

FIVE TOPICS OF SPORT AT HOME AND ABROAD

GREEKS TRIMMED FREDERICTON

Special to The Standard.
 Fredericton, June 16.—St. John ran away with today's game of baseball by a score of 11 to 4. It was the most one-sided contest that has been played here this season and took place during a small crowd on account of dull and threatening weather. The Fredericton club closed good ball behind Ingalls but the latter didn't have a thing except his smile, and it began to wear off as the game progressed. A total of thirteen hits, including a home run by "Biff" Riley, which started the fifth inning hitting rally, were registered by Ingalls and he didn't look much like the pitcher he was when he worked against the Marathons here last Thursday. Woodbury did the box work for the Marathons and he allowed only eight hits, including one or two scratch ones. Fryer was the only one to do any real damage to Woodbury's offerings, having three slashing doubles. Hugh Pinkerton led the Marathons in batting with four hits in five times up, while Captain Bien was also there with three safeties. Two sacrifice hits, and two sacrifice flies constituted Hughes' hitting for the day and they cut quite a figure in scoring. A remarkable one handed stab of a liner off Riley's bat by Callahan and his peg to first base for a double play was a thriller of the game, while Pinkerton, White, Fryer and Duggan also pulled off feature plays.

The box score and summary follow:
Marathons.
 A B R H P O A E
 O'Brien, 2b . . . 2 3 0 1 2 0
 Pinkerton, 2b . . . 3 0 1 2 0 0
 Black, rf . . . 3 2 1 1 0 0
 Nolan, cf . . . 0 0 0 0 0 0
 Hughes, lf . . . 1 0 0 0 0 0
 Watt, 1b . . . 2 1 0 2 1 0
 Bien, c . . . 5 0 3 5 2 0
 Waterhouse, ss . . . 5 0 1 3 5 0
 Riley, cf . . . 5 1 2 2 0 0
 Woodbury, p . . . 2 1 0 2 0 0
Totals 34 11 13 27 18 2

Fredericton.
 A B R H P O A E
 Fryer, ss . . . 3 2 1 2 0 0
 Ganley, cf . . . 3 0 1 3 0 0
 Duggan, lf . . . 5 1 2 2 0 0
 White, rf . . . 0 0 2 0 0 0
 Callahan, 2b . . . 4 0 1 7 2 0
 Sullivan, 1b . . . 3 0 0 6 2 0
 Marcotte, 3b . . . 3 0 0 1 0 0
 Murphy, c . . . 2 1 0 2 1 0
 Desmond, c . . . 1 0 0 1 0 0
 Ingalls, p . . . 3 1 2 1 3 1
Totals 20 4 8 27 10 1
 By innings: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
 Marathons . . . 1 0 0 1 4 0 2 3 0 11
 Fredericton . . . 0 0 0 1 0 1 0 1 0 4
Summary—Two base hits, Bien; Fryer (3); home run, Riley; sacrifice bases, Pinkerton, Murphy; sacrifice flies, Hughes (2), Black (2), Callahan (2), Sullivan, Marcotte and Ingalls; double play, Callahan and Sullivan; passed balls, Murphy (2), Desmond; umpire, Keller; time, 1 hour, 55 minutes.

N. B. and M. League Standing.

Team	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Fredericton	11	7	.611
Marathons	11	7	.611
St. Croix	7	6	.539
Hamgor	5	12	.290

MARATHONS AND ST. CROIX HERE TODAY

In the New Brunswick and Maine League the contesting teams today on the local diamond. The game will start at 3:15 p. m. These two teams are, perhaps, the most evenly matched in the league and a good fast game of ball is anticipated for the fans who turn out this afternoon. Since last meeting the St. Croix the Marathons have gotten into better trim and are now showing very snappy play, so the game today will probably prove a closely fought one. It is not known who will be in the box for St. Croix but Tarbell will do the twirling for the local team.

BIEN LEADS LIST.

Removing players released, pitchers and others who have not taken part in many games from the list and Capt. Bien of the St. John club looms up as the batting leader of the New Brunswick and Maine League.

