Czar Gives His Troops Duty to Conscience and People Why He Accepts Peace

Explains to "Self Sacrificing Army, So Dear to Me" That Giving Up Half of a Remote Island is for Their Sake.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 3.—The emperor on Friday telegraphed the following to Gen. Linewich:
"The negotiations at Portsmouth led on Aug. 19 to a refusal of the demands of the Japanese government regarding the cession of the island of Sakhalin, the payment of a war indemnity, the surrender of our ships lying in neutral harbors, and the installation of our forces in the waters of the Pacific Ocean. After further negotiations, Japan on Aug. 23 yielded all our conditions, but asked for the return of that portion of Sakhalin occupied by Japanese troops, which is the part held by the Japanese until 1915 and then ceded by treaty to Russia."

Victory So Near.
"The self-sacrificing army, so dear to me, will not allow the emperor to step by step during nineteen months, obstinately repelling the Japanese, under your leadership the army was re-organized and strengthened by the arrival of troops from Russia, and is now greater in numbers and stronger than before. It was not only prepared to ward off the enemy, but also to inflict upon him an important defeat."

I and all Russia believe in the strength of my glorious army, and its readiness to sacrifice for the good of the fatherland, but my duty to my conscience and to the people entrusted to me by God compels me not to again put to the test the valor of Russian men so dear to my heart, and not to expose them to unnecessary horrors of a remote island which Japan ceded to us in 1875, and I have therefore accepted the preliminary peace conditions.

Valor and Sacrifice.
"The Russian troops have repeatedly proved during this sanguinary conflict their valor and sacrifice, and I am proud of my dear army. May it know that I and all Russia value the sacrifices which it has made in this severe war."

RESERVES LEAVE MID RIOTING
TEN PEOPLE KILLED, 50 HURT
Lilau, Sept. 3.—The departure of reservists Saturday night was marked by socialistic rioting, in which ten persons were killed and fifty wounded. The agitators fired from a house upon the military, who replied with a volley. The cavalry then charged, using their sabres on the rioters.

LOOKS LIKE HIM, BUT—
LETTERS WOULD SHOW THAT HUGHES OF FENWICK IS DEAD.
Niagara Falls, N.Y., Sept. 3.—(Special)—The body of a man, which was proved to be that of Daniel Hughes of Fenwick, Ont., was taken from the lower Niagara river this morning. The body had been in the water some time.

On Aug. 26 last F. E. Hunsberger, a newspaper editor, received a letter from Fenwick, Ont., evidently written by Hughes in this city. It stated that he intended to go to Fenwick in the morning. The description tallies fairly well with the body taken from the river today.

LABOR'S MIGHT AND GLORY WILL BE ON PARADE TO-DAY

Long Columns, Bashing Uniforms, Interesting Floats and Many Labor Men, the Features—The Route.

Labor is king to-day. Once every year the laboring man comes out in all the glory of banners, badges, gaily bedecked floats, and many bands. For many years citizens' day at the exhibition has been enhanced by the labor parade, for which Toronto unionism has become justly famous. Former parades have been grand. Today's parade will be "grand still." Such is the opinion of the officers in charge who find the members of the hundred or so unions more interested than ever in the event. Great rivalry has sprung up among the unions, as shown by the keen interest taken when the lots were drawn for positions a few days ago. The judges will have some difficulty in selecting the best looking union in the big column that will take hours to pass a given point.

Early this morning the sections will gather in various parts and then they will go to Queen's Park. The start will be made from there at 11 o'clock and pass along the following route:
Queen's Park
Grosvenor-street
Yonge
Queen
Dufferin
Exhibition grounds.
The seven sections which have several bands, and with the many floats, almost every branch of labor having one, will make a display that will draw enormous crowds as on former occasions.
The various unions will disperse at the gates of the exhibition, with the exception of the officers, who will lead the many floats in a procession around the grounds.
The Labor Temple has been like a beehive for several days past, and the last finishing touches were put upon the parade Saturday.
The parade will be much more orderly, and, therefore, more spectacular to-day, on account of the arrangements with the Toronto Board of Police, which will not interfere as on former occasions. The police preparations are perfected, and the route of the parade, etc., will not be permitted to cut the line of march.

Prince Extends Appreciation to Cities He Has Visited.
Ottawa, Sept. 3.—(Special)—The following message has been received by the governor general from Prince Louis of Battenberg:
"Quebec, Sept. 2.—Just returned with my men, Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa and Toronto have vied with each other in the warmth and splendor of the reception of the officers and men who have been so fortunate as to represent the navy, and who will never forget their most memorable journey."
"All classes of Canadians have given proof of their deep and inborn sympathy for the navy and its work in peace and war."
"I beg your excellency to convey our most heartfelt thanks to the inhabitants of these four cities."
"Our only regret is that time did not permit of our visiting that promising west, where I am confident we would have met with an equally warm reception." (Signed) Louis Battenberg.

