

One Reason Why
Rex Flintkote Roofing is being chosen for all kinds of buildings in preference to all other roofings is the ease with which it is laid. No matter how irregular the roof space, or how many turns and angles it presents (see buildings below), any one can lay Rex Flintkote perfectly. Positively proof against leaks from rain or snow, unaffected by heat, cold or chemical action, and an effectual protection against fires from falling sparks.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Veterinary.

ECZEMA.

Mare has blind boils on her shoulder and neck, and some of them break. She has also an itch in her skin, just behind the shoulders, and covered with scurf.

NEW SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—Give hyposulphite of soda, one-ounce doses night and morning, and apply the following wash. Bichloride of mercury, 8 grains to a pint of water.
Wash every third day. R.

RIDGELING OR CRYPTORCHID.

I have a two-year-old, from which only one testicle was removed. The other is not down. What would you advise doing with it. Would a veterinary remove the other safely? A. M.

Ans.—Have him castrated by a competent veterinarian, of course. It is more dangerous than the ordinary operation. Some veterinarians have become quite expert, and operate with a very small percentage of losses. R.

PURPURA OR SCARLETINA.

Mare, rising three, had distemper twice, seemed to get over it all right, but came out in lumps about the size of a hen's egg, and smaller on the hind legs and hips. I gave a dose of saltpetre; lumps seemed to go away, but left swelling in legs, especially in the joints. I had been feeding her a quart of oat chop three times a day, and what hay she would eat up clean. SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—A sequel to distemper or influenza, induced by bad ventilation and imperfect drainage. The acute stage is evidently past. Feed liberally on good nourishing diet; gentle exercise, and give sulphate of iron, 2 ounces; pulverized cinchona bark, 2 ounces. Mix, and make into 24 powders. Give one night and morning. R.

THIN BULL.

I have a bull, thirteen months old, rather thin. Would it be any injury to him, for getting calves, to give him Fowler's solution of arsenic, say two-grain doses daily, or would it do him good, and also how many grains of the arsenic would you consider enough, daily, for an adult horse or cow to flesh up into good condition? Please send answer to me in a letter, and oblige.

SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—Arsenic is a good tonic, and one of the best alteratives, yet it must be used with caution. It can, with safety, be given for a week, then discontinued for a week or so, when it may be given again. It would not prevent your bull getting calves, but, at that age, I would prefer giving about 3 drams of Fowler's solution, which equals about 1½ grains, daily as above. To an adult horse, give from 4 to 8 drams daily, with same precautions.

[Note.—Our rule is that $1 must be enclosed when an answer by mail is required. R.]

RECURRENT DIARRHŒA AND UNTHRIFTI-NESS.

1. Horse, fed 7 lbs. oats three times daily, a little linseed meal each night, and a bran mash twice weekly instead of oats, has recurrent diarrhœa. It lasts for about a week, then ceases for a few days, and recurs. His teeth are in good shape, and he is a good feeder.

2. Mare was worked hard in February, and became quite thin. She has done little since, and has been well fed, but does not gain in flesh. Her teeth are all right, and her appetite good.

W. C. S.

Ans.—Give this horse a purgative of 9 drams aloes and 2 drams ginger. Allow him to rest until the bowels regain their normal condition. Then give him 2 drams each of powdered cinchona and gentian once daily. Cease giving the linseed meal, and give a feed of dry bran once weekly. Give no more mash.

2. She has worms. Take 2 ounces each of sulphate of iron, sulphate of copper, tartar emetic and calomel. Mix, and make into 16 powders. Give a powder night and morning. In 10 hours after the last has been taken, give a purgative of 8 drams aloes, and 2 drams ginger, and do not work until the bowels regain their normal condition. V.
