An Appeal for the Boys.

BY C. E. FURBERT.
(W. C. T. U. Mental Contests Section.)

A question in importance overshadows all other faces to-day. It is this: What is to be the character of our citizenship in the new century we are soon to enter? However great our interest in politics, in tariff, or silver or labor, we realize there is a still greater question—one which, indeed, is the end of all politics and government—The Child.

Building character is the great work of our public schools. We want to place on this broad domain a people "who shall know their rights, and knowing dare maintain."

The putting into the generations that shall follow us the character that can be trusted anywhere is the thing to be aimed at. We want our boys to be

"Truly equipped for life's mystic battle, helmet fastened and sword in hand." We must fight the great battles of the world through the children. The secret which decides the fate of any battle is found in the preparation which goes before. It is true of battles for reform.

The eye of this generation should be fixed upon the young. There is an army marching forward, in which every man may be a hero, made strong in mighty conflict. Put your ear to the ground and you may hear them. "Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys are marching."

Whether they march to victory or self, victory over foes without as well as foes within, depends upon the habits they are forming during childhood and youth.

Within recent years an insidious vice has sprung up all over our land, and our brightest boys are falling victims to its prey.

This vice is the narcotic habit in all its forms, and especially in its worst form, the cigarette. The evil has grown to such mighty proportions that state legislatures and school boards have listened to the appeals of the brave band of white-ribbon women, and have given legislation and secured the enforcement of the laws in many places.

Parents, will you do your part? Will you aid in the enforcement of law? You can get evidence needed for conviction if you try. I ask you to look in the faces of so many of our boys who have formed this habit, and see how the better nature is being crushed out by this vice, and know that no boy is safe so long as our laws are violated with impunity. Your boy may be tempted and may fall. Just as good boys have fallen. Place the barriers of enforced law about him. The man who would wrong your son by selling this poisonous drug to him deserves greater punishment than he who robs you of your property; yet you are raising no voice, lifting no hand to protect them. Why? Partly because you do not know the dangerous nature of the "deadly cigarette." A committee of United States senators appointed to investigate the nature of cigarettes, when legislation against their sale was pending, brought in a report that they were all injurious to youth, and Congress passed the law that the women petitioned for. A petition for this law was signed by the teachers and ministers of the District of Columbia, and two hundred and fifty-seven physicians.

Professor Hartigan, of West Virginia University, says: "The effect of continued use of this narcotic is to paralyze the will, so that considerations that would influence a well man have little weight with an old devotee of the pipe or quid." He also says: "The use of the cigarette has a tendency to foster in the young inclinations destructive of high moral principle." The testimony of teachers and Sunday-school workers everywhere confirms this.

Professor Morris, of Alliance, Ohio, says: "Tobacco is our greatest enemy." The principal of St. Clairsville, Ohio, school says: "Boys lose interest in school work, become truant, fall in examination and fall out of school soon after the tobacco habit has been fixed."

The president of Ada, Ohio, Normal School, where over two thousand young people fitting themselves for teachers, says: "Several boys from here died last year from the use of cigarettes." Two boys were sent to the insane asylum from Hiram College from their use, in one year. The school boards of New York, San Francisco, St. Louis and many smaller cities are pushing vigorous campaigns against this habit. Why should not all schools take hold of this work? Why spend money so freely and permit conditions that make it of none avail?

Four girls are now graduating from our high schools to one boy, and women are capturing all places of honor and profit because her brain is free from nicotine poison. Unless there is an improvement in the personal habits of our young men in the near future, the bright young women going forth from our schools and colleges will capture even the government positions.

Young women, be strong. Fit yourselves for the highest. In the meantime use every power you possess to save our boys from every vice that is degrading them. Your frown upon these bad habits will arrest the thought of young men when all else fails. Demand in them as high a standard of morality as they demand in you. Be kind but firm.

Now, friends, let us all we appeal. Can you see this destruction of our young manhood going on all around you and lift no warning voice to save?

