Mr. Casey's Bill Passes the House Minus the Compensation Clause - Sir Charles Tupper's Grievance.

Ottawa, May 10 .- In the House of Commons yesterday, Sir Charles Tupper moved the adjournment of the house in order to deny the accuracy of a report sent from Ottawa to the Halifax Chronicle that Mr. Wm. Farwell had stated before the Drummond County Railway investigating committee that he (Sir Charles) had written a letter to Mr. Pope, M.P., before the elections of 1896, offering to buy the road for $2,500,000 if his party were returned to power. Sir Charles said the same correspondent had reported the eeting for the Toronto Globe and the Halifax Chronicle. The Globe's report was fair, so that the correspondent knew he was falsifying the evidence when he wired his report to the Chronicle. Sir Wilfrid Laurier made it plain that the opposition leader acknowledged the fairness of the Globe report, and advised him to appear before the Drummond County committee and deny any other press reports to which he took exception.

Sir Charles--I propose to ask the ommittee to call me to give evidence. This statement in the Chronicle in reference to myself is simply false; there is not a particle of foundation for it. A general discussion ensued as to the accuracy or the inaccuracy of press refair to good, $4 75 to $5; culls, $4 25 to ports sent out from Ottawa, Mr. Davin being amongst the loudest to complain of misrepresentation. Mr. Lister drew the attention of the Conservative members to the sins of their own press in this respect. Mr. Foster was fair enough to state, on information which had meantime been conveyed to him, that the evidence was not taken down, or the Globe report written by the correspondent of the Chronicle, and that the latter, upon discovering that an error had been made, immediately telegraphed his paper, correcting whatever inaccurate statements had been made.

In reply to Mr. Wallace, the premier said an agent would be appointed to enforce the alien labor law in Toronto. Mr. Bergeron was informed by Mr. Blair that the sum of $2,257,080 had been spent up to date on the construction of the Soulanges Canal.

Mr. Wallace was told that the legal agents of the Canadian Government in Great Britain are Messrs. It was an extraordinary bill for as when he moved the six months' many reasons. The government had brought down a bill to provide for the construction of an all-Canadian route into the Yukon, but the senate had rejected that bill. That road would, if built, have retained to Canada the control of the Yukon country. Senator Lougheed, in advocating the Hamilton Smith offer, proposed to hand over the means of ingress to the country and the control of the trade to people who were not Canadians. It was true the majority of the senate had refused to assist in the construction of an all-Canadian road, as the government proposed, but he did not think the senate would commit itself to a proposition calculated to favor the annexation of a portion of Canadian territory to the United States. As a minister of the crown and a British subject he was utterly opposed to this pro-American scheme. He was a Liberal, but he was also a loyal British subject. The construction of this railway would kill any possibility of an all-Canadian road being built and would build up the coast towns now in the possession of the United States. Every vote recorded in favor of this bill was a vote against Canadian interests and in favor of the United States. He Hon. The minister of justice announced that the government, in deciding to issue free miners' licenses at the Yukon boundary, has done so upon the prom ise of concessions from the United States Government in return.
