Nocal Matters

Labor is in good demand just now, both for the woods and ships.

The mills shut down for want of logs are expected to resume work shortly. Speed the day.

Social Dance.

The Battery held another entertainment Monday evening in the Masonic Hall. This was the third for the season. and was immensely enjoyed.

In consequence of the press of matter upon our comms today we are obliged to hold over "Newcastle local items," "Notes from the Capitrl." from Gloucester, etc. All will appear in our next.

Tempora Mutantur. Employers are busy now hunting up men for the lumber woods. This is a great change from last fall. Then the men had to go round soliciting work, and had to take the employer's terms. Now the men have something to say in it. This is as it should be.

The Saga.

The cargo of the wrecked vessel Saga has been partially delivered. The tin is in pretty good condition but would be improved if kept covered with fresh water until arrangements were made for drying it. Exposure to the oxygen of the air must necessarily damage it much. We understand a diver has gone down to Escuminac to fish for the balance of the cargo.

That Shed. We perceive that no steps yet have H been taken to rid the community of that impending shed hard by the up-town ladder house. Children play about it every day, and as it is sure some time to tumble, casualtics are imminent. We urge upon any persons who may be injured by its falling, to promptly sue the responsible persons for damages. [This item to stand as long as the shed.—ED.]

In another column we publish an advertisement from Mrs. M. J. Quigley, in which our lady readers in Chatham aud Newcastle should be much interested. This is the proper season, because winter approaches, to consult the milliner, and with Mrs. Quigley will be found the leading fashions, and the best of goods -and cheap too no doubt.

The Gift Sale to have taken place of in the Temperance Hall on Monday, Oct. 4th, is hereby postponed until Monday, 11th, Inst., when it will positively take place. Oct. 6—1

The Gift Sale above referred to is well worth public attention. A beautiful piano, just as good as the day it came out of the store is offered, and for the sum of 50 cent, one has a chance of winning it. It is such a prize as is rarely offered, and we fancy there should be a number of eager ticket purchasers.

ED. STAR.]

The Fairley brothers were in town Monday and reported that the lumber which had been hung up all the summer had just got a start, and would in all probability reach the South West booms by Saturday next. This is cheering news when it will be renembered how many ships depend upon the se logs for cargoes, and how many hands depend upon them for work: so we may soon expect to hear of Mills closed down opening again, and millmen preparing to close changing their minds. Fifteen million feet of logs more floating into Chath im will heep a hum about our ears till the middle of November.

Street Fighting.

Of all the places we have ever seen, he ba for its size. Chatham takes the lead for street brawls and night rows. There is en not a night that one does not have a drunken song for a lullaby; not a night of that some sheebeen house, -houses in which liquor is sold without license under the very eyes and nose of our two policemen—is not the theatre of a brawl between drunken sailors and degraded townsfolk. Yet the police march lovingly up and down town, figure out when their pay is due, and when they get a slant slip quiet in and take their beer and ovsters.

The Salmon Fishing. A late exchange at hand says:

"The season for salmon set fishing at the Tweed just closed has been the worst ever known, and the lessees of fisheries must be heavy losers in consequence of the unproductiveness of the river, as well as the low prices, which have been -4d. and 5d. per pound less than those of last year. The scarcity of salmou and grilse has been most noticeable since July, from which time there should be a great increase of these fish. Trout, although numerous, were below the average. The rental of the river has this year fallen from £14,000 to £13,000. In the month of August the Berwick Salmon Fishing Company were 9,000 fish short of the catch for the same month last year. There is at present no disease in the river.'

From the above it will be seen that the Salmon catch in more places than Northern New Brunswick has been a so failure the past year. What is quite W astonishing in this connexion is that low th prices have prevailed where according to trade notions scarcity makes an article that is in demand dear.
