

BY THE MARQUISE DE FONTENROY.

BY THE MARQUISE DE FONTENROY.

In view of the great wealth acquired by the Duke of Roxburghe through his marriage with Miss May Goelet, it is to be regretted that he should have neglected to come to the assistance of his father's brother, old Lord Charles Kerr, with the relatively trifling sum of £250, and thus saved him from the disgrace of arrest and of figuring in the prisoner's dock of the police court at Croydon, charged with the criminal offense of obtaining credit from tradespeople for more than $100 without notifying them that he was an undischarged bankrupt. Lord Charles has been bankrupted at least five or six times, and about fifteen years ago was committed to Holloway partly from his father and partly from his grand-uncle, the late Duke d'Aumale, for he is just as grasping as his great-grandfather, King Louis Philippe, the stock-jobber French king of notorious memory. He has had many quarrels with his father-in-law, the Archduke Joseph, about money matters. Like all the other members of the house of Austria, the archduke was very much opposed to his daughter's marriage to the French prince, and on learning something of the duke's attitude toward the marriage, he endeavored to protect her interests by declining at the last moment to pay over the amount of her dowry of 2,000,000 florins, arranging in lieu thereof to furnish her with a mortgage on the crown lands until his death. The Duke of Orleans was so angered by this that the marriage was never consummated, and he died of the very eve of the wedding, and matter was left to be settled by the arbitration of the partition by the gift of 250,000 florins of the father of the archduke to his son-in-

partly from his father and partly from his grand-uncle, the late Duke d'Aumale, for he is just as grasping as his great-grandfather, King Louis Philippe, the stock-jobber French king of notorious memory. He has had many quarrels with his father-in-law, the Archduke Joseph, about money matters. Like all the other members of the house of Austria, the archduke was very much opposed to his daughter's marriage to the French prince, and on learning something of the duke's attitude toward the marriage, he endeavored to protect her interests by declining at the last moment to pay over the amount of her dowry of 2,000,000 florins, arranging in lieu thereof to furnish her with a mortgage on the crown lands until his death. The Duke of Orleans was so angered by this that the marriage was never consummated, and he died of the very eve of the wedding, and matter was left to be settled by the arbitration of the partition by the gift of 250,000 florins of the father of the archduke to his son-in-

partly from his father and partly from his grand-uncle, the late Duke d'Aumale, for he is just as grasping as his great-grandfather, King Louis Philippe, the stock-jobber French king of notorious memory. He has had many quarrels with his father-in-law, the Archduke Joseph, about money matters. Like all the other members of the house of Austria, the archduke was very much opposed to his daughter's marriage to the French prince, and on learning something of the duke's attitude toward the marriage, he endeavored to protect her interests by declining at the last moment to pay over the amount of her dowry of 2,000,000 florins, arranging in lieu thereof to furnish her with a mortgage on the crown lands until his death. The Duke of Orleans was so angered by this that the marriage was never consummated, and he died of the very eve of the wedding, and matter was left to be settled by the arbitration of the partition by the gift of 250,000 florins of the father of the archduke to his son-in-

partly from his father and partly from his grand-uncle, the late Duke d'Aumale, for he is just as grasping as his great-grandfather, King Louis Philippe, the stock-jobber French king of notorious memory. He has had many quarrels with his father-in-law, the Archduke Joseph, about money matters. Like all the other members of the house of Austria, the archduke was very much opposed to his daughter's marriage to the French prince, and on learning something of the duke's attitude toward the marriage, he endeavored to protect her interests by declining at the last moment to pay over the amount of her dowry of 2,000,000 florins, arranging in lieu thereof to furnish her with a mortgage on the crown lands until his death. The Duke of Orleans was so angered by this that the marriage was never consummated, and he died of the very eve of the wedding, and matter was left to be settled by the arbitration of the partition by the gift of 250,000 florins of the father of the archduke to his son-in-

partly from his father and partly from his grand-uncle, the late Duke d'Aumale, for he is just as grasping as his great-grandfather, King Louis Philippe, the stock-jobber French king of notorious memory. He has had many quarrels with his father-in-law, the Archduke Joseph, about money matters. Like all the other members of the house of Austria, the archduke was very much opposed to his daughter's marriage to the French prince, and on learning something of the duke's motives, he was so angry that he endeavored to protect her interests by declining at the last moment to pay over the amount of her dowry of 2,000,000 florins, arranging in lieu thereof to furnish her with a mortgage on the crown lands until his death. The Duke of Orleans was so angered by this that the marriage was never celebrated, but he was obliged to the very eve of the wedding, and matter of course, to pay the archduke the dowry in cash by the gift of 250,000 florins or the portion of the archduke to his son-in-

The most picturesque and romantic government that exists in the world today—a government over whose affairs the world's press constantly hanges the danger of imprisonment and death, is that of the underground republic of Macedonia, a territory whose whose of outlaw in the domains of the Turkish Sultan as a pirate ship would be in this twentieth century on the high seas.