The average show Bien batting for .368, and more than that, the Marathons leader had 22 hits to his credit, the largest number in the league. Frank Flynn, who was let out by Fredericton yesterday, has the best batting record of any of the regular players, with Pitches Shankey, who is an old time cloutier, perched on top of the roost and Pat Duggan headed for the top.

HITS MERKLE WITH MASK.

Zanesville, O., June 16.—In a close and exciting exhibition game yesterday between the New York Nationals and the local Interstate League team the Giants won 5 to 4, although Umpire Frank Newhouse of the Interstate League declared the game forfeited to Zanesville, 9 to 0, following his fight with Merkle of the Giants. Merkle, in the eighth, objected to Newhouse's decision on a claim play at first and in the ninth the umpire Newhouse bit the New York first baseman on the head with his mask and brought blood from a gash. Newhouse ordered Merkle from the game, but he refused to go. The umpire then forfeited the game to Zanesville 9 to 0. Manager Marty Hogan of Zanesville ordered the game continued and he himself acted as umpire.

AMERICAN, NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE RESULTS

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Team	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Detroit, 5; New York, 3.
At New York:
Detroit	00002003	5 8 1
New York	00003000	3 4 2
Batteries—Hall, Lake, Seamount and Stange; Schultz, Keating and Sweeney.
At Philadelphia:
Philadelphia	01000100	2 6 0
Philadelphia	00001011	3 9 0
Batteries—Falkenberg and Carlsch; Plank and Shang.
Chicago, 4; Washington, 1.
At Washington:
Chicago	00201100	4 6 1
Washington	00100000	1 7 4
Batteries—Russell and Schalk; Groom, Engel and Henry.
Boston, 3; St. Louis, 2.
At St. Louis:
St. Louis	10001000	2 0 2
Boston	10100000	3 6 0
Batteries—Levrenz and Agnew; Wood and Nnamaker.

American League Standing.

Team	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Philadelphia	40	12	.769
Cleveland	36	19	.665
Washington	29	25	.537
Chicago	26	28	.529
Boston	26	25	.510
Detroit	23	34	.404
St. Louis	21	28	.430
New York	13	38	.255

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Team	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Philadelphia	40	12	.769
Cleveland	36	19	.665
Washington	29	25	.537
Chicago	26	28	.529
Boston	26	25	.510
Detroit	23	34	.404
St. Louis	21	28	.430
New York	13	38	.255

NATIONAL LEAGUE Standing.

Team	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Philadelphia	40	12	.769
Cleveland	36	19	.665
Washington	29	25	.537
Chicago	26	28	.529
Boston	26	25	.510
Detroit	23	34	.404
St. Louis	21	28	.430
New York	13	38	.255

THIS DATE IN RING ANNALS

1894—Bob Fitzsimmons and Joe Choynski fought five rounds to a draw at Boston; the police stopping the fight. Choynski had the better of the argument in the first three rounds, and in the third sent Bob sprawling with a right hook to the ear. Fitz was all but out, but recovered rapidly, and in the fourth round knocked Joe down four times. In the fifth Choynski was knocked down twice, and was all in when the police ordered the bout stopped.

1881—Noah Brusso (Tommy Burns), born at Hanover, Ont.

PLAYERS RELEASED.

Fredericton, June 16.—Today marks a further reduction in the squad of players. This morning Manager Ganley handed Pitcher Pete Condon and Outfielder Frank Flynn their releases. Both looked like good ball players but a cut had to be made in the squad and they were elected.

Manager Frank Leonard, of the St. John club, has also made a reduction in his club, the signing of Frank Hughes causing the release of Paul Little, outfielder, of Lowell, Mass.

HUGH HIGH, OF DETROIT TIGER TEAM

In Hugh High it appears as if the Detroit Tigers have picked up a young outfielder of marked ability. In the games that he has played for the one-time American League champions he has distinguished himself like a big leaguer.

SPORTOGRAPHY BY "GRAVY"

Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion who promoted the recent McCarty-Pelky bout, will celebrate his thirty-second birthday today. Tommy, whose real name is Noah Brusso, was born in Hanover, Ont., June 17, 1881, and during his eight years in the ring fought his way up to the top of the heavyweight heap only to lose the crown to Jack Johnson.

