Midsummer Specials--On Sale Monday.

No mid-summer dulness at this store. We see to it that business is kept brisk during the usually quiet months. Just now departments are bristling with gainful opportunities-interesting enough to attract the attention of buyers far and near. Next week we intend to make things fairly hum with busy trade. In addition to the prominence we shall give to Early Closing inducements, we have decided to cut deep into prices of summer goods—the things you're most likely to need right now. Already departments are clamoring for more room to place new goods which are commencing to pour in on us. Only one recourse—get rid of the goods we have on hand. Monday we set the wheels in motion to that end. This is what comes to the surface for the day:---