Here, in one of the most despotic countries on earth, has grown up a republic which has remained intact after that of the United States.

At the cost of thousands of lives and many more in the future, the republic is supported by every true Macedonian within the Sultan's domain. The government is a democracy, and in reality the power that governs Macedonia. All the armies of Turkey cannot destroy it, and the spies of the Sultan have not been able to ferret out its secrets. It is the great "underhand" that guides Macedonia.

The most picturesque and romantic government that exists in the world today—a government over whose affairs the world's press constantly hanges the danger of imprisonment and death, is that of the underground republic of Macedonia, a territory whose whose of outlaw in the domains of the Turkish Sultan as a pirate ship would be in this twentieth century on the high seas.

Here, in one of the most despotic countries on earth, has grown up a republic which has remained intact after that of the United States.

At the cost of thousands of lives and many more in the future, the republic is supported by every true Macedonian within the Sultan's domain. The government is a democracy, and in reality the power that governs Macedonia. All the armies of Turkey cannot destroy it, and the spies of the Sultan have not been able to ferret out its secrets. It is the great "underhand" that guides Macedonia.

The most picturesque and romantic government that exists in the world today—a government over whose affairs the world's press constantly hanges the danger of imprisonment and death, is that of the underground republic of Macedonia, a territory whose whose of outlaw in the domains of the Turkish Sultan as a pirate ship would be in this twentieth century on the high seas.

Here, in one of the most despotic countries on earth, has grown up a republic which has remained intact after that of the United States.

At the cost of thousands of lives and many more in the future, the republic is supported by every true Macedonian within the Sultan's domain. The government is a democracy, and in reality the power that governs Macedonia. All the armies of Turkey cannot destroy it, and the spies of the Sultan have not been able to ferret out its secrets. It is the great "underhand" that guides Macedonia.

The most picturesque and romantic government that exists in the world today—a government over whose affairs the world's press constantly hanges the danger of imprisonment and death, is that of the underground republic of Macedonia, a territory whose whose of outlaw in the domains of the Turkish Sultan as a pirate ship would be in this twentieth century on the high seas.

Here, in one of the most despotic countries on earth, has grown up a republic which has remained intact after that of the United States.

At the cost of thousands of lives and many more in the future, the republic is supported by every true Macedonian within the Sultan's domain. The government is a democracy, and in reality the power that governs Macedonia. All the armies of Turkey cannot destroy it, and the spies of the Sultan have not been able to ferret out its secrets. It is the great "underhand" that guides Macedonia.

The most picturesque and romantic government that exists in the world today—a government over whose affairs the world's press constantly hanges the danger of imprisonment and death, is that of the underground republic of Macedonia, a territory whose whose of outlaw in the domains of the Turkish Sultan as a pirate ship would be in this twentieth century on the high seas.

Here, in one of the most despotic countries on earth, has grown up a republic which has remained intact after that of the United States.

At the cost of thousands of lives and many more in the future, the republic is supported by every true Macedonian within the Sultan's domain. The government is a democracy, and in reality the power that governs Macedonia. All the armies of Turkey cannot destroy it, and the spies of the Sultan have not been able to ferret out its secrets. It is the great "underhand" that guides Macedonia.

Perhaps a small town plans to elect a new ruler. It may be that only a few hours before a number of messengers carry around the word to the men of the district. The word is that a meeting is at hand. It not infrequently occurs that one of the men advised of the meeting turns traitor, and the messenger knows it. He may tell the traitor that a spy of the Sultan learns the secret, and is off to the nearest Turkish town.

UNDERGROUND REPUBLIC.

Possibly the meeting is held behind the huge rocks of some mountain side. To this the villagers and peasants come from all over the district, but never in throngs. At the head of every approach to the meeting place are stationed one or two men. They look into the surrounding country, even outside the district, to watch the approach of the Sultan's army.

Once the crowd is assembled, the speeches are brief and to the point. The speaker is a man of great interest are presented to the people by those who favor a certain course. And others who would give the crowd a different vote are given the floor. After the result has been given, the men return to their homes and work.

Perhaps a small town plans to elect a new ruler. It may be that only a few hours before a number of messengers carry around the word to the men of the district. The word is that a meeting is at hand. It not infrequently occurs that one of the men advised of the meeting turns traitor, and the messenger knows it. He may tell the traitor that a spy of the Sultan learns the secret, and is off to the nearest Turkish town.

