

ARTICLE IX.—ESSAYS, DISCUSSIONS, &c.

SECT. 1.—All essays and communications, read before the Society, shall become the property of the Society; and shall be regularly endorsed and filed by the Secretary.

SECT. 2.—The President shall be empowered to prevent any member from speaking more than once on the same subject, until an opportunity shall have been afforded to other gentlemen present of expressing their opinions.

SECT. 3.—None but members shall be allowed to take part in any discussion, unless invited by the President.

ARTICLE X.—VISITORS.

SECT. 1.—Every member shall have the privilege of introducing visitors to the meetings of the Society during the transaction of scientific business; but, none but members of the Society shall be allowed to be present during the transaction of general business.

SECT. 2.—Members wishing to introduce non-medical visitors, must first obtain the sanction of the President.

SECT. 3.—Medical students may attend any particular meeting, during the transaction of scientific business, by permission of the President.

ARTICLE XI.

The Constitution and By-Laws of the Society shall not be repealed, added to, or amended, unless by a two-third vote of the members present at the meeting at which the proposed alteration &c. shall be submitted—a notice of the proposed alteration, &c. being given at the meeting next preceding that on which action is taken thereon.
