The Brook, 1917 Tennyson's song of the Bruck has of late mined new interest from the pretty

I come from the hounts of coot

I come from the bounts of coot and he I make a sudden saily.

Asil corbie out among the fern, To bicker down the valley.

By thiesty hills I hurry down, Ge alip between the ridges, By twenty throps—a little town—And half a hundred bridges;

Till lest by Philips' f rul I flow To join the brimming river;

For men may some and men may go, But I go on for ever. ter over stony ways,

In little sharps and treb'es;
I hubble into eddying buys,
I bubble on the pebbles; With many a curve my banks I fret, By many a field and fallow, And many a fairy foreland set, With willow, weed and mallow, I shatter, chatter as I flow
To join the brimming river,
For men may come and men may go, But I go on for ever.

I wind about, and in and out, With here a blossom sailing : And here and there a lusty trout, And here and there a greyling; And here and there a foamy flake, Upon me as I travel, With many a silvery water break Above the golden gravel; And draw them all along and flow

To join the brimming river, For men may come and men may go, But I go on for ever. I steal by lawns and grassy plots, I slide by hazel covers, I move the sweet Forget-me-nots,

That grow for happy lovers. I slip, I slide, I gleum, I glance, Among my skimming swaliows, I make the netted sanbeaus dance Against as sandy shallows; I marmur under moon and stars, In brambly wildernesses, I linger by my shingle b rs,

And loiter round my cresses And out again I curve and flow To join the brimming river, For men may come and men may go, But I so on for ever.

STRAW CUTTERS,

FROST & WOOD.

Frost & Wood, Smith's Falls, C.W. THESE Celebrated Machines, to which the attention of the Agricultural public is called, have during the past sassons given the most entire satisfaction. Their superiority wherever they have been introduced and brought into competition with other Machines have been universally acknowledged by all who have used them, both for Durability, ease of Draft, and the thorough and effective manner of their operation.

Our SEPARATOR (capacity, four to ten horse power) for the coming season will be superior in every respect to any ever before made, as our aim is to excel every manufactory in the Province, in producing first class work. In their construction none but the very best materials are used—frames well put together—cylinders run in copper boxes, which is a great improvement,—b-bbet metal in boxes where necessary, and everything is gct up in the very best manner and with the latest improvements.

The DOUBLE PINION HORSE POWER, by which we drive the Separator and which we have much improved, is celebrated for great simplicity, ease of draft or effective power, costs less to keep in repair, and is very strong and durable.

Parties who intend getting Machines for the coming season, are respectfully invited to examine ours before purchasing elsewhere, as we are satisfied that they are the best and most reliable in the Provinces.
