

JOHNSON'S NIGHTMARES.

Johnson read the symptoms in each patent nostrum ad, and soon he thought he had 'em all, and had 'em awful bad. He'd feel a crick, a pang, a pang, as he would read away. With every ad his mind would change—new ailment every day! And last of all he found an ad that said that all these ailments were caused by the coffee bean, would probably soon cease. And never pausing to reflect that men who want to sell a brand new notion to the "peep" don't balk at what they tell. He started on a brisk crusade to warn each smiling friend. That coffee, if persisted in, his life would surely end. But to his great astonishment, the folks he came across were looking most amazing well and his seemed all the loss. For while they sipped their morning cup, or demi-tasse at noon, and seemed to thrive, he grew more thin and somber. Pretty soon, he wondered if he wasn't wrong, and he removed the ban. When Chase & Sanborn had explained what went in every can. And as we are, much as we think, his nightmare he forgot. And saw them vanish in the steam from coffee piping hot.

LEATHER MARKETS.

TORONTO.

Toronto, July 31.—Leather.—There is a rather peculiar situation in the leather business in Canada at the present time, and in the past few days prices have advanced quite 20 per cent. Quebec tanners notified the trade in Toronto on Saturday that they had canceled all quotations. There has been no formal meeting of the tanners' section of the Canada Board of Trade, but it is expected that the dealers will have to make a new schedule of prices. The present situation has arisen, it is said, from the large purchases of hides and leather for the Japanese Government in the United States. Hides come into Canada duty free, and the withdrawal of stock from the United States markets has affected the tanners on this side.

HELD UP BY ROBBERS

Mr. Robert Sutherland Attacked By Highwaymen in Ingersoll.

Ingersoll, Aug. 1.—Daring highwaymen held up Mr. Robert Sutherland, father of Donald Sutherland, M. L. A., on Thames street bridge, as he was on his way home late Saturday night. Mr. Sutherland offered a plucky resistance, which, together with his cries for help, put the assailants to flight. In the mix-up Mr. Sutherland was rather roughly handled, receiving a vicious kick on the wrist, and another heavy blow in the face, both of which left large bruises. At the very moment that Mr. Sutherland was pounced upon, a group of men were sitting chatting in front of the Atlantic House, not far away, and the streets were by no means deserted. H. D. McCarty was seated in a chair at the front of the store when he was startled by hearing cries for help. He hurried towards the bridge, but before he reached there he saw a couple of men walk across the street and disappear from view in the vicinity of Richardson's mill. Crossing the bridge, Mr. Sutherland explained that he had been attacked and robbed, and that the bridge Mr. McCarty picked up his pocketbook and cane. Mr. Sutherland's pocketbook contained the sum of $100, and was probably known to his assailants.

BRUIN'S FREEDOM WAS VERY BRIEF

Act Not on the Programme at the Norris and Rowe Circus.

Norris & Rowe's circus is a good one. This was the general verdict of those who attended the show on Rectory street south yesterday. The attendance in the afternoon was not large, but in the evening a large crowd was on hand.

Norris & Rowe's show is different from the general run of circuses. It was formerly confined to an exhibition of trained animals, and as such was one of the best in the land. The managers have expanded the show into a two-ring circus with complete menagerie.

The new attractions are all of the very highest class, being clean and clever throughout. There is nothing state about the show. The circus is well known to London by this time, as at the top of the aerial profession; the clowns, with their caricature of the fight between Young Corbett and Battling Nelson, are good. As for the trained animal acts, they cannot be given too much praise.

It is not everyone who can train a bear to ride a velocipede without aid, to balance on top of a rolling ball, and to lie on its back and jungle. ## THE GREATEST CRIMINAL

Governor of Wisconsin Severely Scores John D. Rockefeller.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 1.—"John D. Rockefeller is the greatest criminal of the age."

In these words Governor Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, denounced the richest man in the world in an address delivered at the state fair grounds, before the Illinois Baptist Chautauqua yesterday. The declaration was greeted with cheers.

Governor La Follette's address was a stern arraignment of corrupt politicians, state and national, and of the monopolies that control the industrial and commercial life of the United States. He scored the Armours and other large packers.

Norris & Rowe's show is different from the general run of circuses. It was formerly confined to an exhibition of trained animals, and as such was one of the best in the land. The managers have expanded the show into a two-ring circus with complete menagerie.

ENGLISH MONEY FOR CANADA

R. J. Young, Secretary of the C. M. A., Points to One Great Result of Trip.

Mr. R. J. Young, B.A., Toronto, secretary of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, who returned yesterday from a very optimistic trip to England, is very optimistic regarding the success of the States people. He, however, gave them names and facts and awakened a great deal of interest in this country.

"I had an immense mail all the time I was away," he said. "Every body had a question to ask and I saw that every one was answered."

Speaking of the manufacturers' meeting with Chamberlain, Mr. Young said that that statesman had been informed plainly that the association desired to have everything made in Canada that was possible here and that there was perfect understanding and accord with the views of the association on his part on this point.

Bruden and the horse played their parts all right. When they went under the pedestal the bear ducked neatly and squared his back to the rescuer.

The latter was a little nervous, so it seemed, and when he jumped, instead of landing squarely upon Bruin's back, his hind quarters went "over the edge."

Then commenced a scramble, the bear struggling to maintain his place on the horse's back and the dog endeavoring to dislodge him.
