THE GULF STREAM

It is the Grandest of All Terrestrial Phenomena.

A MIGHTY RIVER IN THE SEA.

Billions of Tons of Water Are Whirled Along Hourly in This Wonderful Torrent, Whose Beneficent Influence Is Felt All Around the World.

Ninety billion tons of water are carried hourly through the strait of Florida by the gulf stream, according to Rear Admiral John E. Pillsbury, U. S. N., in a communication to the National Geographic society at Washington. This stream, he says, is probably the grandest and most mighty of any terrestrial phenomenon.

"If this one single hour's flow of water could be evaporated the remaining salts would require many times more than all the ships in the world to carry it," says Admiral Pillsbury.

"It is difficult for the mind to grasp the immensity of the great ocean river. When one is on board a vessel floating upon its waters one is not as much impressed at the power and grandeur of this wonder of nature as he is when he stands before a towering mountain, an immense iceberg or a fall of water such as Niagara.

"But when one remembers that the mighty torrent, speeding on hour by hour and day by day in a volume equal to all the largest rivers of the world combined, carrying its beneficent heat to temper the climate of continents, one begins to realize that of all the forces of the physical world none can equal this one river of the ocean.

"It is interesting to note in the history of the gulf stream how great its influence has been on the fortunes of the new world.

"Before the discovery of America strange woods and fruits were frequently found on the shores of Europe. Some of these were seen by Columbus and to him were convincing evidence that strange lands were to the westward. These woods were carried by the gulf stream and by the prevailing winds from America, so that in part the stream is responsible for the discovery of the new world.

"Ponce de Leon, while searching for the fountain of youth, discovered this stream. He sailed southward along the coast of Florida, thus stemming the current. He says they found a current that, though the wind was good, they could not stem. It seemed that their vessels were going fast through the water, but they were being driven back in spite of the strong and favorable wind. One ship was 'soon carried away by the current and lost from sight, although it was a clear sky.'

"The theories as to the cause of ocean currents have been many. In recent times the course of currents has been laid to rivers and the gulf stream chiefly to the Mississippi. In actual fact about 2,000 such rivers would be required.

"In the tropical regions there is a steady movement of the air from east to west, known as the trade winds. Winds blowing over the surface of the water induce a current in the latter due to friction. At first it is only the merest skin that moves, but gradually the motion is communicated from layer to layer until at last, if the wind is long continued as in the trade wind region, the movement extends to lower depths, 300 or 400 feet or perhaps more.

"These trade wind currents continue across the Caribbean until they reach the obstruction of the Honduras and Yucatan coasts, from which they escape into the gulf of Mexico.

"Another source of the gulf stream is the wave caused by the wind. Every ripple carries a certain amount of water in the direction toward which it is flowing, irrespective of the current caused by its friction, and when the waves become large tons of water are hurled from the crest into the trough every time the wave breaks.

"In a large area like the Caribbean, having a comparatively constant wind blowing over its whole surface, this action is practically a simultaneous movement of the surface waters to the westward.

"There is every evidence that the gulf stream is governed absolutely by law in all its variations. Its course through the ocean is without doubt fixed. Its fluctuations are by days, months, seasons or by years, but they do not vary materially one year from the other. So we may conclude that of all the physical forces on this earth that are subject to any variations at all the great ocean currents are most immutable."

"But it has its suspicions."—Philadelphia Ledger.

OPTIMISM.

Optimism is a belief in a great purpose underlying the world for good, absolutely certain to fulfill itself somewhere, somehow. That must have been what God saw when he looked upon the world and called it "good."—Phillips Brooks.

VICTORY WITH RUSSIA

Eighty-Day Battle of the Carpathians Nears Its End.

Crisis in the Hungarian Campaign Will Burst Before Any of Other Important Battles Will Have Time to Develop, Says Frederick Renner—Austrians Are Abandoning Undamaged Guns.

LONDON, April 12.—With the capture by the Russians of almost all the main chain of mountains, the battle of the Carpathians, which has lasted upwards of eighty days, is apparently reaching a termination over one extensive front, and the Russians are said to be moving at various points by railways and roads and along the rivers and streams down the southern slopes towards the plains of Hungary.

This movement, if it continues successfully, will, in the view of the Russian military authorities, compel the retirement with little or no fighting, of the Austrians and Germans who are still north of the Carpathians, to the east of Uzkok Pass, and in eastern Galicia and Bukovina.