UNDERGROUND REPUBLIC.

Possibly the meeting is held behind the huge rocks of some mountain side. To this the villagers and peasants come from all over the district, but never in throngs. At the head of every approach to the meeting place are stationed one or two men. They look into the surrounding country, even outside the district, to watch the approach of the Sultan's army.

Once the crowd is assembled, the speeches are brief and to the point. The speaker is a man of great interest are presented to the people by those who favor a certain course. And others who would give the crowd a different vote are given the floor. After the result has been given, the men return to their homes and work.

Perhaps a small town plans to elect a new ruler. It may be that only a few hours before a number of messengers carry around the word to the men of the district. The word is that a meeting is at hand. It not infrequently occurs that one of the men advised of the meeting turns traitor, and the messenger knows it. He may tell the traitor that a spy of the Sultan learns the secret, and is off to the nearest Turkish town.

UNDERGROUND REPUBLIC.

Possibly the meeting is held behind the huge rocks of some mountain side. To this the villagers and peasants come from all over the district, but never in throngs. At the head of every approach to the meeting place are stationed one or two men. They look into the surrounding country, even outside the district, to watch the approach of the Sultan's army.

Once the crowd is assembled, the speeches are brief and to the point. The speaker is a man of great interest are presented to the people by those who favor a certain course. And others who would give the crowd a different vote are given the floor. After the result has been given, the men return to their homes and work.

Perhaps a small town plans to elect a new ruler. It may be that only a few hours before a number of messengers carry around the word to the men of the district. The word is that a meeting is at hand. It not infrequently occurs that one of the men advised of the meeting turns traitor, and the messenger knows it. He may tell the traitor that a spy of the Sultan learns the secret, and is off to the nearest Turkish town.

UNDERGROUND REPUBLIC.

Possibly the meeting is held behind the huge rocks of some mountain side. To this the villagers and peasants come from all over the district, but never in throngs. At the head of every approach to the meeting place are stationed one or two men. They look into the surrounding country, even outside the district, to watch the approach of the Sultan's army.

Once the crowd is assembled, the speeches are brief and to the point. The speaker is a man of great interest are presented to the people by those who favor a certain course. And others who would give the crowd a different vote are given the floor. After the result has been given, the men return to their homes and work.

Perhaps a small town plans to elect a new ruler. It may be that only a few hours before a number of messengers carry around the word to the men of the district. The word is that a meeting is at hand. It not infrequently occurs that one of the men advised of the meeting turns traitor, and the messenger knows it. He may tell the traitor that a spy of the Sultan learns the secret, and is off to the nearest Turkish town.

UNDERGROUND REPUBLIC.

Possibly the meeting is held behind the huge rocks of some mountain side. To this the villagers and peasants come from all over the district, but never in throngs. At the head of every approach to the meeting place are stationed one or two men. They look into the surrounding country, even outside the district, to watch the approach of the Sultan's army.

Once the crowd is assembled, the speeches are brief and to the point. The speaker is a man of great interest are presented to the people by those who favor a certain course. And others who would give the crowd a different vote are given the floor. After the result has been given, the men return to their homes and work.

boil the clothes. The easy way as well as
injurious to clothes and

Lever Brothers Limited
Toronto

HOW FUTURE KINGS
LEARN THEIR BUSINESS

boil the clothes. The easy way as well as
injurious to clothes and

Lever Brothers Limited
Toronto

HOW FUTURE KINGS
LEARN THEIR BUSINESS

boil the clothes. The easy way as well as
injurious to clothes and

Lever Brothers Limited
Toronto

HOW FUTURE KINGS
LEARN THEIR BUSINESS

boil the clothes. The easy way as well as
injurious to clothes and

Lever Brothers Limited
Toronto

HOW FUTURE KINGS
LEARN THEIR BUSINESS

boil the clothes. The easy way as well as
injurious to clothes and

Lever Brothers Limited
Toronto

HOW FUTURE KINGS
LEARN THEIR BUSINESS

Sunlight way is the best and least and hands. 1119

certain that with the trouble the Carr has had in securing a male addition to the family, his training for his future duties will be neglected in the slightest degree.—Count S. Delcon.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS
Clearing the air tubes and breathing

Sunlight way is the best and least and hands. 1119

certain that with the trouble the Carr has had in securing a male addition to the family, his training for his future duties will be neglected in the slightest degree.—Count S. Delcon.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS
Clearing the air tubes and breathing

Sunlight way is the best and least and hands. 1119

certain that with the trouble the Carr has had in securing a male addition to the family, his training for his future duties will be neglected in the slightest degree.—Count S. Delcon.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS
Clearing the air tubes and breathing

Sunlight way is the best and least and hands. 1119

certain that with the trouble the Carr has had in securing a male addition to the family, his training for his future duties will be neglected in the slightest degree.—Count S. Delcon.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS
Clearing the air tubes and breathing

Sunlight way is the best and least and hands. 1119

certain that with the trouble the Carr has had in securing a male addition to the family, his training for his future duties will be neglected in the slightest degree.—Count S. Delcon.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS
Clearing the air tubes and breathing

Brewery Purity.