Philanthropy and patriotism alike urge you by example, and counsel all your powers as citizens to save our boys from this, their greatest foe. Save them from tobacco and you can save them easily from the saloon. We appeal to you in the name of all you love and hold dear to help us wrest this nation from the nicotine habit.

A MOTHER'S THANKS.

She Tells What Pink Pills Did For Her Daughter.

Suffered From St. Vitus' Dance—Lost the Use of Her Right Side and Almost Lost the Power of Speech—Cured in a Few Weeks.

Aymore, Que., Gazette.

All the discoveries made in medicine in this great age of progress have done more to alleviate human suffering than have Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. We suppose there is not a hamlet in this broad land in which the remarkable healing power of this favorite medicine has not been put to the test and proved triumphant. It is a great medicine and the good it has accomplished can only be faintly estimated. There are many to Aymore who speak of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in terms of praise, and among them is the family of Mr. John Smith, the well-known blacksmith and wheelwright. Having heard that his daughter, Miss Minnie, had been cured of St. Vitus' Dance by the use of Pink Pills, the Gazette called upon Mr. Smith to learn the particulars. Upon mentioning the matter to him he expressed pleasure in making the facts public, if it was thought that they would benefit anyone else, and remarked that he thought Mr. Smith could probably give the particulars better than himself. Mrs. Smith said that at about a year ago Minnie was attacked with St. Vitus' dance, of a rather severe nature, and a number of medicines were tried, but without any effect upon the trouble. An electric battery was also used but had no beneficial effect. The trouble appeared to be getting more severe, and finally Minnie was obliged to discontinue going to school, having lost the power of her right side. Her speech was also so much affected it was with difficulty she could be understood. She was out of school for about six months and all this time she was undergoing treatment, which however, proved ineffective. One day Mrs. Smith saw in the Gazette the particulars of a case of St. Vitus' dance cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and determined to try them with Minnie. By the time two boxes were used Mrs. Smith was sensible of a great improvement in her daughter's condition, and after the use of four more boxes was satisfied that Minnie was completely cured, as no symptoms of the trouble remained. This was about the end of June last, and since that time there has not been the slightest recurrence of the dread disease. While Minnie was taking the pills her weight increased, and her general health was much improved. Mrs. Smith also said that her younger daughter showed symptoms of the same trouble, but the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills speedily dispelled it.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are offered with a confidence that they are the only perfect and unfailing blood builder and nerve restorer and when given a fair trial disease and suffering must vanish. They make rich, red blood and cure when other medicines fail. Sold by all druggists or sent by mail on receipt of 50 cents a box or $2.50 for six boxes, by address, the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y. Beware of imitations and refuse trashy substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

Stage manager—I shall be satisfied until I see you occupy the place of the late John McCullough. McDevitt Peter Bent—Ah, you flatter me. Stage manager—Not at all. McCullough, you know, is dead.

Positively yourself, for the diseases peculiar to warm weather, by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Scrap for Odd Moments.

Brown—Confound it! There's that mosquito again. Smith—Well, don't slap your face like that. He'll take it for an encore.

How do you know, daughter, that young Tyson does not drink? Because, papa, his breath always smells of fresh clover.

How's your garden coming along, Wilkes? Everything's up—corn, peas, and tomatoes. What! Already? Yes. The children pulled them up.

Baffles is always talking about his library. How large is it? Oh, his library is in his head. Bound in calf, then, evidently.

Ask for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and do not take any other. Sold by all druggists.

What become of that trifling fellow, Tweedles? Oh, he went west and opened a store. Doing well? No; doing time. He was caught in the act.

Justice—You are charged with stealing Col. Julep's chickens. Have you any witnesses? Uncle Moses—I bet not. I don't steal chickens before witnesses.

"De only trouble 'bout er man's being good-natured all de time," said Uncle Eben, "is dat his little tergit norter, easy and satisfied wif 'imself, cause ez he is wif er body else."

Minards Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

Now, Johnny, do you understand thoroughly why I am going to whip you? Yes'm. You're in bad humor this mornin' an' you've got to lick someone before you'll feel satisfied.

