and secretary of legation at Yedo, and envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary at Bern, (1881-88.) The History of Japan from the Earliest Period to the Present Time. Vol. I., to the Year 1861, Lon., 1874, 8vo.

"Mr. Adams has executed his task, as far as it has gone, with great care, and the only fear is that to those not previously interested in Japan or the Far East, there may be too much of detail and too many extracts from Blue-books and despatches."—SIR RUTHERFORD ALCOCK, Acad., v. 593. Vol. II., to the Year 1871, 1875.

The second volume is in many respects an improvement on the first. Fewer despatches are quoted, and the narrative is more in clearness and interest."—SIR R. ALCOCK, loc. cit., p. 332.

Adams, Frankingham, C. D., The Swiss Confederacy, Lon., 1889, 8vo.

Adams, Francis William Lauderdale, son of Dr. A. L. Adams, (supra). 1. Henry, &c.: Tales, [verse], Lon., 1884, or, 8vo. 2. Leicester: an Autobiography, Lon., 1885, 2 vols. or, 8vo.

Adams, Rev. H. W. The Book of Job in Poetry; or, A Song in the Night, N. York, 1864, 8vo.

Adams, Hartly. Canons of Criticism: How to Judge a Book, Lon., 1858, 12mo.

Adams, Henry, L.R.C.P. Edin. On Intermittent Malaria, Lon., 1871, 8vo.

Adams, Henry and Arthur. The Genera of Recent Mollusca, arranged according to their Organization. Illust. Lon., 1858, 3 vols. 8vo.

Adams, Henry, third son of Charles Francis Adams, b. 1838, in Boston, and graduated at Harvard College 1858; was private secretary to his father, then minister to England, from 1861 to 1868. From 1870 to 1877 he was assistant professor of history at Harvard. He then went to London to reside for the second time, and on returning to this country a few years later settled in Washington, where he is engaged in writing a history of Jefferson's administration. He has contributed to the periodical press, and was for some time editor of the North American Review. 1. (Ed.) Documents relating to New England Federation, 1800-1815, Boston, 1877, 2. (Ed.) Writings of Albert Gallatin, Phila., 1879, 3 vols. 8vo. 3. The Life of Albert Gallatin, Phila., 1879, 8vo.

"He seems, very wrongly, to have made up his mind when he took his task in hand that Gallatin's was not a picturesque character or an interesting life, and could not be made the one or the other. . . . It would almost seem as if he had argued himself into the German professional belief that vivacity is trickery, and that there is some positive merit in dullness. Accordingly, what is in fact one of the most valuable contributions of the day to an almost unknown period of American history is likely to find its way unread to the shelves of the library."—Nation, XXIX, 128.

4. John Randolph, (American Statesman), Bost., 1882, 12mo.

"To Mr. Adams Randolph is, if not quite a lay figure on which to hang historical drapery, at least a cadaver, to be curiously dissected for the instruction of an interested class. However this may detract from the interest of the book as a biography, it very much increases its value to the political student."—Nation, xxxv, 514.

With others, Essays on Anglo-Saxon Law, Bost., 1876, 8vo.

Adams, Henry, member of the Institute of Mechanical Engineers, of the Institute of Civil Engineers, and of the Society of Engineers. 1. Notes in Mechanical Engineering, Lon., 1833, or, 8vo. 2. Strains in Ironwork; Lectures before the Society of Engineers, 1834, p. 8vo. 3. Hydraulic Machinery, Past and Present: a Lecture. 4. Designing Wrought and Cast Iron Work, 1 Paris. 5. Joints in Woodwork.

Adams, Rev. Henry Cadwallader, M.A., (ante, vol. i, ADAMS, H. C., add.), b. 1817, in London; educated at Westminster and Winchester Schools, and at Balliol and Magdalen Colleges, Oxford; Fellow of Magdalen College; ordained 1840; Vicar of Dry Sandford, Berkshire, 1847-48; and since then Vicar of Old Shoreham, Sussex. In addition to the works mentioned ante, vol. i, he has published: 1. Twelve Foundations, and other Poems, Lon., 1858, p. 8vo. 2. School-Boy Honour: a Tale of Holmstun College; new ed., Lon., 1862, 8vo. 3. Indian Boy, Lon., 1864, 12mo. 4. White Brunswick; or, School-Boy Life, Lon., 1864, 12mo. 5. Bathurst; or, Holiday Tales, Lon., 1865, 12mo. 6. Sundays at Encombe. Illust. Lon., 1865, 12mo. 7. Judges of Israel: Tales for Sunday Reading, Lon., 1866, 12mo. 8. Tales for Sunday Reading, Lon., 1866, 12mo. 9. Barford Bridge; or, School-Boy Trials, Lon., 1867, 12mo. 10. Boy Cavaliers; or, The Siege of Cholesford; new ed., Lon., 1868, 12mo. 11. Falconhurst; or, Birthday Tales, Lon., 1868, 16mo. 12. Short Tales for Sunday Reading, Lon., 1868, 18mo. 13.
