How completely mildew has ruined the crop this year is shown by the fact that while the average output is 45,000,000 bottles in ordinary years, this year it will scarcely exceed 2,000,000 bottles. This, however, need not mean an immediate increase in the price of champagne, as the average sale is 36,000,000 oottles, and the surplus stock in the cellars is 112,000,000 bottles.
