NEWS FROM IRELAND.

The death of the Rev. P. Hanley, par-ish priest of Blessington, took place or Oct. 15th. The deceased priest had been for 22 years curate in Rathfarnham and for 22 years curate in Rathfarnham and Terenure; where, in respect for his mem-ory and mourning for his death, blinds are drawn and shutters closed. Mr. Davitt, who is at present in Lon-don, will remain there until about the middle of December, when his promised work on prison life will appear. The Dublin Chamber of Commerce is not in favor of renaming the streets of Dublin. They will be renamed neverthe-less.

As the Dublin city list now stands, the Nationalists will be able not only to elect two candidates, but their nomination papers can be filled by members of the Irish Parliamentary Party on the roll for the metropolis. If Mr. Parnell should de-clde to stand for the Capital, he can have the gratification of having himself put in nomination by voters drawn entirals from the cases. Mr. O'Brien, M.P., at' Mallow, on Oct. 12, called the "courts of justice" in Ire-land "slaughter-houses." We wonder what George Bolton thinks of such lannomination by voters drawn entirely from the ranks of his fellow-members, as there are no less than fourteen of the popular

M. P.'s on the city register. The resolution to alter the names of the Dublin streets occasioned a hot debate in the Council. Fierce opposition was, of Their guage. Mailow, on Oct. 13, made a clear gain of the Dublin streets occasioned a hot debate in the Council. Fierce opposition was, of course, given by the Castle party. Their line of attack was ingenious. Infinite trouble and confusion and, perhaps, con-siderable loss in connection with leases and title deeds would be certain, they argued, to result from the proposed change. They also doubted whether the thing could be legally done. The motion was carried by a large majority, but, very likely, the Tories will yet be able to do a great deal in the way of obstruction be-street corners. This movement will de-velop into a wider field by and by. Al-ready there are suggestions about remov-ing obnoxious statues, such as that of King George, near the Mansion House, and even Nelson's great pillar in Sack-ville street. The latter, it is hinted, may some day be useful as a ready-to-hand ped-cetal for a figure of Davitt. Expulsion of the foreigners, in stone and bronze, seems to be the coming idea. The example of Limerick is apparently being followed all over the courty. In pay the tax for extra police. Seizures and sales by auction of cattle and other property have followed. Still nobody will pay, and in every individual case the oficials are compelled to enforce the let-ter of the law to the last point. Even at the auctions every possible form of ob-struction is offered. Bids are made ridi-culously below the value of the article or the amount of the tax, and the police have often to spend days in getting a few 37 votes over the combined Whigs and Tories in the revision court. Bravo, Mallow ! low! On Oct. 13th, a National League meet-ing was to have been held at Millstreet; but the Lord Chancellor and Sir Thomas Steele issued a proclamation forbidding the demonstration, in the usual way. Doubtless these two astute Lords Jus-tices got the idea into their heads that preventing the people of Willstreet from preventing the people of Millstreet from holding a public meeting was an admirable way of punishing them for the frigid reception they gave to the gallows Earl, a way of punishing them for the frigid reception they gave to the gallows Earl, a short time ago. Douglass, like Millstreet, is in the county Cork, but, unlike Millstreet, it seems to have escaped falling under the displeasure of the censors of Dublin Castle. Its people, therefore, found them-selves able on Oct. 12th to hold an en-thusiastic and impressive demonstration without putting themselves to the trouble of out-witting the authorities--although, we dare say, if called upon, they could do all that as well as the good folks of Mill-street.

street. Not in all Ireland is there a board of guardians that holds greater and more in-yulnerable Nationalistic sway than the Skull Board of Guardians, under the presidency of the indomitable Dick Hodthe auctions every possible form of ob-struction is offered. Bids are made ridi-culously below the value of the article or the amount of the tax, and the police have often to spend days in getting a few shillings, the cost of collection being in the way vastly in excess of the total re-ceipts. In Dublin there was a large sum assessed as compensation for the assessed to the total re-ceipts. In Dublin there was a large sum assessed as compensation for the assault on Field, one of the Special Jurors in the Joe Brady case. Numbers of the citizens —all the Nationalists, in fact—have posi-tively refused to pay a penny. A mong the rebels are several M. P's. Mr. O'Brien "no tribute to Field." The curious thing is that in Dublin the authorities do not apparently mean to push matters to ex-tremities. No proceedings in law have so far been initiated. The Castle papers com-plain about the disaffected classes being far been initiated. The Castle papers com-plain about the disaffected classes being let off and the royal people having to bear the whole burden. In Limerick the position continues unchanged. Mayor and Council and citizens present a solid front to the enemy, and reiterate their emphatic determination to hold out to the last. The government can hardly recode from its position in the matter; so the whole country is impatiently waiting for the moment when Greek shall meet Greek. Greek. Wicklow. The practical character of the Wicklow men was well illustrated, on October 12, at the meeting of the Avoca Branch of the League, when a resolution was adopted the League, when a resolution was adopted directing the secretary to remind all the branches, which were represented at the late Convention in Rathfrum, that a resolution prohibiting hunting was adopted thereat, and requesting all farmers to have the proper notice posted on their lands forthwith. The hot time which the Gov-ernment were likely to have of it over the case of Myles Joyce was also signifi-cantly referred to.

