The Toronto Mayoralty.

And it came to pass in the time when James Beatty jr., was Member for West Toronto, that behold a new Mayor was needed, and it was so that heretofore the Mayor was elected because he was a man of sound principle, and of good understanding; yea, also because of his honesty and integrity, and because he had the fear of the people before his eyes, and because he had the welfare of the city at heart. But now gathered together many of the tribe called Tories, not they who were men of sound principle, but them of evil heart; the offscourings and soun of the tribe, the men called wire-pullers, and they called street-corner politicians. And at their head were placed men who regarded not their fellow-men, excepting as they could be made subservient to their own evil ends, also be tools in their hands to further their personal aggrandizment. And they said unto themselves, "Shall the man who is of good repute, and whom the people have chosen be our next Mayor? Not so, for then shall we not be able to do even as we shall see sit; we shall not be able to control the money of the City, neither shall our tribe be favoured in the matter of offices. Then choose they from among their number one to Boss the job, (for it was the greatest job of the day,) and his name was ever after Boss, Bunting. And chose they also men to do the other work, the wire-pulling, the packing of conventions, and all the dirty work for there was much of such to do. And behold conventions were held, and as their purposes were evil. and their body politic corrupt, they chose for Mayor one from among them who was absolutely reeking with corruption. And it was only by "Close" packing that they got even their Convention to accept him, for his reputation was so vile that even such base men found it exceeding difficult to support him, and it was only by the utmost exertions of the Boss that he was at length put forth. And this man's name was known throughout the length and breadth of the land, because of the Pacific Railway Commission, and because of the Section B. Con tracts. And as of the tribe of Tories, so of the tribe of Grits; but they supported a man of good reputation because of his uprightness aforetime. Yet was the principle bad; rotten to the core; ridiculous because of its excessive foolishness, yet pernicious because of its ex-treme dangerousness. And it was condemned by every good man, and received the censure of the wise; yea so much so that each party tried to fasten the responsibility upon the other, but the people know that both were equally bad.
