Trudeau returns to spotlight

by KEN CUTHBERTSON Staff Writer

an

TOR

OR

GER

NAGER

SIGN

ayer

ett

nblay

- in its

cation is

official

n. THE

ublished

dericton

ersity of

he UNB

.). THE

fice is

Student

ege Hill,

Bruns-

Henley

odstock.

50 per

cash at

permit

nd local

vailable

for legal

rint any

if they

ned. THE

I, how-

names

in this

neces-

tudent's

incil, or

of the Opposition leader Pierre illiot Trudeau returned to the political spotlight last week with a three-day visit to New Brunswick which covered Baie Ste. Anne, Fredericton, and Chatham.

Trudeau arrived in Fredericton Saturday, clean-shaven and with a new outlook on politics and the role of the Liberal party. He was greeted by a crowd of Young Liberals who gave him a standing ovation as he entered the convention room. It was one of three standing ovations that he received in less than an hour.

Trudeau based his opening address on the theme of "The Philosophy of Liberalism". In a statement, Trudeau delivered what he meant by Liberalism:

"Liberalism is the philosophy for our time, because it does not try to conserve every tradition of the past, because it does not apply to new problems the

JUDY KAVANAGH Photo s

The many moods of Pierre Trudeau doctrinaire solutions, because it is prepared to experiment and innovate, and because it less important than the future."

His new outlook, he said, Canada. is that the Liberals are "not going in with the attitude that we (Liberals) should be in power and government the Liberals." Rather than Petro-Canada, Trudeau Conservative government fight and oppose the made clear during question to decentralize power of Conservative government, period the direction he the province. Mr. Trudeau said the intended to take. He knows that the past is Liberals are out to prove claimed that "95 per cent of that they should once again all the oil consumed in does something that we should be in the hands of cerning the question of

be the government of Canada is owned by the Multinationals" and he "When the government doesn't want Petro-Canada given back to the Multina- stand as he walked out think is right, then we shall tionals. He said he thought amongst them signing autosupport it", he said. Con- Petro-Canada should be strengthened rather than issue".

the role of the University tion.

by GORDON LOANE

introduced several budgets for and the future of the country, Trudeau went back to his philosophy of Liberalism, stating that "Universities should develop Canadians without rigid Doctrines".

Trudeau also had a bit of advice to the Young Liberals, whom he called "builders". He went on to say that "when a party is in opposition, young people such as yourself have an influence on the party Trudeau spoke on the provinces, saying there was 'a great danger in a kind of Federation where the province doesn't have a right of its own". Trudeau was critizing the policy of the

When Trudeau was ready to mingle with the crowds received his third standing ovation. The Young Liberals continued to graphs.

Provincial opposition weakened and that the leader Joseph Daigle, Monc-Liberals "will fight on this ton MP Gary McAuley and Senator Norbert Theriault Replying to a question on also spoke at the conven-

Counselling service offered

by JOHN HAMILTON Staff Writer

At times life can get the best of us down. Coupled with the hectic pace and pressures of university, it can be a sanity-stretching experience. Counselling Services, located in Annex B (across from the bookstore) are here to help. In addition to the personal counselling and guidance that most people associate with such a service, there is a broad range of services aimed at the university community. According to director Ralph Bierman, solving personal problems is only one facet of the operation. There are a number of programs offered to help individuals develop their potential and enable them to succeed at and enjoy university and to aid them in planning their future.

Career counselling is the most are available to students which basically, the methods taught here assist students in finding information of career training and occupational requirements and trends in the career library. Another popular offering is the study and writing workshop. Basic reading and writing skills are necessary for successful completion of university, and these are discussed and taught either on an individual basis or in small groups.

Tension and stress are particular problems of university life. A program of tension control and stress management has been developed which coaches participants in the techniques of relazation. It also shows how to cope with tension-causing situations such as exam time. Bierman said relaxation techniques have gradually gained acceptance popular of these programs. Tests across North America and Parking fine rises to $25

by CINDY CAMERON

around Fredericton streets: check fine is $25. your pocketbook and see if you've next payment towards the Fredericton Police, Traffic Department. Everyone have it? Good, education.

hang on to it, you may need it. According to Constable Currie

To those of you who drive cars new city by-law is in effect, the

That's pretty steep, especially stashed away the $25 for your for us hardworking, poor students as well as for some of the parents who are also feeling the pangs of

What can we do about this? Pay the parking fine and remember, of the Fredericton City Police, last the next time either park by a year the overnight parking fine meter, or keep driving around. was only five dollars. But, (and You're bound to find a spot before there's always a but) now that the you go through $25 worth of gas!

indicate areas of possible interest are as beneficial as, for example, for vocations. Counsellors will TM or yoga; but they lack the mystique associated with these more exotic practices.

Counselling Services has a lot to offer. For more information on any of these programs call 453-4820/ 4821 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday to Friday.

council's approval Monday night. The CHSR budget of $16,327.09 CP s to assist Campus Security

by GORDON LOANE

UNB will be hiring a number of student Campus Police to assist Campus Security on weekends in the wake of recent widespread vandalism, it was announced by SRC President David Bartlett at Monday night's council meeting.

The decision to hire extra personnel was the result of a meeting held earlier this week with Bartlett, Vice-Presiden Administration) Eric Garland, Campus Security Chief Charles Williamson, Dean of Men Robert Smith and Dean of Students Barry

Thompson. CPs will be paid the same wage by UNB as they are paid for their services by the Student Union, according to Bartlett, Tentatively, CPs will begin weekend work after the Thanksgiving holiday, Bartlett said. Excessive speed on campus was pinpointed as another pressing problem. Tentative plans to install speed bumps on campus was another topic discussed, said Bartlett. An investigation into the feasibility of such an undertaking is in progress.

Several cases of recent weekend vandalism reported to the Brunswickan have included the disappearance of several items on campus, the breaking of glass in the SUB parking lot that made parking nearly impossible one recent Monday morning, and several cases of speeding on campus.

The Brunswickan has also learned that the red dome light on the Campus Security police car was stolen for the second time in recent months. Approximate replacement cost is $150.

SRC minutes

on page 5

Budgets approved and the Brunswickan budget of $21,218.30 were approved after SRC Comptroller Scott Cronshaw several questions from councillors

> Comptroller. The following budgets were also approved: Computer Science Association budget of $267.00; Bailey Geological Society budget of $500.00; Malaysian Students budget of $200.00; Business Society budget of $1,400.00; Law Students Society budget of $3,145.00 and points of clarification from the Several budgets are scheduled for review by the Administrative Board this week and will be presented to Council's next meeting Monday, October 15. The final SRC budget is scheduled for completion and presentation to Council around November 1.

...and other council

news

Have you lost your student I.D. lately? If you have, chances are you will face a big hassle in getting it replaced.

That was the general message passed on to councillors and students by President David Bartlett at Monday's SRC meeting. Apparently, several problems with IDs have been experienced. Now all replacement IDs will be checked first at the Registrar's office for their authenticity. Signatures will be compared with those on file from previous years. If everything checks out, you can proceed to get your photo taken at Graphic Services