CURRENT TRADE CONDITIONS.

ONTARIO.

With one exception the outlook for the lumber trade is of the brightest character. That exception is the possibility of labor troubles in one or two of the larger cities of the province. Whether the present difficulties will be amicably arranged is a matter of much uncertainty, but with this obstacle removed there will doubtless be a large amount of building throughout the province. The demand for lumber during March was considerably greater than in the previous month. The heavy buying by United States concerns has continued. It is estimated by one who recently visited Georgian Bay manufacturing points that the greater portion of the coming season's production has already been contracted for. This is probably correct, inasmuch as the possible production has been reduced by the early breaking up of logging operations. In addition to the shortage in the quantity of logs that will reach the streams, it is probable that there will be low water for driving and that many logs that have been successfully banked will not reach the mills.
The weather conditions of this spring work seem to have removed all prospects of lower prices for white pine during this year, and it would not be surprising if there should be a material appreciation in some grades. Even if the British market should continue depressed, there will be no difficulty in marketing all the lumber manufactured, as a considerable shortage in the production of the United States is predicted. Hardwoods have at last followed the course of white pine and are showing improvement. The buying is of a character which augurs well for the future. Dealers report no difficulty in effecting sales. One dealer who took the road for a couple of days ostensibly for the purpose of getting in touch with the situation reports that he was given orders for several carloads of hardwoods.
The more sanguine ones predict that there will be a decided shortage in hardwood lumber during the year, as dry stocks are not large and the production of logs last winter was much below the average, perhaps not more than one-half that of 1900. In a certain section of the Warton district where three million feet of hardwood logs were taken out one year ago, not more than one million was cut the past winter. In quality, however, the logs are better than usual. There is a good demand for cedar and hemlock, of which the stock is light. Hemlock readily brings $9.50 at the mills. White pine shingles and lath are practically out of the market and buyers have almost given up searching for them. Hemlock shingles are bringing $2.40 and $2.50 at the mill.

QUEBEC AND NEW BRUNSWICK.

In order to take advantage of the exceptionally low freight rates now ruling, a considerable quantity of deals has been shipped to England by the regular liners from St. John to Halifax. Accordingly, the small wintering stocks at these ports and on the Miramichi will be almost depleted by the opening of navigation, and the first open water shipments are likely to be lighter than usual. The market for spruce deals is likely to be firm through the spring months at least, and the early breaking up of winter cannot but have the effect of strengthening prices. The present indications are that the stock of logs which will reach the mills will not be sufficient for the season's requirements and will bring about a reduction in the lumber output. It is expected that large shipments will this year be made to South America, France and Germany. There will be considerable activity this season in square and wane timber, as it is estimated that the cut during the past winter was considerably greater than usual. There continues to be a good demand for clapboards and shingles for shipment to the Eastern States.

MANITOWA AND BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Building operations in Winnipeg are starting off with a boom, and promise to be more brisk than for some years.
Architects have plans in hand for many important buildings, including one to be built by Lord Strathcona which will cost about $150,000 and will require nearly one million feet of lumber. The extent of the lumber demand, however, will be to some extent in proportion to the movement of wheat. At the present time immense quantities of wheat have not been moved and elevators are being built to accommodate the surplus of last season's record crop. Prices of lumber and shingles are unchanged, although an advance in the price of British Columbia fir flooring and some lines of British Columbia cedar lumber is talked of. The lumber trade of British Columbia is quite
