Heroic Deed of British Cyclist

WON QUICK REWARD.

London, Oct. 14.—The Daily Chronicle publishes the following from its correspondent at Angers:

"In the British Expeditionary Force there is an English soldier, a member of a cyclist corps, who is proud to wear upon his breast the 'Medaille Militaire' of the French Army.

"The story of the stirring incident has been told to me by Henri Roger, a young soldier of the Fifth Infantry, who saw it from the trenches and who is now lying wounded in hospital here.

"During one of the engagements last week on the River Aisne the Fifth was holding an entrenched position and was faced by the distance by a strong force of the enemy. To the right and left of the opposing forces were large clumps of trees, in one of which a force of English troops had taken up a position, a fact regarding which the Germans were unaware. In the other wood, it was soon discovered, lay a considerable body of German infantry with several machine gun sections.

"A road ran beside the wood in which the enemy lay hidden, and along it a force of French infantry was seen to be advancing. How were they to be saved from the ambush into which they were marching? That was the problem, and it was a difficult one.

"Every time the French troops in the trenches endeavored to signal to their comrades hidden German sharpshooters picked off the signaller. Soon the position seemed to be almost desperate; every moment the entrenched French soldiers expected to hear the hideous swish of the maxims mowing down their unsuspecting comrades.

Rode Straight to Death.

"Suddenly, however, something happened which attracted the attention of the French and German trenches. From the wood where the English lay hidden, a cyclist dashed—the English, too had seen the danger, and a cyclist had been ordered to carry a message of warning to the advancing French column, several hundred strong.

"The cyclist bent low in his saddle and darted forward; he had not gone a hundred yards before he fell, killed by a well-aimed German bullet. A minute later another cyclist appeared only, in a second or two, to share his comrade's fate.

"Then a third—the thing had to be done! The bullets whizzed around him, but on he went over the fire-swept zone. The Frenchmen held their breath as they watched the gallant cyclist speeding toward the French column; puffs of smoke from the wood where the Germans were showed that the sharpshooters were redoubting their efforts. But the cyclist held on and soon passed beyond some high ground where he was sheltered from the Germans, but could still be seen by the entrenched French.

"The Frenchmen could not resist a loud 'Hurrah!' when they saw the daring cyclist dismount on reaching the officer in command of the troops which he had dared death to save.

"The officer heard the message and took in the position at a glance. He gave an order or two instantly, and turned to the Englishman.

"Then was there a fine but simple battle picture, which should live.

"The deed which had saved hundreds of lives was one of those which bring glory as of old back to the honor of modern warfare. Courage, and courage alone, had triumphed, unsupported by any of the murderous machinery of the armies of to-day.

"That was what the French officer recognized. He saluted the gallant fellow standing by the cycle. Then, with a simple movement, took the 'medaille Militaire'—the Victoria Cross of France—from his own tunic and pinned it on the coat of the Englishman.

"I am glad, young Roger told me when he had finished relating the story, to have lived to see that deed. It was glorious."

Rev. Mr. Hemmeon's Lecture Sunday.

On Sunday afternoon last, Rev. D. B. Hemmeon addressed the members of the Adult Bible Class of Gower Street Church on the subject of Patriotism. The rev. lecturer handled the subject in a very patriotic manner, and during the course of his remarks paid a grand tribute to the Colonies for their loyalty to the Empire. He referred to the progress of the war, and justice of England's cause, and predicted a new era of peace and prosperity for the nations of Europe after Prussian militarism is crushed.

The attendance was large, and all were pleased with the discourse which was a most timely and interesting one.

Sulphate of Ammonia.

St. John's Gas Light Company. Dear Sir,—I have analyzed a sample of Sulphate of Ammonia made at your Works, and I found 20.5 per cent. of NITROGEN, Sulphates of Ammonia and Nitrate of Soda are the two principal Nitrogen manure.

Sulphate of Ammonia is less soluble than Nitrate of Soda, consequently it is a safer manure to use during a wet season.

Yours truly,
D. JAMES DAVIES, B.S.C., F.C.S.,
Analyst and Assayer.

Austrians Remove Their Commanders.

Venice, Oct. 12, by way of Paris.—A despatch from Vienna announces the sudden removal of the commanders of five Austrian army corps and the appointment of General Svetozar Borjevic as the new commander of the Third Army.

The commanders dismissed are Generals Baron Von Gleslengen, of the Eighth Army Corps, Kolosvary Von Kolosvar, of the Eleventh Army Corps, and Meisner Von Zwellenstann of the Seventh Army Corps, and the commanders of the Sixth and Seventeenth Corps.

The newly appointed Commanders are Generals Arz, Sixth Corps; Griesler, Seventh Corps; Scheuchemstuel, Eighth Corps; Lubiele, Eleventh Corps, and Krick, Seventeenth Corps. It is officially stated that the commanders retired on their own request because of reasons of health. The newspapers of Vienna make no comment on the changes.

Rossley's Great Circus Act.

SERPENTELLO AND THE FROG MAN.

Last night the crowd excited anything ever seen at Rossleys, as it was impossible to get in long before eight o'clock to see the great circus act. Serpentello, the dainty little contortionist and back bender. This little lady acts as though there was not a bone in her body, and later on when her swing is fixed in the ceiling of the theatre she will do some marvelous feats, as this little aerial artist works better in the air than on the ground; away high up in the air she performs all sorts of tricks, hanging on almost nothing. The Frog man needs no mention for he is the most wonderful fellow ever seen. But this time he comes to us with all new tricks. He picks up Serpentello and wraps her round his body pretty much the same as he would a bell. It's a fine act and one and all should see it. The pictures, too, were splendid and brought forth much applause.

Says War Must End Militarism.

London, Oct. 13.—The terms of peace will be that the dominant spirit of militarism which has perverted every talent of the German nation will be crushed and broken, so that those who come after us shall be free from such terror.

This was the concluding remark of a speech delivered at Newcastle by Viscount Haldane, Lord High Chancellor, at a meeting to influence re-arming.

Lord Haldane claimed that Great Britain was fighting because it was a sacred duty. He paid a tribute to the great qualities of the German nation, but said it had been prostituted to military uses, and this war was to end that spirit of militarism. He continued:

"If Germany should annex Belgium and cross France and annex Holland and check Russia, then this country would be doomed. Rather than see that accomplished I would see the British Empire perish honorably."
