TRANSFERRING OFFICES.—The offices of the Reid Nfd. Co.'s electrical staff are shortly to be transferred to the Angel Engineering Co.'s building on Water Street. The office of Supt. Morris will also be in the same building.

Here and There.

Mr. Wiseman, Carter's Hill, can supply you with any quantity of Stafford's Liniment.—may 21st.

CRICKET FIXTURES.—Monday next the Feildian and Methodist cricket teams will play the first match in the Inter-collegiate series; the Wednesday afterwards the Methodists and St. Bon's will play, and on Saturday the Feildians and St. Bon's will try conclusions. Each eleven has some fine batters and bowlers, and this year's contests will be keen ones.

TRY THEM NEXT.—If you have not placed your order for your summer suit, we ask you to give us a trial, and guarantee to give you garments that for cut, workmanship and trimmings cannot be excelled in St. John's. The products of our shop are our best advertisements. SPURRELL BROS., Tailor, 365 Water Street, next door Parker & Monroe.—may 17th.

C. C. C. A. MEETS.—The C. C. C. Athletic Association met last night at the armory of the brigade. Reports of last year were submitted and the programme for this season outlined. The Cadets football team then elected officers. They won the championship cup in the brigade division last year and hope to retain their laurels this year.

Mr. Malone, New Gower Street, will always have a large supply of Stafford's Queen of Liniments on hand. may 21st.

SUPT GRAY.—Mr. A. C. Gray, the new superintendent of the Reid locomotive shops, who replaces Mr. Turnbull, arrived here by the Bruce express last evening. He will take up his duties next week.

EXPRESS ARRIVES.—The Bruce express arrived here at 7.35 p.m. yesterday. She brought a large number of passengers including E. Bishop, C. Powers, Capt. W. R. and J. Winsor, Miss Marie Devine, B. McGrath, J. Fenelon, Miss M. Walsh, Miss Seymour and J. Mercer.

GETTING SHIP READY.—The s.s. Sagona is now on the dry dock and is being done up for the Labrador service. She is being nicely painted up and will sail for Sydney Friday. On her return she will be taken over by the Reid Nfd. Co. and will sail for Labrador early in June. Capt. Parsons will be in command.

A FINE RUN.—Yesterday we noted the fact that the schr. Empire, Capt. Benson, got over to Oporto in 17 days. The run was a record one. It will be remembered that the Empire was long given up as lost on her last voyage out from Cadiz, she being 170 days out. Capt. Benson, however, brought her safely through and showed that he is a capable commander.

DELEGATE LEAVING.—Mr. Geo. Langmead will go out by this evening's express to Fredericton, N.B., as the Newfoundland delegate to the Sovereign Grand Lodge of B. N. A. of the Loyal Orange Association. Next week the meeting will be held, and we hear, Mr. Langmead on behalf of the L. O. A. of Newfoundland will invite the Grand Lodge to hold its session here next year.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES GART IN COWS.

"I Will Tell My People."

Editor Evening Telegram,
Dear Sir,—This text is written from the published speeches of the local King Edward. This wonderful man was born in St. John's; as to the exact locality there is some dispute amongst historians. Some say it was in the neighborhood of Barter's Hill, others are vague on the point, but most people think it would be well to leave the settlement of this to his contemporary, the noted historian, P. T. McGrath, who has already written a book. Amongst the profane and skeptical there is a tradition that our local king was not as wise as he might be, though his defenders have endowed him with all the virtues of the epitaph. As a devotee I have closely followed his career; and must say that from my reading of his history he has been a wonderful man, and no wonder that the halo of wisdom surrounds his noble brow. He has been a shining light, his deeds are great and glorious, and no wonder is there when we hear certain people say, "Go thou and do likewise." The acts of Edward are numerous and always beneficial—to himself. Consider the words again, how touching; he has always touched—the Treasury; "I will tell my people." The sublimity of the words are incomparable. This great man, it is said by biographers, disappeared in the year A. D. 1912. His acts were many and wonderful. He appeared first as the splendid "Young Tribune," vanished quietly, reappeared again, some say betrayed the party with whom he was associated, and later settled down to a life of contemplative study. He studied so hard that he evolved from the recesses of a great brain several works which in themselves will immortalize him. He codified politics with the accent always on the cod, and from these his great brain evolved what is known as Makinson cod, and since then he has been codifying everything and everybody in sight. His zeal for the good of the people made him sigh for "new worlds to conquer," like Alexander the Great, and unkempt and unshorn, and they say almost barefoot, he travels hundreds of miles to another continent to bring the great tidings to the people of the world. At that time there existed a great country many leagues from his birthplace, and he went there as a peacemaker. Hear his words—"I will tell my people." Sublime, grand, magnificent! There was danger of war between the great nation he represented and the other nation to whom he spoke. Immediately peace was proclaimed. Now since then this great man has been missing and none know whether he has gone. During these years a company of play actors strolled into the birthplace of this man and gave a delineation of the capture of two great provinces—Al case Lorraine. The orchestra frequently played "Oh where, oh where is my little dog gone?" Many think that this will bring back the peacemaker. He has cropped up in many places and, as remarked before, his acts are wonderful. He visited the League in the interest of peace and only charged $12,000 on account. He established jam factories, collar factories, butterine mills, railway loans, two blade grass, cold storage (with an eye to the future for himself—he'll want it), sheep raising (he whittened the South Side Hills), and so lowly was he that he went into a small shack on Circular Road instead of dwelling in the palatial residences of the West End, where there was nothing but feasting and high living. He was the first to start the philanthropic system known as "picnics"—at somebody else's expense. Poems could be written about this great king but I'll promise you more later. As a sign to all men I will conclude by again quoting the text of this great man's promise, "I will tell my people," and am,

ECONOMY.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Kindly allow me space in the People's Paper for the following:—

I have been considering the good which could be manifested in this life if one could stop one moment and study the simple words "Economy," of which I think would be a great benefit spiritually, intellectually and financially and every other way.

Economy is that which two-thirds of the people of the Universe smile at and the other third, well I may say, it is divided into two parts, one part lives for it and the other part dies for it. Economy should be strictly practised when a business is in peril. I would apply this admonition, cultivate forthrightly upon a little oatmeal. Spurgeon had said: "Do not by extravagance kill the goose which lays the golden egg."

If our Government to-day by shutting down on pleasure trips and pay more attention to the country's welfare it will be a great thing. Our police should have more pay and we should not have fine men leaving the force for want of a mere existing salary.

Yours truly,
G. C. KENNEDY.
