Witness owned 560 shares in the company, but he refused to say how much money he put in the enterprise. He would not listen to Mr. Armstreng's proposal of forming a new syndicate because Mr. MacDonald had then the enterprise in hand. In an interview Mr. MacDonald told him he would not follow the metter any more e would not follow the matter any more. ne would not follow the matter any more. Subsequently Armstrong called upon him. He turned Armstrong over to Mr. Thom, stating that if he could make any arrangement with him he would be satisfied. Witmest with him he would be satisfied. The ness then met MacDonald at the Windsor, where MacDonald said he was out of the Baie des Chaleurs Railway. Mr. Thom made arrangements with Armstrong and the works were begun. Witness made the works were begun. Witness made himself sure by sending Mr. Lonergan on the road to see that Armstrong was doing his duty, for he wanted to be satisfied as to the intention of the man. Mr. Laflamme went also down to examine the works. was to get $75,000. He met Pa-caud in Montreal, but he did not speak to him of this business, nor did he ever speak to him of the business, but he knew that Armstrong had used Pacaud a year or two before to negotiate, with the Covern aware that Armstrong that Armstrong had used Pacaud a year or two before to negotiate with the Government. Witness became aware that Armstrong was working to get the new contract through an intermediary some two years ago. He did not know who it was. MacDonald asked witness what intermet he would give him in the company. Witness told him he could not make him a director. The Board of Directors was complete, but he would give an interest in the scheme for the years ago. He did not know who it was. MacDonald asked witness what interest he would give an interest in the scheme to the amount of $150,000. MacDonald had no money, as he had his funds locked up in money, as he had his funds locked up in the Temiscouata Railway. Witness wanted to have a good practical man with him.

Witness was then examined by Mr. Hall and by Mr. Amyot. Witness knew of no corrupt bargain between the Government. corrupt bargain between the Government and Armstrong. Mr. Mercier told him in Montreal that he was much pressed by time Montreal that he was much pressed by time and if he put this request in writing he (Mr. Mercier) would attend to it. His contractor told him (witness) that the work on the road was progressing, the only delay was in the bridges. The bonds of the railway at the time he became president of the railway were worth about 20c.

Mr. Legare, inspector of the Caisse de Economic, produced the deposit slip of the sum deposited in the bank by Mr. Mercier's secretary. The deposit was made by check drawn on the Banque Jacque Cartier of The Count's Private Secretary.

Mr. Alexander Clement, private secretary, testified that the slip was made by him March 10. It was a check on Mr. Mercier's private account on the Banque Jacque Cartier, Montreal. The stubs read: "Deposit to cover the balance of $4000."
Witness received a letter, dated March 10, from Mr. Marcoux, informing him that the bank would keep an account open for Mr. Mercier if he wanted to deposit any money. Mr. Clement answered Mr. Marcoux that a deposit would be made the same day or the day after the messenger had been given the money. Subsequently Mr. Clement re-ceived word in New York that the $4000
