

KILLED PRIEST AT ALTAR.

Father Heinrichs Shot by Anarchist in Denver Church.

Proud of Deed, Had Grudge Against All Priests.

He Had Never Seen His Victim Before.

Denver, Col., Feb. 23.—Father Leo Heinrichs was shot and killed to-day by Giuseppe Guarnaceto, an avowed anarchist and priest-hater, while the priest was administering the sacrament at the early mass in St. Elizabeth's Roman-Catholic Church. Kneeling at the altar rail between two women, Guisepp pressed the muzzle of a revolver against the body of the priest, after receiving from him the consecrated water, and shot the priest through the heart. Exclaiming, "My God, my God!" Father Leo fell prone in front of the altar and died.

With an inarticulate scream the assassin sprang into the aisle, and waving the smoking pistol about his head dashed to the church door. For a moment the hundred or more persons in the church were dazed. Then a woman shrieked and the congregation became panic-stricken. Several women fainted and many others became hysterical. Several men, including Patrolman Daniel Cronin, started in pursuit of the murderer. Patrolman Cronin overtook the fleeing Italian on the church steps.

Guarnaceto attempted to shoot the policeman, but was foiled and overpowered, after a desperate struggle, in which several men assisted the officer. The murderer was hurriedly removed to the city jail. At threats of summary vengeance by men who collected in front of the church Chief of Police Michael Delaney called out the reserve force of patrolmen, who were kept on guard all day and to-night.

Before the commotion caused by the tragedy subsided the Franciscan Brothers connected with St. Elizabeth's Church silently brought candles for the dead and placed them beside the body of their superior, where he lay. By direction of Bishop Matz, the church was closed for the day.

A single bullet hole in the white communion robes of the priest showed that the lead had gone straight to the heart. The bullets remaining in Giuseppe's revolver had sharpened points. Guarnaceto is to be held in solitary confinement. He admitted to the policeman that the priest whom he had killed was a stranger to him, and in explanation of his crime said: "I just went over there because I have a grudge against all priests in general. They are all against the workingman. I went to the communion rail because I could get a better shot. I did not give a damn whether he was a German priest or any other kind of a priest. They are all in the same class. I am a shoemaker, but have not worked since coming to Denver."

Father Leo was born in Koeln, Germany, Aug. 15, 1867. He was a Franciscan, and came here last September from Paterson, N. J., where for three years he was rector of St. Bonaventura's. He had previously served three years in Croghan, N. Y. He had been planning to sail for Germany in June to visit relatives whom he had not seen for sixteen years.

TWICE CAUGHT STEALING.

Young Woman Shoplifter Arrested in Montreal.

Montreal, Feb. 23.—On Monday Miss Eva Rivard, a young and well-dressed woman, was caught stealing in Scroggie's departmental store. She was forced to give up her stolen goods, and let go with a warning. On Saturday she was again caught in the same store stealing and was turned over to the police.

Her room was searched later and clothing to the value of $200 found there. There were between 20 and 30 waists and other articles believed to be stolen. A fur coat and diamond bracelet were also found. She appears in court on Monday.

INSANE MAN AT KERWOOD.

Charles Marshley Takes Possession of Railway Telegraph Office.

Strathroy, Feb. 23.—The village of Kerwood, about six miles west of here, was thrown into a state of excitement last night by the actions of a farm hand named Charles Marshley, who went violently insane. Marshley walked into the depot, ordered the operator out, and took possession, and all efforts to remove him proved futile until the arrival of Arthur Morgan, for whom Marshley had worked for the past three years. After coming out Marshley threatened to burn the barns and surrounding buildings.

After a hard struggle John Taylor, county constable, succeeded in placing him under arrest, and kept him under close guard all night. He was taken to the London Asylum by Chief Wilson. Marshley is a home boy, about twenty years of age, and has been in this country about three years.

New Publications.

