

- lieutenant civil and criminal, 16, 63, 86.
- Clergy in New France, their numbers in 1666-67, 23.
- Colbert, Jean Baptiste, minister of Louis XIV, 3-4; and Talon, 7, 21, 39-40, 120, 130; difficulties of, 41; grants freedom of trade to New France for one year, 42; decides sum to be paid by West India Company to New France, 43-4; encourages emigration to New France, 54; advocates early marriage among colonists and imposes a penalty on bachelors, 55-6; sends out wives to the colonists, 57; on judicial jurisdiction in New France, 70; approves of the brandy traffic, 79; his enthusiasm in the cause of New France, 98-101.
- Company of the One Hundred Associates, their charter cancelled, 20.
- Congregation of Notre-Dame, the, and the Frenchification of the Indians, 94.
- Contrecoeur, Captain de, settles in New France, 59, 128.
- Courcelle, David de Remy, Sieur de, governor of New France, 6, 18; on the Sovereign Council, 16-17, 65, 70, 88-90, 92; his disastrous expedition against the Mohawks, 26-7; with Tracy inflicts punishment on the Mohawks, 29-37; his relations with Talon, 74-5, 106, 111, 121; averts a renewal of Iroquois hostilities, 105-6, 110; his expedition against the Senecas, 112; his request to be recalled granted, 127.
- Damours, Mathieu, member of the Sovereign Council, 15, 16, 66.
- Denonville, governor of New France, his opposition to the brandy traffic, 81-2.
- Dollier de Casson, Abbé, accompanies expedition against the Mohawks, 31; on the brandy traffic, 81; in expedition against the Senecas, 112; on mission to the Outaouais, 114.
- Dubois, Abbé, accompanies expedition against Mohawks, 31.
- Dubois, Jean-Baptiste, Talon's deputy at Andaraque, 35.
- Duchesneau, intendant of New France, on trade relations with the West Indies, 51.
- Five Nations, tribes of, 25 note; send embassy to Courcelle, 110.
- Follin, Sieur Nicolas, manufactures potash in New France, 123-4.
- Francheville, Pierre de, a promising pupil of the Jesuits' College, 92.
- Frontenac, Comte de, arrives in New France as governor, 127; approves of the brandy traffic, 79.
- Galinée, Abbé de, 94; on mission to the Outaouais, 114.