FINE RESULTS ARE OBTAINED BY 3 IN FAMILY

Halifax Woman Says She Gained 12 Pounds, And that Her Husband and Little Girl Were Entirely
Relieved by Taking Tanlac.

"Since I was helped so much by Tanlac my husband and little girl have taken it with splendid results," said Mrs. Robert L. Allen, 56 Dixie St., Halifax, N. S.

"For years I had such bad indigestion that sometimes even milk and toast hurt me. I never could eat fat nor fried food. My liver was out of order too, and I couldn't do a bit of my housework. I was nervous and dull, taking no interest in anything. "After trying all kinds of medicine with no results, I got a bottle of Tanlac and I declare it helped me from the first few doses. I have gained twelve pounds and can easily do all my work. We all think Tanlac is just wonderful."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists

FOREST FIRES
It is always of considerable value to know how fires originate, as such a study makes possible the application of preventive measures. For a considerable number of years past it has been necessary to designate the cause of a large percentage of fires as "unknown fires. Last season, however, shows a considerable reduction which may be taken as an indication of material improvement in the attention given to study of fires.—Annual Report Director of Forestry Ottawa.

RADIO 'AN ALLY

The spread of radio has led many to ask whether the system is destined to supersede the newspaper in course of time. There is nothing, so far, to indicate that it can so discharge the functions of the press as to enable any considerable number of people to dispense with daily papers. At best—the broadcasting station can transmit only a bulletin service. It might send out a detailed report of some event of supreme importance, but on such occasions it would have to sacrifice other news. The advertisements, which are an indispensable part of the modern newspaper, would not be reproduced at all. The newspapers of the world, instead of fearing radio as a rival, are welcoming it as an ally, and are preparing to conscript it for their own use.

Got No Sleep

But now the neuritis has gone, the pains have ceased, the nervous system is restored and the writer of this letter pays a grateful tribute to the medicine which made him well.

Mr. John Woodward, P.T.O., Lucan, Ont., writes:

"It gives me much pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's medicine, especially the Nerve Food. I was a sufferer from neuritis for several years, and tried all kinds of remedies, yet never seemed to get any better. At last my nerves and whole system seemed to give way through not being able to get any rest or sleep at night for pain, which mostly used to take me in all parts of the limbs and feet. My nerves would twitch till my whole body would seem to jerk right up as I lay in bed. Almost at the point of despair, I decided I would get Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I did, and after taking twenty boxes I believe myself almost normal again. I also keep a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills on hand, and for the past year I seem to enjoy my usual health."

TRIBUTE TO DEAD

German Writes of American Cemetery in France.

Spot Where More Than 21,400 of the Bravest of Our Land Are Buried, in Field of White.

Paul Block, Paris correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt, was recently a sympathetic observer of the destruction wrought by his countrymen in northern France, and sent to his paper a detailed report of his trip through the devastated region. Of a certain point in his journey he writes: The guide relates in a matter-of-fact way that of the 131 villages which he covers in his trip some eighty have been utterly destroyed. This part of the journey, from Clermont-en-Argonne to Bourreilles, has all been wrecked by the war, but the worst came after we reached Varennes. From there to Verdun it is a desert—over which the horsemen of the Apocalypse have swept.

At only one point is there any evidence of restoration, and this has become one of the sights of the region. I mean the American cemetery at Romagne below Montfaucon. Whenever the Americans take anything up they do it in a wholesale way. Although we had come solely to see ruins, we could not pass this cemetery without a visit. It is the only one of its kind.

On a gently rising hill purchased outright for this purpose are buried the 21,400 Americans, who fell during the fighting around Montfaucon. Some kilometers before we reached this point we noted little white signboards along the road directing us to this gigantic graveyard; for many of the relatives of the fallen cross the sea in order to visit the last resting place of those dear to them.

But when you come within half a mile of the point you need no further guidance. An apparently limitless field of white suddenly greets the vision in the distance. This is the effect of the 21,400 tombstones of equal size shining in the sunlight. There are crosses for protestants and Catholics, and stars for Jews, ranged closely side by side, at the heads of 21,400 uniform, well-kept graves. They all lie there, the officers in the middle. A great star of foliage plants separates the world of the dead from the world of the living. High above the graves flutters the Stars and Stripes. Sad, indeed, as is the thought that a whole army of vigorous young boys here slumber in death, this cemetery has nothing gloomy about it. It is a bright and cheerful burial place.

And the army of the dead has its commander. An American officer and his staff reside in the group of tidy houses opposite the entrance, to guard the resting place of their dead countrymen. One of them came forward and greeted us, a cheerful, young man with a wholesome ruddy countenance. What had induced him to exile himself here in this solitude? High pay? A sense of duty? Love for France? The last suggestion is not very plausible, for he does not know a single word of French. In any case, his nerves must be sound, else he could not live here day after day, hour after hour, guarding these 21,400 graves, without going mad.

Comment Not Needed.

I see that Dr. Schussler, who has had access to documents relating to the quarrel between Bismarck and the ex-kaiser, has published in Germany a new political study entitled "The Fall of Bismarck," writes a correspondent. But surely no addition is needed to Bismarck's own words to "Dr. Moritz Busch, on the day of his resignation: "I thought he would be thankful if I were to remain with him for a few years, but I find that on the contrary, he is simply longing with his whole heart to be rid of me, in order that he may govern alone—with his own genius—and be able to cover himself with glory. He does not want the old Mentor any longer, but only docile tools. But I cannot make genuflections, nor crouch under the table like a dog."

New Anesthetic.

A coal tar chemical for the elimination of all pain in dental surgery is announced. This new chemical is liquid in form, is applied on a pellet of cotton to the gum or mucous membrane surrounding the tooth to be anesthetized or into a cavity prior to excavation where a tooth is to be filled or treated. It produces complete local anesthesia in from two to eight minutes, and eliminates all feeling from one to six hours. Dr. Klein has extracted teeth and pulps painlessly by the use of this chemical. Its effect is entirely local, so it may be applied with perfect safety, regardless of the patient's age or general physical condition. It leaves no disagreeable after-effect.

China's Air Mail Service. China, with the reputation of the most backward of nations, is operating a regular airplane mail service between Peking and Shanghai, on which 40 planes are in use large enough to carry passengers and parcels in addition to first-class mail.—Barron's Weekly.

Mill Girl Judge in England. England has a mill girl magistrate in the person of Miss Mary Anne Dewa, a cloth weaver, in the town of Dewsbury, and who has recently been appointed a justice of the peace.
