Good Intentions.

The wonderful things we plan and love,
The beautiful things we have done,
The fields we have tilled, the gifts we have willed,
In the light of another year's sun,
When we think of it all we are baffled,
There's so much that never comes true,
Because, Love, instead of our doing,
We're always just meaning to do.

The friends we are wanting to help,
Love,
They struggle alone and forlorn,
By trial and suffering vanquished,
Perchance by temptation o'erborne;
But the lift and the touch and the greeting,
That well might have aided them through
The perilous strait of ill-fortune,
They miss: we're but meaning to do.

We dream of a fountain of knowledge,
We loiter along on its brink,
And toy with the crystalline waters,
Forever just meaning to drink.
Night falls, and our tasks are unfinished,
Too late, our lost chances we rue,
Dear Love, while our comrades were doing,
We only were meaning to do.

—Margaret H. Sangster.

A Plea for the Boys.

We have been stirred to the depths of our inmost being, time and time again, since this terrible war began, when reading of the sending of cigarettes to the men and boys at the front. Especially the boys. Of course sending them to the men, means the boys getting them. We hate the war in any form, but more particularly the cigarette, as it is the most injurious, and supplies the evil in a subtle form. We hesitate to say in a subtle form, because of our knowledge of its evil effects in any form. However, since listening to arguments in favor of sending tobacco to the older men, who have been using it so many years that the habit has now become stronger than they, we think there may be, under those conditions, some reason for sending it, in its least harmful state, to such persons. But for the boys we plead.

After reading in the "Evening Mail," September 29th, an article entitled "Sydney Mines' Girls Hit on New Idea," we feel we can keep silent no longer. Surely it must be through lack of knowledge that any mother, sister, or sweetheart would send to one dear to them, that which can be only an injury to them.

Mothers hearts have bled with indignation, when reading articles published in their unwillingness to let their sons go to the front. We desire the writers of such articles to know, it is not the fear of the German gun, but the awful dread of British rum and other evils following in its train, that makes mothers hesitate to have their sons enlist in England's cause. Many should with all their might close their eyes to wrongs that are disguised under a show of patriotism.

One has been made sick to the very soul when hearing of the young men, mere lads some of them, who have been seen staggering in the streets of Halifax. That, and the worse evils that drink leads to, make mothers' hearts quail with a horrible fear for the boys who leave home to don the King's uniform. Some who have gone out pure and clean will return, if they return at all, moral lepers. Who could read that article, written in the Quarterly Review, and not feel themselves sick with a nameless dread.

Acceptable Toys for the Children

Doll's House of Cardboard

A hat box of strong cardboard and some red, white and green water-color paints are required to make this doll's house. A view of it is given in the picture above, also a picture of the roof and of the front and one side. The roof and chimneys are to be made separately.

Two large, square openings are cut out at the front and above them an oblong is cut on three sides. Bent outward this forms an awning that is painted in red and white stripes. A door is cut in the side and panels and doorknobs painted on it. Openings are cut in the roof to hold the chimneys and it is painted in green squares to simulate shingles.

The house and chimneys are painted red lined with white to simulate bricks. White paper pasted over the windows will look like a shade. After the parts are made they are fastened together with paper fasteners.

Easily Made Animal Toys

Animals, that please the little ones, are made of cotton flannel or plush, and stuffed with sawdust. Pins with black heads, beads, or regulation artificial eyes are used, and bits of lamb's wool or fur provide the required hair. A dog and monkey are pictured here, made of white cotton flannel, also outlines of patterns for cutting them. Each animal is made of three pieces; the two sides and a piece to be sewed underneath. This last has a slit in it for turning the figure right side out after the pieces are machine stitched together. After it is stuffed this opening is sewed up. Almost any animal may be made in this way.

Bungalow Made of Cardboard

Bungalows and other toy houses are made of heavy cardboard boxes. The picture shows the roof, chimney, front and one side of the bungalow before they are put together, also the finished house.

The windows are cut out and plain white writing paper pasted over the openings on the inside. The window panes and sashes are painted on this. Doors are cut on three sides and panels and knobs painted on them. Doorsteps, window boxes and flowers, shingles, etc., are all painted on the flat surface.

The chimney is made separately, painted red, and lined with white.

not mitigate evil. Giving up life in this so-called "righteous war" is not the sacrifice that staves for war.

We have heard much and read more, fearing that some wrongs should be condoned, because committed by "our heroes at the front." We should say to any young man, who may read this, "No heroism appeals to a mother's heart, like the courage that overcomes evil." With all reverence, the same may be said concerning the great heart of "Eternal Love." The Word informs us that God regards the one who rules his own spirit, a greater hero than he who taketh a city. The latter receives the world's applause, the former the "well done" of the Eternal God, A Mother.

Christmas Gifts for the Baby

A Group of Baby Belongings

The baby inspires the greatest number of dainty gifts at Christmas time, nearly all of them the handwork of those who welcome him.

A book in which the important affairs of the new arrival are to be put on record, a hanger for safety pins of several sizes, a pair of armbands, and some brightly colored toys suspended by gay ribbons, are pictured above in the group of baby belongings.

The record book is made by covering cardboard with white moire silk. A stork is painted on the front cover, and plain heavy white paper provides the leaves. Satin ribbon in light blue or pink is sewed to each cover to fasten them together.

Pink satin ribbon and white celluloid rings, in three sizes, are used for the safety-pin hangers. One long and three short ones hang from a pretty bow, each terminating in a ring. The pins are fastened over the rings.

Narrow satin ribbon shirred over flat elastic cord forms the armbands. Each is finished with a full rossette.

Bootees and a Coat Hanger

The warm looking and dainty bootees shown in the picture will be easy to make by those who understand crocheting. They are crocheted of white zephyr and shaped to fit over the knees. A heading is worked in near the top and narrow pink satin ribbon run through it makes it possible to tie the bootees so that they will not slip down.

A novel and very pretty touch is given these bootees by the tiny pink rose buds that are embroidered on them with silk floss.

Little wooden hangers are covered with cotton for a padding and over this light satin ribbon is shirred. The hook is wound with the ribbon and the hanger finished with a pretty bow.

Topsy Doll Made of a Stocking

The rag baby has the reputation of being the best beloved of its little owner's possessions. Here is a Topsy doll made of a black stocking with mouth and nose outlined with yarn and glass beads for eyes. By ravelling an old knitted mitten or any knitted article, its head of kinky hair is secured.

The figure is cut out in two pieces, which are machine-stitched together, with an opening left at one side for turning it right side out. It is stuffed with cotton. Rompers and a cap of gayly striped gingham add to the fascination of this Topsy.

What Dr. Chase is Doing for Our Soldier Boys

At Home and Abroad---To Every Soldier a Full Sixty-cent Box of Dr. Chase's Ointment Free---Greatly Appreciated by the Boys.

Realizing that ointment is one of the prime necessities to the soldier, both in training and at the front, it was early decided to supply all Canadian recruits free of charge.

That this offer was appreciated by the military authorities is best evidenced by some of the replies received from Headquarters, as well as from individual camps.

Brigadier-General Sir Sam Hughes writes:—"This is indeed a most useful and acceptable donation, and for which please accept my most sincere thanks."

Lieut.-Col. Murphy, in charge of Valcartier Camp, writes:—"I would be very glad to receive donation of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and feel sure it would be acceptable."

One Major reports:—"The Ointment arrived on the day the Battery completed 24 miles route march on foot, and I can assure you the Ointment was very beneficial, and much appreciated by those with sore feet."

Further distributions of Dr. Chase's Ointment will be made to the recruits assembling for training at the various towns and cities throughout the country. Officers in charge are requested to advise us how many boxes they can use, allowing one for each man. In a score of ways this Ointment is useful to the soldier, and it is our desire that every man shall be supplied free of charge. Address Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

FIVE TONS OF OINTMENT

Weekly Supply for 100,000 British Soldiers Upon Their Feet.

London, Feb. 10.—An "express" at the British general army headquarters in France pays a tribute in an article given out yesterday by the Official Press Bureau to the work of the army supply departments. He calls the Ordnance Department a "military universal provider." He says in part:—

"The vastness of the work of maintaining a modern army may be gauged by the fact that during the past month the supplies furnished included 450 miles of telephone wire, 500,000 sand bags and 30,000 pounds of shoe blacking, while in ten days the Ordnance Department supplied 120,000 far socks and 200,000 blanket belts. The average weekly supply of ointment for 100,000 men is 100 tons."

The completeness of the work is illustrated by the fact that the index of the stores include 50,000 separate kinds of articles. Most of these are obtained from England, but some are being manufactured by the Ordnance Department in its own workshops in France.

Peep again in your oven. See those loaves, those pleasing loaves you've made. How fat—rounded—substantial. No, they won't fall when colder. Because the Manitoba strength that is in FIVE ROSES will hold them up till eaten. This sturdy elastic gluten has kept them from dropping flat in the oven. No unsightly holes 'twixt crust and crumb—never. All risen evenly—to stay risen. Never heavy—sodden—soggy—indigestible. Yours are the FIVE ROSES loaves—Crisply and appetizing of crust. Golden brown and tender. Snowy of crumb—light as thistledown. FIVE ROSES helps a lot. Try it soon.
