

lowship that binds us, and make us to realize that "one is our Master even Christ and all we are brethren," for "If we walk in the light as God is in the light, we have fellowship one with another and the blood of Jesus Christ His son cleanseth us from all sin." We have with us at this time several dear Friends from other Yearly Meetings whose company and Gospel labors have been comforting. The subject of the religiously guarded education of our youth has claimed the weighty consideration of this meeting; pertinent counsel was handed forth, and much exercise was felt and expressed that we might be individually faithful in our duty toward our children, believing as we do, there is much in the Public Schools of this day that has a tendency to lead away from the simplicity and purity of our profession. May He who has promised to be the present helper of his people be near and round about the young and rising generation, enabling them as well as those who are older, to uphold before the world those doctrines and testimonies entrusted to us. The language to one of the churches formerly was, "Be thou faithful unto death and I will give thee a crown of life." And O! may our experience be somewhat like that of the apostle Paul when he says, "I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith, henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day; and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing."

"Finally Sisters, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue and if there be any praise, think on these things. These things . . . do, and the God of peace shall be with you."

With love, we remain your Sisters.

Signed by direction of the Meeting.