The outward general appearance of a brewery is a true indication of the methods followed within.

A brewery is clean, tidy and always well stocked, murky corners, dusty shelves, kegs, etc., to be seen, as in common parlance.

It includes a perfect system of cold storage machinery for cleansing bottles and a large staff of skilled men devote their time to keeping everything spic and span.

It's Ale—accept no other, because no other.

ling's Ale

that's Always Pure

A Year of Conflagrations.

The year 1904 was a conflagration year breaking all previous records for property destroyed by fire, with an aggregate value of approximately $365,000,000. In no month has there been so much destruction as over the year 1905. It is true that a great increase was caused by a series of conflagrations in different sections of the United States and Canada, but that may be neglected when it is remembered that under conditions where responsibility for their existence quite generally rests upon important cities.

Among the causes contributing to the stupendous yearly fire loss is the rapid growth of the country, which increases the cost of maintenance. Fire permits were granted in 1904 by bureau of buildings in the borough of New York City for a total value of $27,780; in the same period permits were granted to make alterations estimated at $1,000,000. In Chicago, during 1904, the estimated cost of new buildings valued at $1,000,000 was granted amounting to $27,000,000. In New York city, the new buildings is reported as $45,120,000, or $5,000,000 more than in 1903. The buildings in Milwaukee in 1904, a notable cause among the smaller cities is New York City, where the value of the buildings where new buildings worth in the neighborhood of $7,000,000 are in course of construction or planned insurance-generating.

cheeks and lips—jovial spirits, increased weight and a clear brain was the result. I was cured of the suffering from the use of Ferrozine.

After reading the following letter from H. A. THURSTON, of 228 Vermont street, Minneapolis, Minn., you will never doubt the merit of Ferrozine:

"A year ago I took the grippe, and was as weak as a child. I was longer able to eat. My blood was the worst. My cheeks were white and hollow. I was unable to do any of my medical work, but none of them brought me any benefit. My friends said I was wasting away with some slow disease, and I believed them. I heard of a wonderful Ferrozine. After three days it gave me an appetite. I gained strength and became cheerful. Undoubtedly it cured me. I feel better today. I weigh fifteen pounds heavier than ever before, and feel like a new man."

"H. A. THURSTON.

The secret of growing strong is solved by Ferrozine. It supplies act and nourishment. It gives you up quickness and new energy. It cures the snap and fire of youth. Try Ferrozine, 50c per box, or six for $2.50 at dealers. Write to C. S. Hartford, Conn., N. C. and Kingston, Ont.

There Seems To Be No Case So
That Anti-Pill Cannot Cure It
A Strong Claim, but Well Supported.

Just recently a physician at Lincoln, Nebraska, has made a discovery which is exciting the interest and wonder of the medical profession all over the world.

Dr. Leonard began on the theory that the poisons sent through the system by the rotting and fermentation of undigested foods were the principal cause of nearly every disease, and he set himself to work to discover, if possible, a remedy that would stimulate and heal the mucous membrane lining of the stomach and bowels, and give the normal, healthy action, perfect digestion would be restored.

He succeeded, and his prescription he called Anti-Pill. The proof that his work was well done is found in the long list of remarkable cures made by Anti-Pill.

Anti-Pill is sold in a bottle, at C. Druggists, the Wilson-Frye Company, Limited, Niagara Falls, Ontario, and is the only medicine sold as Sole Agents for Canada.

[illegible]

1914.

ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL YEAR FOR

THE NORTHERN LIFE

INSURANCE CO.

Gain over last year

Insurance written.....	$1,231,589 00	159
Insurance in force.....	4,114,881 60	151
Premium income.....	378,498 53	105
Interest income.....	21,429 93	67
Total assets.....	486,949 15	197
Total assets.....	486,949 15	197
Government reserves.....	321,526 00	295
Management expenses	45,245 43 only 13

The policies issued by the Northern Life are so liberal that agents find difficulty in writing up applicants.

Liberal contracts to good agents.

Write for booklet describing different kinds of policies.

Head Office, London, Ont.

JOHN MILNE,
Managing Director

204-xt

OR E

er
ar.
%
%
%
%
%
%
%
rn
no

ent