Not determined by the series of the serie A demonstration under the auspices of the Irish National League was held on Sunday, Oct. 12, at Tullamore, and at-tended by contingents from the surround-ing districts with bands and banners. The meeting was addressed by Mesars. Molloy, Dawson, and Redmond, M. P's., all of whom advocated the return of members at the next General Election. all of whom advocated the return of members at the next General Election, who will be fully in accord with the pol-icy of the National Party. A resolution of confidence in Mr. Molloy was also car-ried. Mr. Molloy, during the course of his speech, said that more effective work had been done in Parliament by the Irish party during the past five years towards the realization of National Government, than had been accomplished at any period since 1800. and about one hundred hands were at work from early in the merning. About l o'clock p. m., the National League Band of Doromore, accompanied by an immense crowd of men and women, arrived at the scene. The band, accom-panied by the crowd, and playing Na-tional airs, marched to the various ap-proaches to the evicted farms, and back again to where the house was being built. Several hundred persons, including, according to the report, both Protestants and Catholics, stripped to the work of erecting the house. The band quietly fell in line, and marched again in the direction of the evicted farms. The auctioneer, Mr. A. C. McKelvey, of Omagb, stated that the landlord offered to make reductions in each case. The rent To put down a Cork meeting nowadays it seems, would require about the whole British army to occupy points of vantage at every quarter of a mile of read for miles and miles around. In fact, the Corkmen have reduced the holding of prohibited meetings to a science. At the Ahadillane Petty Sessions, on make reductions in each case. The rent on Mr. Kelly's farm was £38, and would now be reduced to £35. C. M. Mahon's rent would be reduced from £18 to £16, October 15, several persons were sum-moned for various sums, levied on them, moned for various sums, levied on them, as compensation for the murder of James Spence. One of those summoned declared his intention of resisting payment in every way he could, and complained of the in-justice of the tax. The presiding magistrate screed with the statement respecting the and judicial cases would be given. How-ever, continued the auctioneer, it is useless attempting a sale to-day, for no one here wants land. Those present assured him that until the tenants who had been him that until the tenants who had been evicted were compensated, no one would take the land. The auctioneer then drove off amid a furious storm of groans and hisses, but no violence was offered. In a short time after the auctioneer left, all hands were again at work finishing the house, the prominent members of the National Locano gritica either action agreed with the statement, respecting the injustice of the tax, but said that he had no option but to grant decrees. At the Skibbereen Petty Sessions, or At the Scholereen retry Section, on October 15, over forty persons were pros-ecuted for carrying tar barrels, and dis-playing emblems, on the occasion of the visit of the Baroness Burdett-Coutts. The solicitor for the defence described the pro-National League giving either active assistance or commands to the many vol-unteers under them. When the house was secution as deplorable, feeling that the people were only paying honor to whom honor was due. The Bench dismissed all erected, the most deafening cheers were raised, and the procession re-formed and, headed by the band, marched for Dro-more. After parading the town, the crowd dispersed immediately.

The Nationalists of the prace thereupon determined to build them a home. Mr. Charles Crampsey, of Goorey, offered a freehold site for the dwelling in full view of McLaughlin's former dwelling in ing. A few days afterwards uearly a hundred men took part in building a substantial stone house, which was finished to the ceiling before six o'clock in the evening. Then there was a joyful public weeting, lit up by bonfires, and boiling over with enthusiasm, and thrilling speeches were delivered by Messrs. P. Crampsey, D. Diver and P. Farran. High Sheriff Stoney, of Mayo, ought to remove at once to a larger planet. This earth of ours is much too small for a per-son of his consequence. At a meeting of the Governors of the Mayo Lunatic Asy-lum held on October 11, it was proposed that the Archbishop of Tuam should take the chair, whereupon the creat Stoney that the Archbishop of Tham should take the chair, whereupon the great Stoney said, "I must claim precedence as High Sheriff." This reminds us of Cassio's claim that "the lieutenant must be saved before the ancient," but, then, Cassio was drunk when he said so, and it is to be presumed that Stoney was sober when he strove to put the sheriff before the Arch-bishop. If so it may be doubtful whether strove to put the sheriff before the Arch-bishop. If so, it may be doubtful whether it is a governor of a lunatic asylum he ought to be. An indignation meeting was held in Westport to denounce the affront put on the Archbishop; and no one can wonder that there should be. Stoney left the room hotly in a state of high dud-geon when he could not get into the chair.

"My friend,' said I, 'if you would like to look at the book, I'll plow while you sit down and examine it.' This pleased him very much, and taking the book, he climbed the fence, went into the woods and sat down in the shade. I plowed for some time, until I got tired, but, thinking that the old fellow would soon make his appearance, continued to plow on. At last I went into the woods and found him deeply interested in the book. "It's too late for you to go much fur-der to night,' said he, 'so you'd better stay all night at my house.' Yours respectfully, (Signed) R. Turner.

PROF. LOW'S SULPHUR SOAP is highly recommended for the cure of Eruption, Chafes, Chapped Hands, Pimples, Tan, Sarsaparilla and other blood-purifying roots, combined with Iodide of Potassium and Iron, and is the safest, most reliable, and most economical blood-purifier that can be used. It invariably expels all blood poisons from the system, enriches and renews the blood, and restores its vitalizing power. It is the best known remedy for Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysip e'as, Eczema, Ringworm, Blotches, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the Skin, as also for all disorders caused by a thin and impoverished, or corrupted, condition of the blood, such as Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Rheumatic Gout, General Debility, and Scrofulous Catarrh.
