BRITISH "WILLIES" CALLED WONDERS

London, Sept. 16.—The reference in the official statement issued by the War Office yesterday to a new type of armored car, is the first official mention of development which has been much whispered about recently in army circles. Those who have seen the new vehicles refer to them as "tanks," while the soldiers who have handled them have given them the nickname of "Willies."

The object which the designers sought to obtain was to render a heavily armored motor car capable of being operated in the shell-torn and roadless wilderness of trenches, where it is evident a vehicle mounted on ordinary wheels could not be used.

Although no details of the car's construction have been published, the Times says: "Our inventors have not hesitated boldly to tread unbeaten paths. We may imagine the feelings of German infantry in shell battered trenches when in the uncertain light of dawn they saw advancing upon them an array of unearthly monsters cased in steel, spitting fire and crawling laboriously, but ceaselessly over trenches, barbed wire and shell craters."

GERMANY THE HORRIBLE EXAMPLE OF FAILURE

No nation can long be called efficient which fails to advance the general life of humanity. As the war drags on, with its ever increasing wake of ruin and irreparable loss, Germany is fast losing her 'place in the sun,' and stands as the 'horrible example' of utter failure along the avenues of real world service. That she is powerful none can deny; but that her strength is of the eternal type is daily becoming more doubtful. In a sense she has been efficient, but for fundamentally wrong purposes; and, unless the unexpected happens, she is bound to undermine her own foundations and find herself less respected and both morally and physically weaker than before the conquest of Alsace-Lorraine.—The Outlook, N. Y.

LIEUT. PARSONS, OF 112TH WOUNDED

A telegram received on Tuesday, Sept. 12th, from Ottawa brought Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Parsons, Middleton, the news that their son, Lieut. A. M. Parsons was wounded on Friday last. Lt. Parsons is a splendid officer and upon his arrival with the 112th he was immediately drafted to another regiment for service in France.
