

MAY NAME SIMS' SUCCESSOR TODAY

Three Men Are Prominently Mentioned For Board of Education Post.

Every effort will be made by the board of education at a special meeting today to appoint an attendance officer in succession to Marcus M. Sims, who resigned that position several weeks ago.

The board will consider the report of the sub-committee, which selected seven names from the full list of 28 applicants for the post to be further considered by the board as a whole.

Miss Dallas F. Radcliffe, assistant attendance officer, was not included by the committee in its preferred list and consequently a battle royal may ensue this afternoon.

The favorites with the committee are Thomas J. Holmes, bank messenger, and Edward G. Wood, clerk at the city hall, with Archie L. Siggins not far behind.

Externals repairs needed at the central college, pointing of the stone and brick work, will also be considered by the board.

A proposal to make certain repairs to a house owned by the board in the vicinity of Victoria public school, at present occupied as a barber shop, with a view to renting it as a residence on a long-term lease, will be taken up by the board.

Matters pertaining to the East London college may or may not be discussed, according to the time consumed in dealing with the other business coming before the board.

NEW LUTHERAN PASTOR TO BE ORDAINED SUNDAY

Rev. C. J. Killinger To Succeed Rev. M. J. Bruer at Trinity Church.

Rev. C. J. Killinger, graduate of Concordia seminary, St. Louis, Mo., will be ordained and installed as pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, north Richmond street, next Sunday morning, the service being conducted by Rev. F. Malinsky, Ayton, president of the Ontario district.

Mr. Killinger succeeds Rev. M. J. Bruer, who came to Trinity church four years ago, and who has resigned on account of ill-health. St. Peter's church is a strong congregation, having been organized and in operation for more than 50 years.

Trinity church, London, will miss the leadership given to it by Mr. Bruer, under whose energetic guidance the cause here has prospered and a new edifice built.

Mr. Bruer had a call to Trinity Lutheran church, Stratford, at the same time as the Port Colborne call. His induction will take place next Sunday, he having preached his farewell sermon here yesterday.

Seized Alcohol For Police Cars

Chief Birrell To Use Rubbing Alcohol in Radiators.

True economy is exercised in London's police court. Confiscated liquor is not disposed of by being emptied in the gutter. Bottles which contain a strong percentage of proof spirits are stored away until the winter months, then to be used as anti-freeze in the motor vehicles of the police department.

Numerous bottles of rubbing alcohol are being kept by Chief of Police Robert Birrell to be poured into radiators at the first sign of cold weather. Should the supply of rubbing alcohol become exhausted before springtime, quantities of synthetic gin will then be used. Both beverages make excellent anti-freeze solutions, the chief declares.

ADDITION TO TEMPLE IS GOING UP RAPIDLY

Steel Work For Masons' Building To Be Made by Sarnia Company.

Splendid progress is being made with the enlargement and improvements to the Masonic temple building on Queen's avenue. Harry Hayman & Co., general contractors, have sublet the contract for the steel work to the Sarnia Bridge Company, which concern did the steel work on the original building.

Ben Noble & Co. will get at the heating and plumbing later on, and the whole contract is expected to be completed about October 1 at a cost of approximately $25,000.

When completed under the direction of William G. Murray, architect, the temple will be one of the most up-to-date buildings of its kind in Ontario, and will provide excellent accommodation for the purposes for which it is intended.

LOWER SCHOOL LISTS RECEIVED

Pupils of London South Collegiate Pass in Number of Subjects.

Results of the departmental examinations for lower school entrance to normal schools for the South London collegiate institute as forwarded to Principal E. A. Miller, M.A., are given below.

Nine subjects in all, Canadian history, geography, art, botany, English grammar, physiology, arithmetic, zoology and Latin grammar, constitute the full lower school examination. The first four named subjects are usually taken and written off by the pupils at the end of the first year, while the latter five are regularly written off at the end of the second year.

Thus the number of subjects written on by any individual student varies from one to five, six or more subjects each year. Space does not permit of indicating after each student's name the subjects he or she was successful in passing, and thus the list given below indicates that the candidate was successful in obtaining the necessary standing, 50 per cent, in an unsatisfactory number of subjects. Certificates are being mailed to the students concerned.

ican public, is dead.

The end came yesterday afternoon while the commoner was sleeping in the house of Richard Rogers, who had been assigned him during his stay here, when he came for the Scopes trial. Dr. W. F. Thompson and Dr. A. C. Boyles, who examined the body, stated that death was caused by a hemorrhage of the brain, resulting in apoplexy. He was 65 years old.

Arlington Cemetery.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed early today, but Bryan indicated burial would be in Arlington cemetery, as Mr. Bryan, who was a colonel in the Spanish-American war, several times had expressed a desire to be buried there.

The commoner had been living under a strenuous program since he came here three weeks ago to assist in the prosecution of John T. Scopes, a found guilty of violation of Tennessee's anti-evolution law. He appeared in excellent health, however, and was planning to launch a great campaign this week in behalf of fundamentalism.

Mrs. Bryan, who has been an invalid a number of years, bravely stood the shock of her husband's unexpected death. "I am happy that my husband died without suffering and in peace," she said.

Lead in Prayer.

Immediately after reaching here from Chattanooga yesterday, the sister of Mrs. J. C. Judd, died this morning at the home of his Honor Judge Judd, 307 Hildout street south, following a long illness.

Funeral services will be held at Judge Judd's residence on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Before her marriage, Mrs. Popley was Emma May Purnam, eldest daughter of the late F. W. and Charlotte Purnam. She was born in Pickering township of the county of York, but moved to this city when she was two years old with her parents.

Educated in this city, Mrs. Popley was an accomplished music teacher, and for several years was organist of the Wellington street Methodist church. She married Henry F. Popley, son of ex-Ald Jesse W. Popley, who predeceased her several years.

Her father was for many years superintendent of the Elliott and Son Manufacturing Company here.

One son, Lorne A. Popley, of this city, and one sister, Mrs. J. C. Judd, wife of Judge J. C. Judd, survive her.

back to me."—Comment after defeat of 1920 dry plank.

—From his last speech, made at Winchester, Tenn., Saturday.

"There never was a year since my first nomination in which I could not have made a million had I taken the side of privilege and favoritism."

—Comment in 1923 regarding rumors that he was a millionaire.

HEARTBROKEN, SAYS POTTER.

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, July 27.—William Jennings Bryan's own testimony at the Dayton evolution trial resulted in "the breaking of his heart," the Rev. Dr. Charles F. Potter, retiring pastor of the West Side Unitarian church, who went to Dayton to testify as a modernist, but was not allowed to use the stand, tonight said tonight.

"Mr. Bryan was a great man, who lived in a world of his own imagination, but that world had long since gone," he said.

The death warrant for Mr. Bryan."
