THE VOTING FOR ALDERMEN ON MONDAY.

On another page of this paper will be found a facsimile of the ballot paper to be used at the election on Monday, with crosses marked opposite the names of the candidates who are Liberals. The model has been prepared for the information of the ratepayers, some of whom might, like the Spectator, not know "who is who." The Times has no idea of dictating to any ratepayer how he shall vote. That is a Tory way of doing business, and we leave the monopoly of it to our friend, the enemy, on James street north. For private or public reasons, many Liberal electors may think it desirable to vote for some candidates who are Conservatives, as they have a perfect right to do, and far be it from us to find any fault with them for so doing; but as the Tory machine and the Tory organ have determined to wave the political flag in this municipal election, no complaint can be made from that side if Liberals accept the challenge and mark their ballots on Monday for Liberals only. Fortunately, there are just as good fish in the Liberal sea as ever were caught in the Tory net, and the man who votes for 21 Liberals will not kill any of his own votes.

Again we would impress upon the electors the necessity of knowing just what they are going to do, before entering the polling booth. Without study of the ballot paper, the long list of names will be confusing, and too much time cannot be allowed to any one elector, else it will be impossible to get the vote of the city recorded between 9 o'clock and 5. The best plan will be to cut the model ballot out of the Times this evening, and, if the crosses are not placed in it to your liking, make such changes with your pencil as you may think desirable, being careful not to make a new cross without oblittering one of the old ones, so as to keep the total down to 21. Then take the paper with you to the polling place, and be guided by it in marking the official ballot.

Those electors whose business engagements make it possible for them to vote between 9 o'clock and 12 should do so without fail, in order to leave the coast clear at the noon hour for those whose work will not permit them to vote at any other time. In case of any crowding at a poll, patience may be necessary in awaiting one's turn, and every man should do his work expeditiously in order to give his neighbors a fair chance. The new system is on trial, and it will require some give-and-take to make it work smoothly.

There need be no running from poll to poll on Monday. Men who have been accustomed to vote in every ward in which they owned property will on this occasion vote only in one place, that is, in the polling division in which they reside. Thus all electors, rich and poor, are placed upon an equality; each elector can vote for one Mayor and twenty-one aldermanic candidates, and property-owners can also vote on the money by-laws, for which separate ballot papers will be provided.

THE CALEDONIA ROAD BY-LAW

The payment of interest on $25,000 would not be a crushing burden on a wealthy city like Hamilton, but even that sacrifice will not be necessary if the Caledonia electric road earns money for dividends like the Beamsville, Burlington and Dundas electric. The scheme that is a bonus that take stock and give a city. Apart from the question of trade to be obtained by inviting our friends in Barton, Glanford and Hamilton county to come frequently to Hamilton, the new electric road will supply a fine excursion route for our citizens. The run to Beamsville, especially in the blossom season, affords a charming outing; the trip to the Beach never fails, and the Dundas road has charms of its own, but there is nothing in this locality to match the air on the mountain in a hot summer day. Suppose a man had to pay an extra dollar in taxes to get the Caledonia road constructed, he would be glad of it in the first time he enjoyed a ride over the road. We hope to see a large and decisive vote in favor of the by-law on Monday.

The prohibition deputation, which waited upon the Ontario Government yesterday and presented a case which Premier Ross promised to consider, later in the day resolved to circulate petitions to the Legislature for the enactment of prohibitory legislation. That is the good, old-fashioned way of indicating the trend of public opinion. The sacred right of petition is not confined to the prohibitionists. Those who are opposed to that method of reforming the drink evil, and have more faith in a strict license law and personal control of one's habits and appetites, are also at liberty to present their petitions to the Legislature by petition. If one side acts on that line, the other side cannot well afford to refrain from action.

Wiggins says Marconi has stolen his ideas and he will seek to invalidate his patents on the wireless system. Wiggins may have known all about the matter nearly 20 years ago as he avers, but he took too long a snooze before utilizing the idea.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Beware of Spectator roorbacks!

Look out for some vile attacks by the Spectator on aldermanic candidates whom it seeks to injure and whom it did not dare to attack in time to permit of their replying to it.

Go out on Monday and vote for good men for the Council of 1902. It's a duty you owe to yourself and your fellow citizens.

A vote for a good set of aldermen on Monday is worth all the grumbling that you could do between now and next January.

The voters of Ward 6 will do well to back Mr. Brennan in his efforts to secure much-needed school accommodation for the ward. The move has not been made too soon. Give Mr. Brennan your votes on Monday.

A London physician has figured out that in the average walks the dancer travels three-quarters of a mile; in a square dance half a mile, and in a galop two to three miles. The girl who whirls through an average ball travels about fifteen miles. About as good exercise as a cross-country run.

Look over that ballot, a facsimile of which appears in the Times today. Select the men for whom you wish to vote—not more than 21—and be sure that you make no mistake when putting the crosses on it. It is quite an imposing affair, but with reasonable care the voter may make fair speed in marking it.

If you vote for more than 21 aldermen your ballot will be spoiled. Bear that in mind.

Don't be so foolish as to plump. That is a gross dereliction of duty. The city wants 21 men, and it is your duty and privilege to help to select them. Don't starve with two or three.

Don't vote for more than 21 Aldermen. If by error you so mark your ballot, demand another one.

Let us get at least one Tory at the head of a City Hall department.—Spectator.

Well, you've got the fattest thing in the City Hall, the City Solicitor.—Spectator.

You cannot be generous to your enemy by giving him a vote without injuring your friends.—Spectator.

There's a hint in that for more than the Spec. intended.

