ous banquet was held at the New

AVERY—COWAN

Mr. Yares H. Avery, Temperance Lake, and Miss Jennie A. Cowan, Charleston, in the parsonage, Brockville by the Rev. Mr. Reynolds, were united in marriage at 11 o'clock on Wednesday, 27th Dec.

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Grace Avery, was bridesmaid, and the bride's brother, Mr. Winifred Cowan, was groomsman. The bride was costumed in a pretty shade of sky blue. The details of the costume were in tints of the same gentle tone, a fine harmony.
The party were dressed with neatness, taste and good sense. We never saw the bridesmaid look as well, and the bridegroom appeared pretty fine in his fine jet black suit.

A few days after, when the bridal party returned, friends and a fine oyster supper awaited their arrival.

The two bridal days, Wednesday and Thursday, between Christmas and New Year's, were the busiest and grandest days the oldest inhabitant can recall for matrimonial ventures.

And probably not less than ten thousand in the U. S. and B. N. A., from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from Mexico to Hudson Bay, were tempted to be made 2 in 1 under the beautiful arches erected by church and state, to celebrate and honor the old year out and welcome the New.

This affair terminated on New Year's day with two reception dinners, provided for about 50 invited guests, and which included all the appetizing provisions found at such dinners; for, be it known, most of the modern farmers' wives know how to cook up-to-date. Some of the guests were from a distance, and the spread was as handsome as one would desire to look at and as comprehensive as the most fastidious and delicate taste could wish. And to say that all were pleasing and joyous is mildly expressing it.
All seemed constantly entertained by pleasant and witty intercourse. Mr.
D. Ibert Avery's commodious mansion-like residence is well arranged to hold a large reception.

It may not be out of place just here to say that three qualified ladies, Mrs. D. Ibert Avery, Mrs. Sadie Lillie, and Mrs. Milton Mansel, last but not least, superintended the kitchen department in detail. Boys and girls, if you want anything along this line, I advise to secure their aid early for next Christmas and New Years.

The presents at this reception were beautiful, useful, numerous and some of them costly.

The bridegroom's present to the bride was a handsome fine black fur cape.

This reception was followed by another reception at the bride's home at Charleston, on New Year's evening, largely attended. Presents have been arriving at the bride's home for several days until the list is extensive and truly valuable.

One cannot help but wonder, be even surprised, when he reflects on the hundred different forms and rites in the hundred different nations and tribes in which marriage is authorized —from a six months protracted one down to the one minute silent action from the complex rite down to the simplest form—from the most expensive ceremony down to the cheapest.

The Holy Spirit dictated to David to utter a pointed prayer. "O, Lord give me neither riches nor poverty." O, may the thousands who were united on that happy 27th realize the bright clusters of hopes they viewed on the Rainbow of Promise on that auspicious morn!

Events in the last decade prove a Rothschild, a Vanderbilt, an Astor (grand financial kings on golden throne) have diluted their nominal love, finally suffocated it in a quag mire of extravagant, polluted luxury, till divorce is their only resource. Christ seems to say that divorce is only an other name for hardness of heart, selfishness. The golden magnates whom the masses worship do this.

While the devout young man on his quarter section in the Prairie land inhales purity in his plain simple home, and rejoices with the evening and morning glories, he and his companion alone on that distant plain, all the world to each other, Christ seems to say "they are of one mind, one soul, and have become one flesh. This last is a great mystery to me.

But all in all is a beautiful type of the Church as His bride when He comes and accepts her, and sends His angels to raise, robe and crown her.

WELL
DRESSED
MAN

Makes you stop and consider the very important point—"Do I look like him or am I shabby? I wonder what it costs him to look like that."

Now Listen—If he lacks good judgment, it costs him a lot of money. If he buys Semi-Ready, it doesn't.

We place every man that purchases a Semi-Ready Suit or Overcoat under obligation to us and then he starts out to cancel that obligation by bringing in a friend, who becomes a customer, and who, in turn, starts out to bring his friends, &c.

How Do We Place a Customer under Obligation to Us?

Why, we just give him more than his money calls for—more than he expects. He becomes "the well dressed man" at a smaller cost to him than he expected, and who is there that would not speak a good word for Semi-Ready after wearing one of these stylish garments.
