Big Leaguers Register.

Detroit, May 24—Eighteen members of the Detroit American League Baseball Club, who are subject to the conscription law, have registered here, it was announced today. Ty Cobb, who will be 31 years of age on December 18, is among the players who were enrolled.

May Cancel Series.

Chicago, May 24—A spring series between the Chicago Americans and the Pittsburgh Nationals in Panama, which had been planned, may be abandoned because of the war.

Opposed to Limit Scheme.

Chicago, May 24—That, despite the national situation, both the American and National leagues will play out their schedules without accepting the eight-teen-player limit plan seemed a foregone conclusion when members of the national commission again met here Thursday. President Ban Johnson of the American league has been strongly opposed to any cut in the roster of his clubs, and President John K. Tener of the National League and August Hermann took a similar stand.

The course to be pursued by the two major leagues during the period of the war is expected to be settled definitely at Thursday's meeting. Another problem before the commission was that of the "bean ball" which President Johnson has denounced upon the ground that it is being used by some pitchers to lessen the batting effectiveness of opposing teams.

GOLF.

Left Hand Champion Dead.

London, May 22—David Watt, holder of the Scottish professional golf championship, has died from wounds received at the front. Watt, who was thirty-two years of age, won the championship in 1914. He was one of the best left-handed golfers in the United Kingdom.

AQUATIC.

Will Abandon Races.

New York, May 28—The championship regatta of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen, scheduled to be held at Lynn, Mass., on July 27 and 28, has been abandoned.

This action was decided upon at a meeting of the executive committee of the association here yesterday.

MARY PICKFORD'S LATEST TRIUMPH

"A Romance of The Redwoods" at Imperial Next Monday

Herewith enters Mary Pickford, actress. No longer does the queen of the unspoken drama rely on curls and pouts for effect, for in "A Romance of The Redwoods" she actually acts and does it in such a manner as to land her points with surprising effectiveness.
This Art-craft release is one that will be a success of the first line, for it is a combination of star and story that will not only please but delight the followers of Mary, and with it all Cecil B. DeMille has given the story a production that is a corker. But one must not overlook the credit that should go to Wilfred Buckland, the master of the art of lighting motion picture productions. In this feature he has outdone himself and there is more than one scene that will bring a murmur of admiration on this fact alone. "A Romance of The Redwoods" was written by Mr. DeMille in collaboration with Jeanie Mac-Pherson and the story proves that the authors know their Bret Harte very well indeed, and have not overlooked anything that might enhance the value of this story, which, by the by, smacks slightly of "Salome Jane" and a little of "The Girl of the Golden West," at least in atmosphere, if not else. There are eight reels of "A Romance of The Redwoods" and the actual running time of the picture is just about an hour and a half, so there is a possibility that the eight reels may be slightly short on footage.
The first four reels are so full of action that they pass before one notices it, and there isn't the least suggestion of love interest until the picture is half way through, then things begin to move. Mary, of course, is the heroine, and the performance that Elliott Dexter gives as the bandit lover is very artistic. The scenes after the opening are all laid in the mining camps in California in the days of '49 and the atmosphere of the period is held to most effectively. Miss Pickford needs but one or two additional productions of this calibre to come entirely into her very own again and the picture production field can never get enough of features of this class, if for no other reason than to teach other producers how things can and should be done.
