

"Perhaps you know where she is staying," said Sir Thomas; "and if so, will you ring through, and tell her to come along—this morning if possible."

"I'll get through at once, sir," said Denton. Sir Thomas walked briskly away. He was going back to see his girl first, and then he was going on to the club to have a quiet talk with John Cheston.