JUSTICE AND THE SOLICITOR GENERAL--SEVENTH REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE

Mr. Bob Horner (Mississauga West): Mr. Speaker, I also have the honour to present the seventh report of the Standing Committee on Justice and the Solicitor General, in both official languages.

If the House gives its consent, I intend to move concurrence of the report this day also.

PUBLIC ACCOUNTS--NINTH REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE

Mr. Len Hopkins (Renfrew--Nipissing--Pembroke): Mr. Speaker, I have the honour to present the ninth report of the Standing Committee on Public Accounts. In so doing, I would like to make the following remarks.

The ninth report of the Standing Committee on Public Accounts, which I have the honour to table today, relates to serious weaknesses in financial management and control in the Department of External Affairs. In particular, the department has failed properly to control accountable advances to employees to such an extent that approximately $25 million in advances were outstanding on March 31, 1990. These advances to employees relate to a variety of purposes including vacation leave, family reunion travel, educational travel, medical travel, et cetera.
