These periodicals constitute a wonderful miscellany of modern thought, research, and criticism. The cream of all European books worth reviewing is found here,, and they treat of the leading events of the world in masterly articles written by men who had special knowledge of the matters treated. The American Publishers urge upon all intelligent readers in this country a liberal support of the Reprints which they have so long and so cheaply furnished, realing sure that no expenditure for literary matter will yield so rich a return as that required for a subscription to these the Leading Periodicals of Great Britain. 81. DR. O'LEARY, Lecturer on Health & Diseases. May be seen at his office in Boston, from the first Thursday of every month (except July and August) to the following Monday 4 P. M. His extensive practice in the city and vicinity induces him to settle where his patients can call on him, but he intends to continue his lectures in the surrounding towns.

He pays special attention to Chronic Diseases—those of long standing—such as physicians in common practice neglect, make light of, and hence fail to control. but from which the world really suffers more than from those of acute form, which he leaves to the care of others whose daily calling leads them in that direction. He confines himself to a small field, and in that attains a success that is very assuring, which he attributes not to medicine alone, but to that and a long and careful study of the laws of health-putting his patients on the right path in their habits of living. He heals diseases of the breathing organs, as
