Roosevelt Able to Leave Hospital After Bullet Had Been Extracted

Henry F. Cochems, one of the Wisconsin Progressive leaders, told the great crowd which had assembled in the auditorium that Col. Roosevelt had been shot, and asked the people to be calm.

The shooting took place in the street in front of the Hotel Gilpatrick. Col. Roosevelt reached Milwaukee shortly after 5 o'clock, and making his way through the crowd which had gathered at the station, entered an automobile and was driven to the hotel.

After dinner Col. Roosevelt went to his room on the second floor of the hotel, and shortly before 8 o'clock he started for the auditorium. His automobile stood in front of the door and about it was a big crowd, waiting to catch a glimpse of the colonel as he started out.

Mr. Martin caught the flash and leaped over the car a second after the bullet sped on its way.

Col. Roosevelt barely moved as the shot was fired. Before the crowd knew what had happened Martin, who is six feet tall and a former football player, had landed squarely on the would-be assassin's shoulders and had borne him to the ground.

Col. Roosevelt stood calmly looking on. He was not hurt. He was not even scratched. He was not even shaken. He was not even frightened.

Wild Burst of Cheers. A sigh of relief went up from the crowd and down the avenue of tumultuous cheering. Throly reassured by the colonel's action that he was in no serious danger, the people settled back into their seats to hear his speech.

Assailant New York Man. In the meantime, hidden away in an inner room in the police station, Col. Roosevelt's assailant was being subjected to a rigid examination. He is now being held in a cell.

McGrath's Discovery. They had driven hardly one of the four blocks from the hotel to the auditorium when John McGrath, former Col. Roosevelt's secretary, saw a man who he recognized as the assassin.

Col. Roosevelt looked down, saw the hole, then he looked up at the big brown coat which he was wearing and thrust his hand beneath it. When he withdrew it, his fingers were stained with blood.

GEARY IS APPOINTED CORPORATION COUNSEL

Has Been Thru Mill. "Mayor Geary," he said, "has a lot in his favor. To start off he has been thru the mill. He is a public ownership man and he has acquired all the knowledge which is necessary."

Eight Thousand a Year. Aid. Weston moved an amendment to the effect that the mayor be appointed corporation counsel at a salary of $8000 a year, and that he be introduced to ratify the appointment.

According to Ald. Astor it was a bad principle to appoint a member of council to any civic position, and he did not think the practice should be carried on in this instance.

Nothing Has Been Done. "I assume," he said, "that the mayor was an applicant for the position, and since that time nothing has been done. If this were the case he would think it his duty to resign."