After leaving the ring, Tommy settled in Calgary, where he is the owner of a flourishing clothing business and considerable real estate. He built a big arena in the Alberta metropolis and was well on the way toward making that city a great boxing centre, when the death of McCarty and the subsequent burning of his arena put an end to all his plans. It is probable that Burns is through with the boxing game, for the fatal termination of the McCarty-Pelky battle has put an end to his plans. It is probable that it is hardly likely that Tommy could be induced to leave Canada.

Tommy began fighting in 1900, and his first nine bouts were won by the knockout route. His first defeat was at the hands of Mike Schreck in 1901. In 1905 he fought two draws with Hugo Kelly, and was defeated by Jack Twin Sullivan. In 1906 he knocked out Jim Flynn and held Philadelphia Jack to a draw, besides winning the heavyweight title by his defeat of Marvin Hart. Tommy successfully defended the championship against Jack O'Brien, Bill Squires, Bill Lang, and a number of others, until he met Jack Johnson in Australia, Dec. 28, 1908. Tommy admits that he had no over-powering desire to fight the big smoke and put the price so high that he thought no promoter would meet it. In his recent bout with Arthur Peckly, staged shortly before the McCarty tragedy, Burns showed that he still carries a good wallop, although he lacked many of his old "tricks of the trade."

Tommy is probably the briefest in stature of any man who ever held the heavyweight title, standing only five feet seven inches. In the ring he looked far from impressive, but he was clever, had tremendous strength in his arms, and great hitting power. Tommy was a famous lacrosse player before he became a boxer, and also worked as a bell-boy in his youth. As "a swell dresser" he was almost the equal of Kid McCoy, and he knew

SPORTOGRAPHY BY "GRAVY"

Tommy Burns, 32 Today —is Through with Boxing Game.

Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion who promoted the recent McCarty-Pelky bout, will celebrate his thirty-second birthday today. Tommy, whose real name is Noah Brusso, was born in Hanover, Ont., June 17, 1881, and during his eight years in the ring fought his way up to the top of the heavyweight heap only to lose the crown to Jack Johnson.

After leaving the ring, Tommy settled in Calgary, where he is the owner of a flourishing clothing business and considerable real estate. He built a big arena in the Alberta metropolis and was well on the way toward making that city a great boxing centre, when the death of McCarty and the subsequent burning of his arena put an end to all his plans. It is probable that Burns is through with the boxing game, for the fatal termination of the McCarty-Pelky battle has put an end to his plans. It is probable that it is hardly likely that Tommy could be induced to leave Canada.

Tommy began fighting in 1900, and his first nine bouts were won by the knockout route. His first defeat was at the hands of Mike Schreck in 1901. In 1905 he fought two draws with Hugo Kelly, and was defeated by Jack Twin Sullivan. In 1906 he knocked out Jim Flynn and held Philadelphia Jack to a draw, besides winning the heavyweight title by his defeat of Marvin Hart. Tommy successfully defended the championship against Jack O'Brien, Bill Squires, Bill Lang, and a number of others, until he met Jack Johnson in Australia, Dec. 28, 1908. Tommy admits that he had no over-powering desire to fight the big smoke and put the price so high that he thought no promoter would meet it. In his recent bout with Arthur Peckly, staged shortly before the McCarty tragedy, Burns showed that he still carries a good wallop, although he lacked many of his old "tricks of the trade."

Tommy is probably the briefest in stature of any man who ever held the heavyweight title, standing only five feet seven inches. In the ring he looked far from impressive, but he was clever, had tremendous strength in his arms, and great hitting power. Tommy was a famous lacrosse player before he became a boxer, and also worked as a bell-boy in his youth. As "a swell dresser" he was almost the equal of Kid McCoy, and he knew

Tommy Burns, 32 Today —is Through with Boxing Game.

Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion who promoted the recent McCarty-Pelky bout, will celebrate his thirty-second birthday today. Tommy, whose real name is Noah Brusso, was born in Hanover, Ont., June 17, 1881, and during his eight years in the ring fought his way up to the top of the heavyweight heap only to lose the crown to Jack Johnson.

After leaving the ring, Tommy settled in Calgary, where he is the owner of a flourishing clothing business and considerable real estate. He built a big arena in the Alberta metropolis and was well on the way toward making that city a great boxing centre, when the death of McCarty and the subsequent burning of his arena put an end to all his plans. It is probable that Burns is through with the boxing game, for the fatal termination of the McCarty-Pelky battle has put an end to his plans. It is probable that it is hardly likely that Tommy could be induced to leave Canada.

Tommy began fighting in 1900, and his first nine bouts were won by the knockout route. His first defeat was at the hands of Mike Schreck in 1901. In 1905 he fought two draws with Hugo Kelly, and was defeated by Jack Twin Sullivan. In 1906 he knocked out Jim Flynn and held Philadelphia Jack to a draw, besides winning the heavyweight title by his defeat of Marvin Hart. Tommy successfully defended the championship against Jack O'Brien, Bill Squires, Bill Lang, and a number of others, until he met Jack Johnson in Australia, Dec. 28, 1908. Tommy admits that he had no over-powering desire to fight the big smoke and put the price so high that he thought no promoter would meet it. In his recent bout with Arthur Peckly, staged shortly before the McCarty tragedy, Burns showed that he still carries a good wallop, although he lacked many of his old "tricks of the trade."

Tommy is probably the briefest in stature of any man who ever held the heavyweight title, standing only five feet seven inches. In the ring he looked far from impressive, but he was clever, had tremendous strength in his arms, and great hitting power. Tommy was a famous lacrosse player before he became a boxer, and also worked as a bell-boy in his youth. As "a swell dresser" he was almost the equal of Kid McCoy, and he knew

SPORTOGRAPHY BY "GRAVY"

Tommy Burns, 32 Today —is Through with Boxing Game.

Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion who promoted the recent McCarty-Pelky bout, will celebrate his thirty-second birthday today. Tommy, whose real name is Noah Brusso, was born in Hanover, Ont., June 17, 1881, and during his eight years in the ring fought his way up to the top of the heavyweight heap only to lose the crown to Jack Johnson.

After leaving the ring, Tommy settled in Calgary, where he is the owner of a flourishing clothing business and considerable real estate. He built a big arena in the Alberta metropolis and was well on the way toward making that city a great boxing centre, when the death of McCarty and the subsequent burning of his arena put an end to all his plans. It is probable that Burns is through with the boxing game, for the fatal termination of the McCarty-Pelky battle has put an end to his plans. It is probable that it is hardly likely that Tommy could be induced to leave Canada.

Tommy began fighting in 1900, and his first nine bouts were won by the knockout route. His first defeat was at the hands of Mike Schreck in 1901. In 1905 he fought two draws with Hugo Kelly, and was defeated by Jack Twin Sullivan. In 1906 he knocked out Jim Flynn and held Philadelphia Jack to a draw, besides winning the heavyweight title by his defeat of Marvin Hart. Tommy successfully defended the championship against Jack O'Brien, Bill Squires, Bill Lang, and a number of others, until he met Jack Johnson in Australia, Dec. 28, 1908. Tommy admits that he had no over-powering desire to fight the big smoke and put the price so high that he thought no promoter would meet it. In his recent bout with Arthur Peckly, staged shortly before the McCarty tragedy, Burns showed that he still carries a good wallop, although he lacked many of his old "tricks of the trade."

Tommy is probably the briefest in stature of any man who ever held the heavyweight title, standing only five feet seven inches. In the ring he looked far from impressive, but he was clever, had tremendous strength in his arms, and great hitting power. Tommy was a famous lacrosse player before he became a boxer, and also worked as a bell-boy in his youth. As "a swell dresser" he was almost the equal of Kid McCoy, and he knew

SPORTOGRAPHY BY "GRAVY"

Tommy Burns, 32 Today —is Through with Boxing Game.

Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion who promoted the recent McCarty-Pelky bout, will celebrate his thirty-second birthday today. Tommy, whose real name is Noah Brusso, was born in Hanover, Ont., June 17, 1881, and during his eight years in the ring fought his way up to the top of the heavyweight heap only to lose the crown to Jack Johnson.

After leaving the ring, Tommy settled in Calgary, where he is the owner of a flourishing clothing business and considerable real estate. He built a big arena in the Alberta metropolis and was well on the way toward making that city a great boxing centre, when the death of McCarty and the subsequent burning of his arena put an end to all his plans. It is probable that Burns is through with the boxing game, for the fatal termination of the McCarty-Pelky battle has put an end to his plans. It is probable that it is hardly likely that Tommy could be induced to leave Canada.

Tommy began fighting in 1900, and his first nine bouts were won by the knockout route. His first defeat was at the hands of Mike Schreck in 1901. In 1905 he fought two draws with Hugo Kelly, and was defeated by Jack Twin Sullivan. In 1906 he knocked out Jim Flynn and held Philadelphia Jack to a draw, besides winning the heavyweight title by his defeat of Marvin Hart. Tommy successfully defended the championship against Jack O'Brien, Bill Squires, Bill Lang, and a number of others, until he met Jack Johnson in Australia, Dec. 28, 1908. Tommy admits that he had no over-powering desire to fight the big smoke and put the price so high that he thought no promoter would meet it. In his recent bout with Arthur Peckly, staged shortly before the McCarty tragedy, Burns showed that he still carries a good wallop, although he lacked many of his old "tricks of the trade."

Tommy is probably the briefest in stature of any man who ever held the heavyweight title, standing only five feet seven inches. In the ring he looked far from impressive, but he was clever, had tremendous strength in his arms, and great hitting power. Tommy was a famous lacrosse player before he became a boxer, and also worked as a bell-boy in his youth. As "a swell dresser" he was almost the equal of Kid McCoy, and he knew

SPORTOGRAPHY BY "GRAVY"

Tommy Burns, 32 Today —is Through with Boxing Game.

Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion who promoted the recent McCarty-Pelky bout, will celebrate his thirty-second birthday today. Tommy, whose real name is Noah Brusso, was born in Hanover, Ont., June 17, 1881, and during his eight years in the ring fought his way up to the top of the heavyweight heap only to lose the crown to Jack Johnson.

After leaving the ring, Tommy settled in Calgary, where he is the owner of a flourishing clothing business and considerable real estate. He built a big arena in the Alberta metropolis and was well on the way toward making that city a great boxing centre, when the death of McCarty and the subsequent burning of his arena put an end to all his plans. It is probable that Burns is through with the boxing game, for the fatal termination of the McCarty-Pelky battle has put an end to his plans. It is probable that it is hardly likely that Tommy could be induced to leave Canada.

Tommy began fighting in 1900, and his first nine bouts were won by the knockout route. His first defeat was at the hands of Mike Schreck in 1901. In 1905 he fought two draws with Hugo Kelly, and was defeated by Jack Twin Sullivan. In 1906 he knocked out Jim Flynn and held Philadelphia Jack to a draw, besides winning the heavyweight title by his defeat of Marvin Hart. Tommy successfully defended the championship against Jack O'Brien, Bill Squires, Bill Lang, and a number of others, until he met Jack Johnson in Australia, Dec. 28, 1908. Tommy admits that he had no over-powering desire to fight the big smoke and put the price so high that he thought no promoter would meet it. In his recent bout with Arthur Peckly, staged shortly before the McCarty tragedy, Burns showed that he still carries a good wallop, although he lacked many of his old "tricks of the trade."

Tommy is probably the briefest in stature of any man who ever held the heavyweight title, standing only five feet seven inches. In the ring he looked far from impressive, but he was clever, had tremendous strength in his arms, and great hitting power. Tommy was a famous lacrosse player before he became a boxer, and also worked as a bell-boy in his youth. As "a swell dresser" he was almost the equal of Kid McCoy, and he knew

SPORTOGRAPHY BY "GRAVY"

Tommy Burns, 32 Today —is Through with Boxing Game.

Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion who promoted the recent McCarty-Pelky bout, will celebrate his thirty-second birthday today. Tommy, whose real name is Noah Brusso, was born in Hanover, Ont., June 17, 1881, and during his eight years in the ring fought his way up to the top of the heavyweight heap only to lose the crown to Jack Johnson.

After leaving the ring, Tommy settled in Calgary, where he is the owner of a flourishing clothing business and considerable real estate. He built a big arena in the Alberta metropolis and was well on the way toward making that city a great boxing centre, when the death of McCarty and the subsequent burning of his arena put an end to all his plans. It is probable that Burns is through with the boxing game, for the fatal termination of the McCarty-Pelky battle has put an end to his plans. It is probable that it is hardly likely that Tommy could be induced to leave Canada.

Tommy began fighting in 1900, and his first nine bouts were won by the knockout route. His first defeat was at the hands of Mike Schreck in 1901. In 1905 he fought two draws with Hugo Kelly, and was defeated by Jack Twin Sullivan. In 1906 he knocked out Jim Flynn and held Philadelphia Jack to a draw, besides winning the heavyweight title by his defeat of Marvin Hart. Tommy successfully defended the championship against Jack O'Brien, Bill Squires, Bill Lang, and a number of others, until he met Jack Johnson in Australia, Dec. 28, 1908. Tommy admits that he had no over-powering desire to fight the big smoke and put the price so high that he thought no promoter would meet it. In his recent bout with Arthur Peckly, staged shortly before the McCarty tragedy, Burns showed that he still carries a good wallop, although he lacked many of his old "tricks of the trade."

Tommy is probably the briefest in stature of any man who ever held the heavyweight title, standing only five feet seven inches. In the ring he looked far from impressive, but he was clever, had tremendous strength in his arms, and great hitting power. Tommy was a famous lacrosse player before he became a boxer, and also worked as a bell-boy in his youth. As "a swell dresser" he was almost the equal of Kid McCoy, and he knew

SPORTOGRAPHY BY "GRAVY"

Tommy Burns, 32 Today —is Through with Boxing Game.

Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion who promoted the recent McCarty-Pelky bout, will celebrate his thirty-second birthday today. Tommy, whose real name is Noah Brusso, was born in Hanover, Ont., June 17, 1881, and during his eight years in the ring fought his way up to the top of the heavyweight heap only to lose the crown to Jack Johnson.

After leaving the ring, Tommy settled in Calgary, where he is the owner of a flourishing clothing business and considerable real estate. He built a big arena in the Alberta metropolis and was well on the way toward making that city a great boxing centre, when the death of McCarty and the subsequent burning of his arena put an end to all his plans. It is probable that Burns is through with the boxing game, for the fatal termination of the McCarty-Pelky battle has put an end to his plans. It is probable that it is hardly likely that Tommy could be induced to leave Canada.

Tommy began fighting in 1900, and his first nine bouts were won by the knockout route. His first defeat was at the hands of Mike Schreck in 1901. In 1905 he fought two draws with Hugo Kelly, and was defeated by Jack Twin Sullivan. In 1906 he knocked out Jim Flynn and held Philadelphia Jack to a draw, besides winning the heavyweight title by his defeat of Marvin Hart. Tommy successfully defended the championship against Jack O'Brien, Bill Squires, Bill Lang, and a number of others, until he met Jack Johnson in Australia, Dec. 28, 1908. Tommy admits that he had no over-powering desire to fight the big smoke and put the price so high that he thought no promoter would meet it. In his recent bout with Arthur Peckly, staged shortly before the McCarty tragedy, Burns showed that he still carries a good wallop, although he lacked many of his old "tricks of the trade."

Tommy is probably the briefest in stature of any man who ever held the heavyweight title, standing only five feet seven inches. In the ring he looked far from impressive, but he was clever, had tremendous strength in his arms, and great hitting power. Tommy was a famous lacrosse player before he became a boxer, and also worked as a bell-boy in his youth. As "a swell dresser" he was almost the equal of Kid McCoy, and he knew

SPORTOGRAPHY BY "GRAVY"

Tommy Burns, 32 Today —is Through with Boxing Game.

Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion who promoted the recent McCarty-Pelky bout, will celebrate his thirty-second birthday today. Tommy, whose real name is Noah Brusso, was born in Hanover, Ont., June 17, 1881, and during his eight years in the ring fought his way up to the top of the heavyweight heap only to lose the crown to Jack Johnson.

After leaving the ring, Tommy settled in Calgary, where he is the owner of a flourishing clothing business and considerable real estate. He built a big arena in the Alberta metropolis and was well on the way toward making that city a great boxing centre, when the death of McCarty and the subsequent burning of his arena put an end to all his plans. It is probable that Burns is through with the boxing game, for the fatal termination of the McCarty-Pelky battle has put an end to his plans. It is probable that it is hardly likely that Tommy could be induced to leave Canada.

Tommy began fighting in 1900, and his first nine bouts were won by the knockout route. His first defeat was at the hands of Mike Schreck in 1901. In 1905 he fought two draws with Hugo Kelly, and was defeated by Jack Twin Sullivan. In 1906 he knocked out Jim Flynn and held Philadelphia Jack to a draw, besides winning the heavyweight title by his defeat of Marvin Hart. Tommy successfully defended the championship against Jack O'Brien, Bill Squires, Bill Lang, and a number of others, until he met Jack Johnson in Australia, Dec. 28, 1908. Tommy admits that he had no over-powering desire to fight the big smoke and put the price so high that he thought no promoter would meet it. In his recent bout with Arthur Peckly, staged shortly before the McCarty tragedy, Burns showed that he still carries a good wallop, although he lacked many of his old "tricks of the trade."

Tommy is probably the briefest in stature of any man who ever held the heavyweight title, standing only five feet seven inches. In the ring he looked far from impressive, but he was clever, had tremendous strength in his arms, and great hitting power. Tommy was a famous lacrosse player before he became a boxer, and also worked as a bell-boy in his youth. As "a swell dresser" he was almost the equal of Kid McCoy, and he knew

SPORTOGRAPHY BY "GRAVY"

Tommy Burns, 32 Today —is Through with Boxing Game.

Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion who promoted the recent McCarty-Pelky bout, will celebrate his thirty-second birthday today. Tommy, whose real name is Noah Brusso, was born in Hanover, Ont., June 17, 1881, and during his eight years in the ring fought his way up to the top of the heavyweight heap only to lose the crown to Jack Johnson.

After leaving the ring, Tommy settled in Calgary, where he is the owner of a flourishing clothing business and considerable real estate. He built a big arena in the Alberta metropolis and was well on the way toward making that city a great boxing centre, when the death of McCarty and the subsequent burning of his arena put an end to all his plans. It is probable that Burns is through with the boxing game, for the fatal termination of the McCarty-Pelky battle has put an end to his plans. It is probable that it is hardly likely that Tommy could be induced to leave Canada.

Tommy began fighting in 1900, and his first nine bouts were won by the knockout route. His first defeat was at the hands of Mike Schreck in 1901. In 1905 he fought two draws with Hugo Kelly, and was defeated by Jack Twin Sullivan. In 1906 he knocked out Jim Flynn and held Philadelphia Jack to a draw, besides winning the heavyweight title by his defeat of Marvin Hart. Tommy successfully defended the championship against Jack O'Brien, Bill Squires, Bill Lang, and a number of others, until he met Jack Johnson in Australia, Dec. 28, 1908. Tommy admits that he had no over-powering desire to fight the big smoke and put the price so high that he thought no promoter would meet it. In his recent bout with Arthur Peckly, staged shortly before the McCarty tragedy, Burns showed that he still carries a good wallop, although he lacked many of his old "tricks of the trade."

Tommy is probably the briefest in stature of any man who ever held the heavyweight title, standing only five feet seven inches. In the ring he looked far from impressive, but he was clever, had tremendous strength in his arms, and great hitting power. Tommy was a famous lacrosse player before he became a boxer, and also worked as a bell-boy in his youth. As "a swell dresser" he was almost the equal of Kid McCoy, and he knew

SPORTOGRAPHY BY "GRAVY"

Tommy Burns, 32 Today —is Through with Boxing Game.

Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion who promoted the recent McCarty-Pelky bout, will celebrate his thirty-second birthday today. Tommy, whose real name is Noah Brusso, was born in Hanover, Ont., June 17, 1881, and during his eight years in the ring fought his way up to the top of the heavyweight heap only to lose the crown to Jack Johnson.

After leaving the ring, Tommy settled in Calgary, where he is the owner of a flourishing clothing business and considerable real estate. He built a big arena in the Alberta metropolis and was well on the way toward making that city a great boxing centre, when the death of McCarty and the subsequent burning of his arena put an end to all his plans. It is probable that Burns is through with the boxing game, for the fatal termination of the McCarty-Pelky battle has put an end to his plans. It is probable that it is hardly likely that Tommy could be induced to leave Canada.

Tommy began fighting in 1900, and his first nine bouts were won by the knockout route. His first defeat was at the hands of Mike Schreck in 1901. In 1905 he fought two draws with Hugo Kelly, and was defeated by Jack Twin Sullivan. In 1906 he knocked out Jim Flynn and held Philadelphia Jack to a draw, besides winning the heavyweight title by his defeat of Marvin Hart. Tommy successfully defended the championship against Jack O'Brien, Bill Squires, Bill Lang, and a number of others, until he met Jack Johnson in Australia, Dec. 28, 1908. Tommy admits that he had no over-powering desire to fight the big smoke and put the price so high that he thought no promoter would meet it. In his recent bout with Arthur Peckly, staged shortly before the McCarty tragedy, Burns showed that he still carries a good wallop, although he lacked many of his old "tricks of the trade."

Tommy is probably the briefest in stature of any man who ever held the heavyweight title, standing only five feet seven inches. In the ring he looked far from impressive, but he was clever, had tremendous strength in his arms, and great hitting power. Tommy was a famous lacrosse player before he became a boxer, and also worked as a bell-boy in his youth. As "a swell dresser" he was almost the equal of Kid McCoy, and he knew

SPORTOGRAPHY BY "GRAVY"

Tommy Burns, 32 Today —is Through with Boxing Game.

Tommy Burns, the former heavyweight champion who promoted the recent McCarty-Pelky bout, will celebrate his thirty-second birthday today. Tommy, whose real name is Noah Brusso, was born in Hanover, Ont., June 17, 1881, and during his eight years in the ring fought his way up to the top of the heavyweight heap only to lose the crown to Jack Johnson.

After leaving the ring, Tommy settled in Calgary, where he is the owner of a flourishing clothing business and considerable real estate. He built a big arena in the Alberta metropolis and was well on the way toward making that city a great boxing centre, when the death of McCarty and the subsequent burning of his arena put an end to all his plans. It is probable that Burns is through with the boxing game, for the fatal termination of the McCarty-Pelky battle has put an end to his plans. It is probable that it is hardly likely that Tommy could be induced to leave Canada.

Tommy began fighting in 1900, and his first nine bouts were won by the knockout route. His first defeat was at the hands of Mike Schreck in 1901. In 1905 he fought two draws with Hugo Kelly, and was defeated by Jack Twin Sullivan. In 1906 he knocked out Jim Flynn and held Philadelphia Jack to a draw, besides winning the heavyweight title by his defeat of Marvin Hart. Tommy successfully defended the championship against Jack O'Brien, Bill Squires, Bill Lang, and a number of others, until he met Jack Johnson in Australia, Dec. 28, 1908. Tommy admits that he had no over-powering desire to fight the big smoke and put the price so high that he thought no promoter would meet it. In his recent bout with Arthur Peckly, staged shortly before the McCarty tragedy, Burns showed that he still carries a good wallop, although he lacked many of his old "tricks of the trade."

Tommy is probably the briefest in stature of any man who ever held the heavyweight title, standing only five feet seven inches. In the ring he looked far from impressive, but he was clever, had tremendous strength in his arms