

OPPORTUNITIES ABROAD

This is an excerpt from What in the World is Going On? published by the Canadian Bureau for International Education (CBIC).

This is the first in a series of foreign organizations abroad. We will be looking at International Organizations, Canadian-based Organizations and Foreign-based Organizations over the next three issues of Liaison. We hope this information will help direct your efforts and interests in finding meaningful work opportunities, paid or voluntary, while abroad.

UNITED NATIONS AGENCIES

Canadians interested in technical assistance work in developing countries through the UN may apply directly to particular agencies. Often, however, these agencies prefer to receive candidacies through the intermediary of the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA). CIDA maintains an inventory of interested Canadians to be nominated as vacancies arise. Contact:
