Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

The Nicest Way.

Dear Miss Grey.—I. How do you remove ink stains off a white linen tablecloth?

2. What would be the nicest way for a girl of 14 to do her hair?

3. How do you remove ink stains off a flowered voile dress?

4. What do you think of my writing? COUNTRY COUSINS.

Ans.—1. Wet the spot with clear water, cover with salt of lemon and leave for ten or fifteen minutes, then rinse once or twice, and repeat if necessary.

2. Parted in the middle, and a be-ribboned braid or curl at the back.

3. Do not think it can be done without fading the flowers to some extent. Try soaking the stain in buttermilk or sour milk, changing it as the color draws out. This answers nicely for some kinds of ink.

4. It is very legible.

Chums Will Help.

Dear Miss Grey.—Will you please send me the address of the lonely soldiers, and two sailors' addresses if you have them. An enclosing stamped addressed envelope for same. Now, Miss Grey, don't think I am going to try and look after all these boys myself. I have some girl friends who are willing to help.

Could you please tell me how to clean a Panama hat? What can I use to make my teeth come white?

A DAUGHTER OF THE EMPIRE.

Ans.—Shall send you what addresses I can. It is very nice for you and your friends to join in sending a bit of cheer to these lads.

For your hat try peroxide. Pour a little into a saucer, with a rag or small brush apply to the hat, a small space at a time, wiping off after with a cloth squeezed out of clear water. Go carefully all over the hat's surface in order not to leave it spotted.

2. Precipitated chalk is good, but do not forget that your teeth should be cleaned by a dentist once or twice a year.

"Toasting" the Bride.

Dear Miss Grey.—A friend of mine was bridesmaid at a wedding. When they sat down to the wedding supper, the bride and groom, of course, sat between the bridesmaid and the bridegroom. The bridesmaid was to toast the bride and groom, who was the bridesmaid to click her glass with? Or was she supposed to click her glass with anybody? Or should they remain seated? I am 16 years old, and have passed my lower school. Am I far enough advanced in my school work?

Ans.—1. The bridesmaid and groomsmen rise with the rest of the company when the toast is proposed. As it would obviously be rather difficult to "click" glasses over the bride's and groom's heads, better to simply go through the motions and pretend one has "clicked." It matters little, only care should be taken not to baptize either of the happy pair with "the toast."

2. You're getting on nicely, "Peggy," and I am proud of you.

Answer for "In Haste."

"In Haste."—If you wish my frank opinion it is this: That your friend would be very foolish to take any such step. The class of person who would answer such an advertisement might be far from desirable. Should advise instead the adopting of a small girl, who would prove most interesting company. What is your opinion?

Whooping Cough Cures.

The mother reader who wished for cures for whooping cough may be pleased to hear that I have located the ginger and cream cure, also one or two others, which are published here-with:

Mix one-quarter cup of brown sugar with one-quarter cup of sweet cream, and stir in about one-half teaspoon of ginger. Of course, you would not want it too strong for a very young child.

Another—For children with whooping cough I don't think there is anything better than a syrup made from dried chestnut leaves. These can be had in any drug store for 10 cents a package. Give four or five times a day, or whenever a spell comes on.

And here's another—To one quart of home-made syrup (cold), add 5 cents' worth of oil of peppermint, 5 cents' worth of oil of aniseed, 5 cents' worth of laudanum, 5 cents' worth of syrup of squills, and a little blackstrap.

HINTS FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

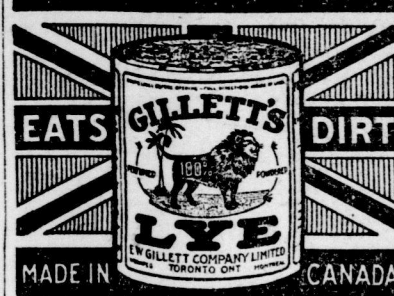

If a snap or snap button pulls out of your white kid glove, cut another from an old white kid glove, leaving a quarter of an inch of kid all around—push up through hole, turn and sew neatly on wrong side—it will last until glove wears out.

To protect long sleeves while doing light household duties, take a worn pair of long white silk gloves, cut off at the wrist, leaving one snap or button—finish with a tiny hem—then run a narrow elastic through the hem at the top. Easily washed and keeps the sleeves looking fresh.

A spool of good adhesive plaster is invaluable in the average household, both as a time-saver and a general repairer. It is inexpensive and comes in different widths. Adhesive plaster is fine for mending rubber goods of all kinds, hot water bags, garden hose, raincoats, gloves, handbags and to replace the worn heel linings in shoes. For mending corsets, repairing breaks or protruding steel in place, nothing better. It may also be used to stop up cracks and to exclude light and aid in order to make fumigation more thorough. A tight bandage of the handle or chair leg. Apply it to the under side of a rug that curls or is torn, and see how nicely it remedies the trouble. It makes excellent labels for fruit or jelly jars, as the backs can be lettered with ink. It is also fine for fastening packages and parcels.

Lemons are apt to mould or dry up if a quantity is bought at a time. The following method of saving the juice is a good one: Squeeze and strain the juice into small bottles having no dampness inside. Have the bottles nearly full, then put a spoonful of olive oil on top, cork tightly and keep in a cool dark place. When the lemon juice is to be used run a moist cotton into the bottle, which absorbs the oil, and the juice is all ready to use.

August Home Furnishing Sale Regular Merchandise From Our Regular Stock

This is not special sale goods. It is the same standard Furniture we have offered all season—Furniture of certain quality and extraordinary money's worth. Come and see for yourself. Make notes of the prices on the articles you want. Then go out and compare our prices with the prices of others. You will finally buy here. Because our salesmen know that this is the surest way of making a customer. You will find that they are not insistent in the eagerness to sell our Furniture. They do not need to. Our price tags do most of the talking.

We Hold Only Two Sales Yearly

There is no reason for indiscriminate price-cutting. A store cannot and does not cut prices in celebration of "May" or harvest, etc. When a store cuts the price it loses money. And a store that is continually offering cut prices soon causes people to wonder when it sells for regular prices. There is but one logical sale reason, normally. That is clearance of stocks at the end of each season. And we hold sales only at the end of season. That is why people have come to look forward with confident eagerness to our sales. Come today and see how you will profit.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

A Fern Tonic.—A tablespoonful of castor oil poured around the roots of palms and ferns once a month will give them a rapid growth and keep them fresh and green, says a gardener. Those having them, would do well to try it.

Sundry.—If stung by an insect, take an onion, cut it, and rub on to the place. The juice rubbed into the flesh relieves the pain and stops the swelling.

When whipping cream, either in large or small quantities, use an egg-whisk and remove the froth as it rises

MAYBE BUYING MATCHES never struck you as being an important job. But it is. It is important that you buy none but EDDY'S

The matches with "no after-glow." EDDY is the only Canadian maker of these matches, every stick of which has been dipped in a chemical solution which positively insures the match becoming dead wood once it has been lighted and blown out. into another vessel until the whole is plums and pears are dried in the same manner as given for apples.

To clean a stiff doormat, place it in a bath of soapy water, scrub well with a hard scrubbing brush, then rinse well in cold water and stand on its side to dry.

Boil Potatoes in Skins.—Approximately 50 per cent of each potato pared by ordinary household methods is lost in the process, according to a Louisiana home economist. The loss includes much and sometimes all of the portion of the tuber containing important soluble salts. Potatoes that are boiled and baked in their skins lose practically none of their food value.

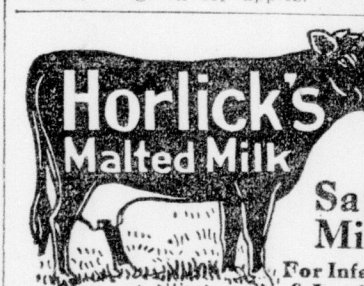

Care of the Dishcloth.—Don't be careless about your dishcloths. Never use one longer than two days without washing. Then see that it is thoroughly boiled. Just take a sniff at your dishcloth when you have used it a few days, and you will put it right in the wash.

Fruits May Be Preserved by Artificial Heat.

The drying of fruits by means of artificial heat is an easy and simple method of preservation. It may be done in a small home-made or commercial dryer at small expense and with little effort. Miss Addie D. Root of the Missouri College of Agriculture offers a few suggestions for drying fruits:

Apples may be peeled and quartered or sliced crosswise in one-eighth-inch slices. Dropping the apples after they are prepared into salt water, one tablespoon of salt to one gallon of water, will prevent them from turning brown before being placed in the dryer. It is best to dry them as quickly as possible after preparing, so that a light, attractive product may be obtained. The apples should be turned or stirred occasionally to insure even drying throughout. If heads of moisture come out and the apples become very sticky, the temperature is too high. The temperature in the dryer should be kept at about 140 degrees Fahrenheit. From two to two and one-half hours are usually required for drying apples with artificial heat. The following tests will tell when the apples are sufficiently dry. 1. Impossible to press water out of the freshly cut ends of the pieces; 2. sufficient elastic not to break when pieces are rolled into a cylinder; 3. when a mass of slices are pressed firmly into a ball in the hand, they should separate at once when released; 4. surfaces should be soft and adhere slightly to the fingers.
