Branch 71, Trenton.
On the 17th November the members of Branch 71 attended a Requiem Mass for the repose of the souls of the departed members. We would like to see this beautiful custom more general amongst the branches.

At the last regular meeting of the same branch the following resolution was adopted. It was moved by Bro. Greeney, and seconded by Bro. Fitzpatrick:
That this branch extend to Bro. LeGarie its deepest sympathy in the loss of his mother. It was also resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to Bro. LeGarie, inscribed on the minutes of this meeting, and sent to the Catholic Record for publication.

Branch 215. Sommerside.

The third anniversary concert of Branch 215. Summerside, took place in the Branch Hail on Tuesday evening last, and was a complete success. The hall was crowded to its utmost capacity by an appreciative audience, who enjoyed the entertainment very much. The accompanists were Miss Sarah Strong, Prof. J. T. Gallant, and Miss Gandet, and they did their part in good style. The programme was as follows:

The opening number was a piano solo, by Miss Strong, who played splendidly.

Bro. L. J. Reddin followed with a reading, with choral accompaniment, which was rendered in fine style.

Misses Gertie Macneill and Katie Noonan gave a very pleasing piano duet, and won

Mr. Joseph Gillis followed with a vocal solo, "My Wee Wife Waiting at the Door," which was pleasingly sung and generously makended. applauded.

Miss Aggie Wickham always sings well, and on this occasion she appeared to special advantage in the beautiful song, "When the Dew Drops Kiss the Daisses," In response to an enthusiastic encore she sang "Annie Laurie."

An instrumental trio, "The Dove's Return Waltz," by Miss Strong, on the piane, and Masters Joseph and Cosmos Delaney, on the riolin, was very pretty, and rendered in their usual good style. In the second part of the programme they gave another selection, "Over the Wayes," which was played in a manner that would have done credit to professionals.

the programme they gave another selection, "Over the Waves," which was played in a manner that would have done credit to professionals.

Prof. Gallant, Egmont Bay, gave a piano golo, a mazourka, which was beautifully rendered and loudy applauded.

Mr. Joseph Macdonald, Seven Mile Bay, followed with the stirring vocal solo, "The Sword of Bunker Hill," to which he did justice, winning liberal applause.

Bro. Thos. N. Donahoe, of Keusington Branch, gave a comic song, "The Band Played On," in good style, and won an encore, to which he responded with another humorous selection.

The anniversary address was delivered by Bro. Charles Marphy, of the Customs Department here, and it was most appropriate to the occasion. He began by referring to the growth of the C. M. B. A. in this province and throughout Canada, and to the fine class of men in the organization, there having so far been only one death in the ranks of the order in Prince Edward Island, and that by accidental drowning. He spoke of the strong financial standing of the order, and the inducements and advantages it held out, and instituted some comparisons between straight line and assessment assurance, the latter, he claimed, being much the older of the two, as there were at the present day in England fraternal, benefit and insurance companies, on the assessment plan, that were about seven hundred years old. He closed with some cloquent remarks concerning the fraternal advantages of the C. M. B. A., and the immense good it had done the widows and orphans of deceased members. Bro. Murphy's address was elequent, practical and to the point, and well merited the prolonged applause it received.

Mr. Charles Birch followed with a vocal solo, "Happy be Thy Dreams," which he rendered in a very pleasing manner, winning much applause.

Next came an instrumental selection, "Merry Princess," by Miss Ella Silliphant, mandolin, and Miss Strong, plano. This was a very pretty piece, and was given in a style that pleased the audience.

The recitation. "Spartacus to the Gladia one of the gems of the evening. It was splendidly rendered, and justly merited the encore it received.

Mr. M. D. Ready, Irishtown, came next, with the vocal solo, "Give My Love to Nellie," which he rendered in first-rate style, receiving an encore, to which he responded with another pleasing solo.

"The Frenchman's Mistake," a humorous reading by Bro. A. C. Cullen, was well rendered and greatly enjoyed by the audience, and generously applauded.

