

GARIBALDI INQUIRY SLOWED UP BY CODE FOUND IN NICE HOME

Accused of Being in Plot
to Separate Catalonia
From Spain

PARIS, Nov. 8.—Ricciotti Garibaldi, member of Italy's noted family, will within a few days probably have to face Col. Vada, leader of the conspiracy for the separation of Catalonia from Spain which was exposed by the French police. This announcement was made today by a spokesman of the foreign office.

TO SLOW UP INQUIRY.

In the meantime the examination of Garibaldi will be slowed up in order to permit the translators to decipher a code found in his villa in Nice. Ricciotti had a short interview with his wife this morning after which he obtained permission from the Ministry of the Interior to have lunch outside the gloomy surroundings of France's police squares.

TAKES FANCY TUMBLE

PEORIA, Ill.—Joseph Raybolts of Peoria is thinking of joining a circus as a tumbler. Joseph didn't know just how gracefully a man could fall until he took a tumble from the top of a railroad river bridge the other day. He alighted on a moving train and rolled to the ground, only slightly injured.

ONE FOR THE BOOK

CLEVELAND, O.—You'll have to look a long time to find somebody that's in a hurry to break into a workhouse.

But this individual has been found in Cleveland. He is David Bloomenthal. He asked to be sent to the workhouse on the first police wagon making the trip. Bloomenthal was fined $300 and costs for violation of the liquor law and was given several weeks to collect the amount of the fine. He couldn't meet the requirements so he reported to the judge and explained his plight. "If I have to work out a fine like that don't let me lose any time in getting started," he told the judge. His request was granted.

HOT STUFF

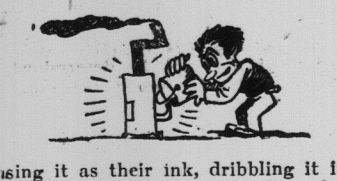

NEW YORK—Admitting that he has no intention whatever to attempt an upturning of the drama, J. P. Mc-

Evoy, the playwright, has sailed for Africa to hunt for red-hot equatorial mammals to slink on Broadway in a new revue. McEvoy said: "What I'll hunt is the native as is. I want to find the primitive dances and long back the real mammy songs—not the 'take me back to mammy' nonsense."

FIND USE FOR OLD OIL

NEW YORK—Two new uses for old crankcase oil from automobiles have been found. Airplane skywriters are using it as their ink, dribbling it into red-hot exhaust pipes to make a dense white smoke, according to William C. McMahan. A special type of oil burner has been found, also, which burns the old oil and many garage owners are now heating their plants with it, thereby converting a former nuisance into a profitable article.

The Kitty-Katy Letters

Confidential Communications Between Two Charming Girl Friends—One Married

DEAR KATY:—

It surprised me very much when you inferred that I had been "Catty" about your precious Jack. Why should I be particularly interested in him when I have my own beloved Tom?

I am sure that I have been defending Mr. Ellsworth all the time. I told you I didn't think he was half as good as he had been painted. You can't expect to hold too close a rein on him.

Tom speaks very highly of Jack. Only this evening he remarked: "Jack's a clever boy all right." I had been telling him what Jack had told you about ptomaine poisoning and what a terrible time he had had up at that Fredericton hotel alone. Neither Tom nor myself ever DID say that Mr. Ellsworth drank much.

Did I tell you that Tom landed a big order and made more than $2,000 commission when he made that business trip to Moncton last week? He gave me $1,000 of it to spend as I pleased. He wanted me to run up to Boston to buy a bar pin, but I told him I could get just as fine a bar pin right here in Saint John—and I can, because I've already been looking.

NOTE.—You never "DID" say that Mr. Ellsworth drank much. Ease off, Kitty! Wherever did you get that stinging tongue? Every word you write about Jack has a double meaning. Wait until tomorrow, Katy gets HER slam at YOU.

World News In Short Metre

BERLIN—Cooking schools recently established here for women are being overrun with men anxious to learn the culinary art. Among the number, it is reported that there are more married men than single men.

OSLO—A Norwegian seaman recently crossed the North Sea alone in an open sailing boat 23 feet long. When he was out two days the boat began to leak, and for eight days the sailor had to bail out the vessel every three hours.

ALEXANDRIA, Neb.—The person who captures a chicken thief shall receive $1 a day for every day the marauder remains in jail, according to plans drawn up by the Alexandria Protective Association. There have been heavy raids on the roots this fall, and the citizens have banded to guard their fowl.

LONDON—The London, Midland and Scottish Railway was awarded four shillings damages recently against a man who had chalked "Just Married, don't disturb us," on the side of the train as he was seeing the bride and bridegroom away on their honeymoon.

WARSAW, Poland—A man with seven wives, and with the genius for holding the affections of all of them, was sentenced recently to two years' penal servitude. Each of the women declared they stood ready to marry him when he was discharged from prison.

LONDON—John Ezhlin, a sergeant in the Royal Ulster Constabulary, has inherited a title without a fortune. Three other impoverished baronets have secured recently in the news—one earning a living by taking care of horses, another dying shortly after being threatened with election because of inability to pay the rent for his tiny room, and a third rescued from a poorhouse.

HONOLULU—Making his first public appearance in years, Henri Berger, 82, former leader of the Royal Hawaiian Band, awayed the baton for the present-day musical organization when it dedicated a new bandstand in Kapiolani Park here recently. Berger served as bandmaster under Hawaiian royalty before the islands were annexed to the United States. He is the composer of many Hawaiian musical numbers.

TOKIO—Conversing with ancestors or entertaining their spirits is not uncommon in Japan. In the smaller villages near Tokio signal fires are lit at the graves of departed sires and the spirits are invited to come home and share in the feasts spread in their honor.

LONDON—The walls of many London houses are being kept with country scenes. Lady Weigall and other well-known society leaders are taking to the fad. The custom is a reminiscent of scenic wall paper that was familiar decades ago and is a revival of the painted walls of ancient Pompeian mansions.

LONDON—Potatoes have been harnessed to overtime work by the demands of science. Usually potatoes taken from the ground in less than two months' rest before sprouting. That idea is all bunk, according to Prof. Frank Denny, who says that dosing them in a certain chemical bath will start the shoots at once, cutting down the time between crops.

Tightens Censorship On Poland's Press

WARSAW, Nov. 8.—President Pilsudski of Poland, without consulting members of Parliament, has tightened the censorship on news. High fines and long imprisonment await persons disseminating "false, biased news which is apt to create disturbances, even though that news may be reported as rumor. Hereafter, it will be practically impossible for the Polish press to report anything except that which is contained in official Government communiqués."

TAXI MAN HELD UP.

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—George Hooper, taxi driver, was held up by two masked bandits on a lonely stretch of the road in Rockville, Park here last night. Owing to the epidemic of holdups in the city and district lately, Hooper had previously hidden all his change in the car with the result that the bandits failed to secure anything. The men jumped on the running board of his car as it was proceeding slowly up a hill and at the point of a revolver, compelled him to stop.

A radiogram was received there from Captain Rose, of the Valkyrie, reporting the schooner lost and "crew saved except two."
