

A simple, smart street frock of green French flannel

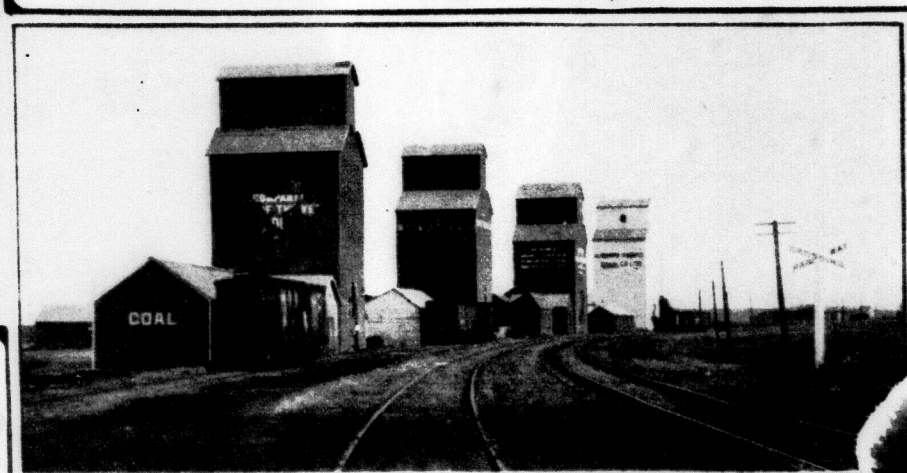

Athens, Greece, where much excitement recently prevailed because of the threat of war in the Balkans

Three guesses — what is it? It's the world's largest lighthouse lens, magnifying light a million times, for use on the United States Atlantic coast

Signs in Southwark, England, advising pedestrians, especially children, where to cross the street

Elevators at Innisfree, Alberta

Traffic practice in a Chicago kindergarten

One of the newest of the winter hats

Once upon a time there lived a little princess and two little princes. Left to right: the Duke of York, Princess Mary, and the Prince of Wales

Happy fisher girls at Yarmouth, England

Birdseye Center's most enthusiastic radio fan

Mountain sheep in the Canadian Rockies

Irene Palastley-Bartsch, noted Hungarian actress now appearing in New York

Bud Fisher, creator of "Mutt and Jeff," and his bride, Countess de Beaumont

A rose pink charmeuse coat frock