A little Boston girl who had recently "earned to repeat the Lord's prayer," was asked by her mother if she knew the meaning of "forgive us our trespasses." "Why, yes," she replied; "it means excuse us for going on the grass."

Bobby—"What are decendants, father?" Father—"Why, the people who come after you. (Presently.) Who is that young man in the passage?" Bobby—"That's one of sister's decendants come to take her out for a drive."

Minards Liniment Cures Garget in Cows.

The Lovely Daughter—Why do you want us to wait till fall to marry, papa? The Wise Father—Because, if you marry then, the weather will be getting warm about the time his love grows cold, and you won't notice the change so much.

Tramp—Madam do you speak French? Lady of the House (suspiciously) No. Do you speak German? Tramp—No. Speak to me in your own language. Lady—Madam, I fear that I shall have to ask you for something to eat in plain English.

Minards Liniment Cures Colds, etc.

Tom—Why have Dick and Grace quarrelled? Hazel—They are both learning to ride the bicycle and last week they met each other in the park. She tried to bow to him and he tried to raise his hat, and each blames the other for the result.

Railroad President—Don't you think that rather exorbitant, Mr. Badger—$11,000 for the loss of your wife and her diamonds in the accident? Mr. Badger (indignantly)—Exorbitant! Well, I do not think so. I value the diamonds at $11,000 alone.

A man sent this answer to a bookseller who sent him an account for a book some time before delivered: I never ordered the book. If I did, I did not send it. If you sent it, I never got it. If I got it, I paid for it. If I didn't, I won't.

Agent—Can I put a burglar alarm in your house? Lady—No, we don't need it.

Agent—But, I mean it. The family across the street watches the place so closely that even a burglar couldn't get in without being seen.

Lack of vitality and color-matter in the bulbs causes the hair to fall out and turn gray. We recommend Hair-Renewer to prevent baldness and grayness.

"Do you remember," asked the young lawyer and promoter, "that you once said I would never be rich? I rather think I am on the road to riches, at last." "I never said you would not be rich," answered the elderly cynic. "I only said you would never have any money of your own, and I still say so."

Mistress—Now, Sarah, I want you to be very careful about breaking this vase. It cost a great deal of money, and I would hate to have it broken. Sarah (three days later)—There's your vase, ma'am, and I couldn't have broken it more carefully if I'd tried for a month.

The man in the bicycle suit laughed heartily. "Very funny," he said.

"What?" asked the man with a large section of skin gone from his nose. "Why, these 'Don'ts' for bicyclists," replied the man in the bicycle suit.

"Let me see them," said the man who was short of skin.

The man in the bicycle suit handed him the paper.

"The best one isn't there," said the man with the fantastic nose, shortly. "If it was the rest wouldn't be necessary."

"What do you consider the best one?" asked the man with the bicycle suit.

"Don't ride," answered the man whose nose stood in need of grafting, and then he carefully put a large piece of court plaster where it would do the most good.

Honour Your Wife.

Honour your wife before the children in order to build up in their hearts the feeling of reverence for the mother on which so much depends. Of course this should not be the only motive for honouring your wife, which is a thing right in itself, and ought to be, whether there are children or not. But it is a powerful reason why husbands should remember that the performing of it will so deeply influence the lives and characters of their children. The boys especially will be affected by it; and they will grow up with the idea that to respect a woman—first their mothers and sisters, and then afterwards all women—is to treat mankind. And how beautifully that will result in keeping them true and virtuous in heart and life! The more the father cherishes the mother, and the more the mother reverences the father, the better for the children.

They Are Giving Way. Physicians Commence to Realize the Value of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Ottawa, June 15.—The increasing instances among the masses of patients of medicine, usually caused by physicians, is rapidly giving way to the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills are concerned. The case of Dr. Rose and Dr. McCormick, who published their views on the recovery from diabetes and Bright's disease, through the agency of this remedy, were the first attacks on the titanic of skepticism and now it appears as if the remarkable recovery of Dr. H. Kent, of this city, the details of which have been published in the press, would complete what has been so auspiciously begun. The published interviews with Mr. and Mrs. Kent and the sworn statement of the former leave no room for doubt.
