The Artist and History
What flesh is to the skeleton, what relief is to a map—that art is to history.
F. M. Dumond in his Paris Salon Picture.
'Columbus at Salamanca' clothes the discoverer of the new world with a personality. Columbus lives for you when you look at this life-size group, has character, determination, manly courage that sets him above his judges; judges of narrow ideas and superstition bound intellect.
The painting, while great as art, is no less valuable as history visualized. Bring your children, to see it when you can.