Rev. E. V. P. O'N. Boyd's solo, "Norine Manreen," was a vocal gem, and so well did he please the audience that they insisted upon hearing him again, and he responded with "The Meeting of the Waters."

The closing number was a comic song by the old favorite, Bro. Jas. R. Kenny, who sang, "Oh! Mistress O'Flaherty, What Do Ye Mean By That?" in a manner that caused roars of laughter. He was encored twice, the audience insisting upon hearing him again and again.

The National Anthem brought the proceedings to a close.

The National Anthem brought the proceedings to a close.

The members of Branch 215 hereby express their thanks to all those who kindly took part in the entertainment, and to those who, by their presence, assisted in making the concert the grand success it was.—Summerside, P. E. I., Agriculturist, Oct. 31.

From a purely human point of view t is a sad task to reflect upon the de nise of those we love and cherish. Sad inteed is the shought that a kind and loving nother has been taken away from a house lold where so many hearts made her the cener of their affection and devotion. Our houghts must rise above things so transient and so lowly—most ascend to that "realm where the stars never fade," where love is sever sundered, where peace and happiness where the stars never inde," where love is never sundered, where peace and happiness unalloyed will exist forever. We knew Mrs. Flynn well. She will be sorely missed not only by her family but by her many sorrowing friends. DIFFICULTIES OF TELEPHONE COM-PETITION.

A writer in the New York Post says:

When a new telephone company attempts to secure a footbold in a large city, it finds that one of the great problems it must solve lies, not in the total number of subscribers it can secure, but in the number of desirable subscribers that will prove permanent and paying patrons. For the service of a telephone exchange increases in value in the same ratio as the names of the desirable elements in the community are added to its lists of subscribers. In their words, while a newspaper circulating only among saloons and read principally by the frequenters of such places might prove profit able to a certain class of advertisers, the general advertiser would not use its columns, as it would not reach the public in general—the buying classes. So a telephone exchange might secure several hundred or a thousand or two subscribers, and yet the combinations afforded have no practical value to the constant user of telephone service or the general public, and the secured subscribers be rarely called for. But the progressive merchant must pay his tribute to each company just the same. Thus it is not only the greatest number of people you can reach with the aid of the telephone, but the greatest number of the very people you desire to reach that renders telephone service invaluable.

A second problem, and one not so difficult of solution as that of securing the necessary desirable subscribers, is to secure the capital necessary to construct a modern telephone to reach that renders telephone service invaluable.

A second problem, and one not so difficult of solution as that of securing the necessary desirable subscribers, is to secure the capital necessary to construct a modern telephone plant. Such a plant cannot be properly constructed for less than from 895 a subscriber to 815 a subscriber, depending on the size of the eachange; the larger the plant the higher the average cost per subscriber. A first class telephone plant having a switch board capacity of 1,000 subscribers can be completed for $155,000, while it would probably require an investment of $50,000 to complete every detail in a modern plant of 3,000 subscribers. Many opposition telephone exchanges have been built for a less som per subscriber, notably Topeka, Kas; Fort Smith, Ark, Selma, Ala; Waukesha, Wis, and some twenty others. But these exchanges no longer exist, having gone the way of all purely speculative euterprise, and leaving no return for the heavy investment. Now the shrewd financier is not putting his money into vestments that promise as lat pluckings for promoter and lawyer as competing telephone exchanges where the subscribers which is the promoter and lawyer as competing telephone exchanges where the subscribers of the may loan the use of his name in return for a profitable consideration. But the plant will be built (well or poorly) from the investments made by "lambs"—honest and unsuspecting creatures who are so inexperienced as to believe that because a certain prominent citizen holds quite a block of stock in a new enterprise he must have invested a large amount therein.

And as the "lamb" seldom has the reserve capital necessary to protect an investment or this character, he soon has a practical illustration of how easily his vonture may be swallowed up and lost forevet a large amount therein.

But the most difficult problem that confronts the new company in a large city is to so plan the constructive and engineering features of a plant as to insure from the start a satisfactory high

Lest Sunday was the first Advent Sunday.