The battle which has been thus successfully conducted by the Russians, was, from all accounts, one of the fiercest of the war, and the manner in which the Austrians and Germans overcame the difficulties of mountain fighting in mid-winter has been the subject of praise by those who witnessed the operations, or are acquainted with the country traversed.

Frederick Renner says in a despatch to The Daily News from Petrograd:

"It is clear now the crisis in Hungary's campaign will burst before any of the great decisive battles of the spring campaign elsewhere in Europe have time to develop. This calamity for Austro-German strategy is immediately due to the astonishing energy and tactical ability of the Russian brigade leaders under Brusilov."

"The Russians have now crossed the entire crest of the enemy's position in the Carpathians from Ondava to Uzkok. Separate small armies, moving below on a 40-mile ridge westward to Uzkok, have overcome what has hitherto been believed to be an absolutely insuperable obstacle so early in the year. They are moving very slowly, and when not fighting have to dig their way through narrow gorges blocked by heavy wet masses of snow, which has fallen from the precipitous hillsides and are often ten feet deep. They frequently find mountain guns and machine guns intact, hidden or abandoned by Austrians."

JUST MISSED CAPTURE.
Kronprinz Wilhelm Saw Her Collier Chased by Warships.
NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 13.—The German merchant raider Kronprinz Wilhelm will not be permitted to go into drydock at the shipyards here until Lieut.-Capt. Thierfelder, her commander, makes a formal request for time to complete such repairs as he deems necessary to make his vessel seaworthy. Capt. Thierfelder told Collector Hamilton last night he could not do so before to-day.

The German captain, however, is insistent that he must hasten to repair his ship and return upon his work as a raider. He has fallen short of coal and provisions," he said. "As we came up the coast we continually heard the British warships talking to each other by wireless. It seemed on some days and nights that there was as many as eight warships within a radius of a few hundred miles. But we kept on due north, running as rapidly as we could with our ship darkened at night."

"One night on our way up we were to have met a German collier and made for her. That was our last chance. The collier was not large, but it was ample to fill all requirements, as the demand from both British and American warships was so great. The collier was still some distance off when the British warships came into the consumption of the sea, consequently the collier was rather slow with sales of full loads of choice steers at $7.75; good at $7.25, while small lots of picked stock sold 25c per cwt. higher.

A feature of the small meat trade was the weaker feeling in the market for yearling lambs and prices declined 25c per cwt. notwithstanding the continued limited supplies coming forward and sales of small lots of Ontario stock were made at $9 to $9.25, and Quebec lambs at $8.25 to $8.50 per cwt. There was no change in sheep, for which the demand was quiet, with sales of small lots of choice ewes at $6. A few spring lambs were sold at prices ranging from $2.50 to $3 each as to quality. Demand for calves was good, and some extra choice ones sold as high as $12 each.

Hogs strong under a good demand and small offerings and sales of selected lots were made at $9.50 to $9.60; sows at $7.50 to $7.60, and stags at $4.70 to $4.80, weighed off cars.

King Nicholas, and the crown prince went to Podgoritz on Saturday. Albanian insurgents attacked Austrian troops on Lake Scutari Saturday, sinking two of them.

St. Lawrence Free of Ice.
MONTREAL, April 13.—The St. Lawrence river will be clear of ice by to-night and ready for the resumption of trans-Atlantic traffic. While the ferry boats have begun operations in and around Montreal it is not expected that ships from British and other ocean ports will begin to arrive here till next week.

THE MARKETS

CHICAGO, April 12.—Bulls had the advantage today in wheat. Exporters were buying new crop futures, and it was apparent that cargoes of the old crop would soon be moving freely over the Great Lakes. WINNIPEG GRAIN MARKET.
WINNIPEG, April 12.—Former Liverpool cables caused a higher opening on the local wheat market and a further advance occurred later. Trading was quiet, only a light volume of business being worked, but sentiment was bullish and congestion in May on all markets assisted the strength. Near the close there was a slight reaction from high points.

The cash demand for both wheat and oats was quiet and offerings were fair; very little business, however, was forthcoming. Cash wheat closed 1/4c higher on contract grades; oats, 1/4c to 1/2c up, and flax 1/4c higher.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.
MONTREAL, April 12.—At the Montreal stock yards, west of market, the supply of cattle was not large, but it was ample to fill all requirements, as the demand from both butchers and packers is still somewhat limited owing to the falling off in the consumption of the season, consequently the trade on the whole was rather slow with sales of full loads of choice steers at $7.75; good at $7.25, while small lots of picked stock sold 25c per cwt. higher.
