

We have ever been holding to the ONE purpose of building a Piano of signal distinction, an instrument which should win the acclaim of the entire musical world. No materials used in Piano making are too good to go into the Mason & Risch, and any process that tends to elevate quality and tone permanency is rigidly pursued in every phase of its construction. It is an instrument of highest scientific development, of super-excellence in its entirety. Piano building can offer nothing better—and probably NEVER will!