The March number of Scribner's Magazine opens with a paper of adventure by Arthur Ruhl, who crossed the Andes in winter, from the Chilean side to the Argentine foothills, about 150 miles. Charles M. Pepper, in his third article, "The Transformation of Transportation," takes the reader to the opposition side of the world and shows how modern invention is making over the Orient. Madame Waddington describes various amusing "Ceremonies and Festivals" in the neighborhood of her chateau. By way of contrast the simple life of the French Canadian habitant is described by the artist, Birge Harrison, who has lived among them. It is illustrated with his pictures.

The short stories are four in number.

BLOWN FROM TRACK.

VIOLENT HURRICANE VISITS ENGLAND AND IRELAND.

Eight Men Drowned in the Mersey—Fatalities in Several Cities—A Dozen Grand Stands Blown Down and Churches Unroofed.

London, Feb. 22.—England and Ireland were in the grasp of a hurricane to-day which left death and destruction in its wake. In the Mersey River a schooner was capsized and eight men drowned. Several small steamers are reported in distress off Holyhead, while a number of small craft have been driven ashore. No less than ten dozen grand stands at several provincial points were blown down, and many of the occupants who had gathered to witness local football matches injured.

The tornado was of short duration, but most violent, unroofing schools and churches and uprooting trees. Fatalities are reported through the collapse of buildings in Manchester, Sheerness, Wisbech and Leeds. The tramway services in Liverpool and Manchester were partially suspended, because of trees that had fallen over the tracks. The lightship at Crosby was sunk, but the crew was rescued by a trawler. A schooner foundered off Sheerness and the skipper was drowned. Many were injured at Birmingham.

A train running between Burtonport and Demegal was blown off the rails by the wind while crossing a viaduct and nearly crashed into the bog beneath. The passengers were rescued unhurt.

The launching at Belfast of the new 25,000-ton steamer Rotterdam for the New York service of the Holland-American Line had to be postponed on account of the gale.

STOLE SECRETS.

FRENCH COURT-MARTIAL DEGRADES AND IMPRISONS NAVAL OFFICER.

He Made a Partial Confession—Intended to Sell Them to Foreign Power—Naval Tactics Reconstructed as a Result.

Toulon, Feb. 23.—Charles B. Ulmo, an ensign in the French navy, has been found guilty by a court-martial of attempting to sell naval secrets to a foreign power and sentenced to life imprisonment in a fortress and to be degraded from his rank.

Ensign Ulmo was arrested at Toulon, Oct. 25th, on the charge of being a spy. An examination of his effects showed him to be in possession of many valuable documents, and he afterwards confessed to having abstracted a secret signal book and the naval cipher. An army reserve officer named Burton was arrested later at Vendome on similar charges, and at Toulon on Nov. 10th five ringleaders of an important association of international spies were taken into custody. It is believed that all these men were in some way connected with Ulmo's plan. The authorities decided to sell information concerning the defenses of France to a German agent.

Ulmo made a partial confession to the charges brought against him, and as a result the French authorities decided to order the reconstruction of the French naval tactics. The court decided unanimously that Ensign Ulmo had abstracted military documents involving the security of the State and had communicated them to a foreign power with the view of selling them. He had not, however, actually disposed of the papers. Counsel for Ulmo practically admitted the facts as charged, but asked for clemency on the ground that Ulmo was a victim of the opium habit and had fallen under the power of an unscrupulous woman, for whom he had squandered his fortune and ruined his life. Ulmo was completely crushed when his sentence was read.

ANOTHER ITALIAN MURDER.

Vicario Silvio Shot Through the Head at Montreal.

Montreal, Feb. 23.—Another Italian murder was committed here on Saturday night, following close on the stabbing of Friday afternoon. The victim of the last killing is named Vicario Silvio, who was shot through the head, expiring on Sunday morning in Notre Dame Hospital without having regained consciousness.

An Italian named Corderone Carmino is accused of the deed, but he has escaped. Two friends of the accused man stated to-night that Carmino committed the deed in self-defense, and when he prepared his line of defence intended giving himself up to the police. The two men lived together on Cavillier street with a number of other Italians, Silvio and his wife having only gone there a month ago. The police are at a loss how to deal with the Italian problem in this city.

76,496 DEATHS FROM PNEUMONIA

There are good grounds for a pneumonia scare. Some newspapers have been publishing statistics which show it is formidable rival of consumption in the death rate. During the census year in United States there were nearly seventy-seven thousand deaths due to pneumonia, and although consumption leads this by 62,000, pneumonia is responsible for more deaths than diphtheria, scarlet fever, smallpox and cancer combined. The trouble is that people are too careless about colds—let them run on—grow bigger every day—finally old pneumonia steps in.

The very best thing to keep handy in every household is Nerviline, which you can depend on for curing colds. It affords certain relief and a quick cure. It has more potency, greater penetrating and curative power than any other liniment. When a cold is starting, give the chest and throat a vigorous rubbing with Nerviline, gargle the throat with Nerviline and take a good stiff dose in hot water. You'll be surprised how fast the cold will disappear. Of course the chest should be protected by a Nerviline-Porous Plaster, which will absorb all congestion and in inflammation. You won't need to fear Pneumonia, Grippe, Bronchitis or cold of any kind if you keep Nerviline handy.

THE NEW BLOUSE JACKET SUIT.

Nos. 6125-5961—A chic costume of light brown broadcloth combined with velvet is shown in this smart model. The jaunty coat is decidedly new with front and back cut in one with the kimono sleeve. It is popularly known as the "Butterfly" wrap and is very becoming. The skirt is a most attractive four-gored model, laid in an inverted box-pleat at each seam. The top is given close adjustment, while the lower edge flares in prevailing style. Bands and strappings of the velvet form a most effective trimming, but braid is equally stylish. For 36 inches bust measure 1 7-8 yards of 44-inch material will be required for the coat and 4 7-8 yards for the skirt.

Ladies' butterfly jacket. No. 6125. Sizes for 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42 inches bust measure.

GARDEN, BREAD AND POETRY

One of the most delightful experiences in gardening is laying out the ground. It is a pursuit as personal as making bread—or a poem. For just, as in these fair days, the laws of fermentation of meter must prevail, so laws of garden setting are inexorable, and yet it is in handling one's yeasts and iambs and plants with a difference that the role of creator is played. In bread there is a charmed moment for the second mixing; in a verse there is an enchanted fashioning of varying meter to woo the meaning and before the ear; and in a garden there is always an inevitable place for the holyholys and the shower-of-gold and the Forsythia and all the "tall, green-ador flowers," and to substitute violets merely because one admires them would be like using pretty words for significant ones—or frosting the bread. Various corners of the garden call their various needs which only one special thing will fill. A bare bit of lattice, a gray shoulder of wall, a plain arbor—these petition unmistakably for tall flowers, or for a hedge of sweet peas, or for any slender flowering shrub that will grow to the desired height. That low corner of the garden, by a turn in the wall, where many boughs weave a curtain, demands white violets and lisses and Jack-in-the-pulps and lady-slippers and ferns and mandrakes. It is the marsh corner of the garden, and to plant red geraniums there would be an insult to nature, sunny banks and open places are the home of geraniums; if one likes them, and of nasturtiums; and, by the way, if there is a bit of rocky soil in the garden, the nasturtiums ought to be there. The joy which the eye takes in a flood of sun on a tulip bed, on a strip of daffodils, or on a riot of pinks and dahlias illustrates how at least one rule in house-arrangement is reversed in gardening. For whereas a bit of brass or a statue may light the dusk corner of a room, and sombre cabinets may be set in the light, it is far otherwise out of doors; there the cool, shaded recesses of a garden demand delicately unobtrusive flowers, while the sunny spots call aloud for tides of color to gladden them.—From

Mr. Robson had been a resident of Haldimand township for 80 years, coming here with his parents from Scotland when he was in his sixth year. He was a life-long Liberal and in religion a Presbyterian. His wife predeceased him, but two sons, A. V. and John Robson, of Haldimand, and two daughters, Miss Bloomfield and Miss Ella Robson, survive.