The people don't want that junketing Council again.—Spectator.

Is that a sly drive at the Morden junketing trip on free passes furnished by a Yankee railway or cement company?

Naturally the Spectator would like to be permitted to run a partisan campaign without the Liberals taking any notice of what it is doing. How innocent!

And the Grit machine is apparently not satisfied to get a majority of the Council; for it puts up the full complement of 21 candidates, in an effort to grab the whole Council.—Spectator.

If the Spec. refers to the list printed in the Times we beg to assure it that we suggest the election of 21 instead of 16, because it takes 21 to make up a Council, and we should like to see every elector vote for 21 good men. Any fault to find with that?

Will the Spec. apologize for lying about the finances of the Council of 1900? We doubt it. In spite of the fact that it knows well that it left assets to cover any alleged overdraft the organ yells for one day at least—go on swearing that there was a huge deficit.

You may not like the man, but if the man is a follower and supporter of the men who made last year's Council surplus you ought to vote for him.—Spectator.

Walk up, you poor, miserable chattering owned by the Spec. and vote as you are ordered, no matter how you are ordered, but the Boss has said it, and you've no right to an opinion further.

The Aldermen who staved over a lot of debts to make a pretended "surplus" also shirked the duty of making a grant to the widow of Fireman Smith and saddled that item on the next Council. And there are many others.

Mr. Baquil's friends will not let the much-discussed variation from the alphabetical order in the ballot affect his chances. It is sixth on the list, and it is not a sixth miss. Put a good solid X opposite the sixth name on the ballot.

Mr. Walter Bale's friends in No. 7 Ward have an excellent candidate for the School Board. Mr. Bale is a thorough business man, deeply interested in educational matters, a reasoner and a gentleman in every respect. The Times is sure that a board of such men would do Hamilton great credit.

The ratepayers have not forgotten how Ald. Dunn and Ald. Morden in a pet because they could not have their own way about everything and run the whole Council sent in their resignations, afterwards withdrawing them and smacking back when the bluff failed. It would not hurt to leave them both at home.

Ochrane is a new man who should be given a trial. He is one of the sort that all would have confidence in.

Find out where you are to vote. Don't wait for others to seek you. Sir Sanford Fleming says cable messages will pay at five cents a word. Can he get the cable companies to agree with him?

The election will be over on Monday night, but the memory of the Spectator's coarse partisan abuse of the Liberals of the city will last longer. It will probably learn that it is not good policy to treat with ridicule, scorn and contempt half the people of the city to whom it appeals for support. It should not expect the Liberal readers of newspapers to recompense it in numerous subscriptions for its partisan brutality toward them in municipal affairs. The Liberal who thus cringes to the Spec's dog-whip deserves all he gets.

Don't forget Geo. S. Kerr on Monday. He has been a most useful alderman, and well deserves the support of all who wish to see the city business carefully attended to.

Put a cross opposite the name of Walter T. Evans. He's a good one.

Monday is the voters' day. If they throw away their opportunity at the call of a party boss they need not equal when they suffer.

The Spec. talks about "surpluses," as if the people were to be easily fooled into thinking that the last year's Council really had something to the good at the end of the year after the debts and obligations of 1901 were taken care of. That story will not go with those who know the facts. When the obligations of 1901 are discharged the Council of that year will stand from $8,000 to $10,000 in debt, and the incoming Council will have to foot the bill.

"Surpluses," indeed! Any Council can have a surplus if it cares to follow the plan of the Council of 1901 and stave over a few thousands of dollars for the next Council to liquidate. That's easy; but it is not business.

Hamilton never had a Council that had less to show for the money spent than the Council of last year. All the paving done was paid for by special vote under the good roads by-law, and the local improvement system. Can any ratepayer see what was done with the money of the regular appropriation? The fact is that much of it was squandered most recklessly.

The "economy" practised by the last year's Council was the kind that does not do necessary work, but spends the money in hand in having a good time. The Council never was too hard up to afford junketing and deputation trips; oh, no!

It will pay Hamilton to have a Council that will not be the recipient of free passes for the spending committees to go junketing on.

If you vote for more than 21 you might as well not vote at all. Your ballot will not be counted for anything.

Cut out the ballot appearing in this issue; it will help you to select twenty-one good men.

There has not been a better alderman than Dr. TenEyck in the Council in many years. Give him your vote; we need such men.

Have any of the defenders of the ruling element on the Council of last year tried to tell you of any work that was done with the money spent? Do you know of any? What became of all the taxes of 1901 that were not required to pay interest? All the paving work is charged to the future.

Any dirty yarn that the Spectator may set afloat now about the aldermanic candidates may safely be put down as a lie. Had it anything true to reveal it would have revealed it ere this. Beware the roorback!

"See how we entertained the Duke," cry the members of the ring in the Council of last year. Well, the people paid for it, didn't they? And the Czar of the committee would not even let the people who paid for it see the $100 address that was to be presented. It is pretty cheeky to ask credit for that.

Mr. Arland is a man who ought to be given a place at the Board. He would be a distinct acquisition to the Council.

Go early to vote on Monday. Voting will be a slow matter, and you can not afford to take any chances of delaying others or getting shut out yourself.

James Scott, one of the most wide-awake merchants on King street, is an aldermanic candidate. No elector who fails to vote for Mr. Scott will have any right to complain that business men refuse to serve the city in the Council. Elect him on Monday, near the head of the poll, and other leading merchants will be encouraged to take a turn in the Council.

Oh, the Brute! (Montreal Star)

She—And what would you be now if it weren't for my money?

He—A bachelor.

Hoped It Was True. (The Schoolmaster)