VISIT OF THE 74th

Buffalo Regiment Returning From St. James' Cathedral on King Street

3 RAILWAY VICTIMS AT LONDON MAN AND WOMAN DIE TOGETHER

London, Sept. 2.—(Special)—Three people were killed on the rail here to-day. The life of one of them, John P. McGuire, went out in the early morning. McGuire, who was 22 years old, was walking on the Pere Marquette tracks about 4 o'clock in the morning, when he was run down by an extra freight. He lived for an hour, and said he did not hear the train coming. An inquest has been ordered.
The other accident was a double one. James E. Vadden, a C.P.R. fireman of this city, and his step daughter-in-law, Mrs. Dean of Blenheim Junction, were the victims. Vadden was going his work west of the city during the day, and using his small car for the evening took Mrs. Dean for a pleasure trip. When near Melrose, rain began to fall in torrents, and Vadden sent his car citywards at full speed.
A light engine had been sent out from London in charge of Engineer P. Rodgers for cars at Cardo, and met the motor car. It is believed that Vadden did not see the engine approaching. The storm was especially heavy, and knowing that no trains were due at Cardo, he turned the car around and the collision was a terrific one. Both occupants of the car were instantly killed. Vadden was thrown clear of the truck with a gash in his forehead and both legs broken. Mrs. Dean's body was run over and partially mangled. Vadden was about 48 years of age and Mrs. Dean 22. She has been married only three weeks. Her husband is present on a sailing trip on Lake Erie, and it has been impossible to advise him of the fatality.

MISS ALBERTA'S BIRTHDAY MANY WILL PAY HER HONOR

After To-Day's Inaugural at Regina, Duty of Forming Government Will Be Imposed.
Regina, N.W.T., Sept. 3.—(Special)—With promise of glorious weather, the success of Saskatchewan's inauguration celebration is practically assured. To-night Regina is in fête with the streets gay with festooned bunting and triumphal arches. The city probably has never known so busy a Sunday. The party was attended by a special train of mounted police arrived from Edmonton, and perhaps no finer and better mounted body of men has ever been collected in the Northwest. Almost before the horses were unloaded and a body guard formed, the vice-regal party came in on three special cars attached to the Imperial Limited. Among the party were Earl Grey, Lord-Joy, Forster, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. William Patterson and Sir Gilbert Paull. Lady Grey is en route west and will join the party in the morning.
Directly after the inaugural ceremonies the lieutenant-governors of the two new provinces will call on gentlemen to form provisional governments and thus terminate the existing constitutional interim.

INVITATION FOR 'BOYS IN BLUE' TORONTO EXTENDS GLAD HAND

Unique Spectacle of U.S. Troops Parading City Streets Witnessed by Many Thousands.

Toronto may never allow any spot in the empire to show itself more truly loyal to the old flag, but at the same time the loyalty isn't so bigoted that it cannot extend a genuine welcome to representatives of a foreign state. To entertain within a few days a detachment of true blue soldiers from the Royal Navy and regiment from Uncle Sam's militia forces, and give them all a good time and a rousing cheer isn't an ordinary occurrence.

And so, Saturday and Sunday, while over 600 National Guardsmen marched the city's streets and the stars and stripes flattered proudly in the breeze, the crowds were generous with applause and cheers and the many hosts, the Queen's Own Rifles, provided an escort that any on earth would have envied.

So far as the public is concerned, the chief feature of the visit of the Buffalo soldiers was the march parade yesterday. With cockades waving and spiked helmets awaying, the Queen's Own Rifles and regiment from Uncle Sam's militia forces, and give them all a good time and a rousing cheer isn't an ordinary occurrence.

And so, Saturday and Sunday, while over 600 National Guardsmen marched the city's streets and the stars and stripes flattered proudly in the breeze, the crowds were generous with applause and cheers and the many hosts, the Queen's Own Rifles, provided an escort that any on earth would have envied.

PERSIA RUNS AGROUND STAYS STUCK TO HOURS

Mile Out From Brockville When Captain Gets Mixed Up in Darkness.
Brockville, Sept. 3.—(Special)—Passengers on the propeller Persia, which pulled out of here shortly before midnight last night, bound for Toronto, had an exciting experience. The boat had not proceeded more than a mile when she became stranded on a shoal to the south of Refugee Island, at the foot of the Thousand Island group. The night was densely dark, and to add to the discomfort, rain fell in torrents and a strong east wind prevailed, to which the steamer was exposed.
She ran high and dry on the rocks before the engines could be checked, and all efforts to work her off were futile. The boat was stuck fast amidships and could not be moved. An examination showed she was not leaking, and although a heavy sea rolled, she stood it well until daylight, when the tug, Protector, of Hall & Co.'s coal fleet, passing with a tow of barges, went to her assistance. The tug was unable to pull her off, and after laboring for upwards of three hours, the Persia was released. She was towed to the wharf by the tug, and the passengers remained aboard. With the exception of a few who took passage to Toronto, the boat was towed to the wharf by the tug, and the passengers remained aboard.