Boy Makes the Discovery on the Edge of Flatbush—Police Deduce That Marchine Was Stilettoed in a Barber's Chair, But Don't Know Who Did It.

New York, Feb. 22.—Salvatore Marchine, who knew more than was good for him and told more than he should, went into a barber shop somewhere in the Italian colony in Brooklyn after closing hours on Wednesday night and was shaved. Just as the barber was finishing with him some one from behind partitioned his arms to the chair, while another man drove a stiletto deep into the left side of his neck with three savage strokes.

The blinds were down in the front of the shop at the time and the door was locked, but despite the small danger of interruption the men who had planned the death of Marchine hurried bunglingly about their task of disposing of his body. First they took the corpse out of the barber's chair and into a back room where he had been located. Then with the barber's razors and with a small hacksaw, such as is used by laborers to saw through steel, they dismembered the body, separating the limbs from the trunk and cutting through the bones below the joints. So hurriedly did the murderers perform their task that they did not even undress the body before beginning, but made the sweeps of the razor through outer clothes and undergarments. Then to insure, as they thought, against the identification of their victim when his dismembered body should be found they sliced off all of the features of the face that fell within the sweep of one or two slashing cuts of the razor.

That done, the severed stumps of the limbs were washed clean, and after much of the blood that flowed from the wounds had drained away into the vents of the bathtub or upon oilcloth laid upon the floor, the murderers tied up the body in one bundle of new oilcloth and the limbs in another, and some time after the storm had ceased on Wednesday night or early Thursday morning they took the two bundles in a cart out to a dump ground, near the corner of Rochester avenue and Rutland road, in the Flatbush district of Brooklyn, and there dumped them among the piles of rubbish.

John Hanlon, a seventeen-year-old boy, who makes a precarious living by collecting and selling junk and who sometimes takes orders on Thursday for Friday's fish among the people who live in "Pigtown," as the district on the outskirts of the Flatbush is called, found the body in the marsh.

JAP EXPOSITION

Anxious That the States Make a Big Appropriation.

Tokio, Feb. 22.—Since the publication in Japan of that portion of President Roosevelt's message bearing on participation by the United States in the international exposition to be held in Tokio in 1912, there has been much speculation as to the extent to which America would take part.

Viscount Kaneko points out that when the St. Louis Exposition was opened in 1904, Japan was unfortunately engaged in war, but notwithstanding this the Japanese Government appropriated the sum of $400,000 for the exposition. In 1892 Japan set aside $300,000 for the World's Fair in Chicago. There is disappointment in business circles generally that there is not to be a greater sum spent for the United States representation. Viscount Kaneko specifically states that in his belief whatever sum the United States decides to appropriate will be a sort of stamp of approval on the part of the Japanese Government is appropriating ten million yen or about $5,000,000 for the enterprise.

ZAM-BUK GAVE INSTANT RELIEF.

Mrs. N. Blair of St. Catherine Street North, Hamilton, Ont., says—"A few weeks since, while suffering quite badly from an attack of rheumatism in my right hip, I was advised to try Zam-Buk and did so, with almost magical results. Since then I have had occasion to use it for a badly bruised and swollen knee, which I injured quite accidentally by falling against a Morris rocker. My knee was swollen terribly, turned black and blue, and was very painful. I began rubbing Zam-Buk well into the injured member and it was indeed surprising what instant relief I found. The swelling was soon reduced and all pain and discoloration banished, and by persevering with this balm my injured knee was well again in a couple of days. I shall now use Zam-Buk in all cases of household emergencies since it has proved of such benefit for rheumatism and bruises. I would recommend it to others so afflicted."
