Government Contracts.

Arrangements are now being completed by contractors for the cutting of pulp-wood in different parts of the country during the winter, and so much employment will be given in this way that the threatened destitution for want of labor amongst able-bodied men will be very much reduced, or almost entirely overcome. The cutting of the logs is being given out to contractors, each one taking on an average 2,000 cords. The contractors will employ the loggers and the Government will have no responsibility except to ensure the purchase of the logs when piled on the banks next Spring.
 There is one little difficulty that seems to be causing some trouble, and that is the overlapping of contractors in their work on the same crown lands areas, and we have heard a good deal of dissatisfaction expressed this week owing to the fact that so many loggers will be working in the same area, that the contractors will find it difficult, if not impossible, to fill their contract on the territory assigned them, and they say that this could be easily avoided by giving territory somewhere else.
 Quite a large amount of food supplies have been given out to contractors, on the guarantee of their agreements with the Government for the purchase of their winter's output of pulp-wood and if the scheme works out according to estimate, upwards of 3,000 men will find employment in the woods this winter.—

The Loss of the Chipman.

CREW SUBSISTED ON RAW TURBIPES.
 On yesterday a copy of the Telegram containing a reference by a correspondent to the old L. de V. Chipman reached the writer. The account given is in the main correct, but it is probable that enquiry would establish that the old ship was timber instead of ore laden. The ship's insurance occasioned a prolonged law suit as the Insurance Company refused to pay because the master had brought the vessel out of the Gulf of St. Lawrence via the Straits of Belle Isle at a date later than the insurance conditions permitted. The Chipman, after repairing, left here for an English port in charge of the late Capt. Richard Kearney. She met bad weather on the run across and her seams opened and she became water logged. The crew stood by her for nearly a month before they were taken off. During the last seven or eight days before rescue they had to subsist on raw turpines and a small quantity of hard bread.

Moplah Revolt.

TROUBLE SPREADING TO NEW DISTRICTS.
 Much anxiety is being caused to the Indian authorities by the spread of the Moplah rebellion in the Malabar district. As our readers are aware, the Moplahs are a Mohammedan sect. The trouble has now lasted for more than two months, and has developed into a species of guerrilla warfare. Owing to the cover afforded to the rebel bands by the jungle country, operations are necessarily slow and difficult. The latest official report is as follows: The spread of the Moplah rebellion from the area hitherto mainly affected to Callout Taluk (sub-district) has caused considerable anxiety, but there are reasons to believe that the call to arms in those parts has not met with a very general response. A number of rebel bands have, however, done considerable damage. They have also been engaged in looting, forcibly converting Hindus, and collecting arms. A party of special armed police sent to deal with the situation in Callout Taluk was ambushed at the end of October, and accounted for 28 rebels; but of their own number six were wounded, including Mr. Colebrook, who had just been appointed to command the company, and one was killed. Mr. Colebrook's wounds are not serious. In the areas which are most seriously affected there seems to be no alternative to dealing with rebels in detail, and this is bound to be a long and difficult business. There are signs, however, in some parts of an increasing desire on the part of the rebels to surrender, and on Nov. 7 it was reported that nearly 1,000 from different places in the neighbourhood of Malapuram had signified their submission, and that overtures had been received from other quarters. It remains to be seen how far their professions are genuine, and in any case, the problem of how to deal with them is a difficult one, and this, together with the problem of the treatment of refugees, who are now very numerous, is engaging the attention of the local authorities. The reinforcements asked for towards the end of October have arrived. The local government have also sanctioned an increase in the force of special armed police, which was formed at the beginning of October, to double the new Indian Territorial Force Act, and the number of applications from Hindus for enrolment is reported to be very satisfactory. A general staff communique on the moplah situation says: Two thousand Moplahs heavily attacked the Pandikott post, which was held by a company of the 2/8th Gurkha Rifles. The enemy lost 220 killed. Our casualties were: Capt. Averill, of the 2/8th Gurkhas, killed. Three other ranks killed and 24 wounded.—News of the World, Nov. 20.

Sensational Sales.

No doubt the number of large properties now coming under the hammer is one of many indications that we are passing through hard times. But, though a whole town near London—as in the case of Relgate—has seldom been offered for sale by auction, knights of the rostrum have had many big "deals."
 At the Mart here was offered a royal forest of about fifteen hundred acres, Burnham Beeches and Hardicanute's Moot, a Roman camp, the Falls of Lodore, and many important industrial undertakings.
 A curious lot of this nature was a gasworks, including plant. Because when the auctioneer's hammer fell it struck a spot 8,600 miles distant from the property, which was in Copiapo, Chili.
Taxes Never Paid.
 Over and over again a "kingdom"—Lundy Island, in the Bristol Channel—has been sold by auction in London. Once it was knocked down for £2,750, while some years later it was withdrawn when the bidding reached £13,000.
 When it was set up for auction on another occasion, Mr. Aubrey de Vere's grandfather, who had been walking aimlessly in the streets, was attracted by the noise, and entered the room.
 "He knew nothing whatever about the island," said Mr. de Vere, "but when the auctioneer proclaimed that it had never paid tax or tithes, that he acknowledged neither King nor Parliament, nor law, civil or ecclesiastical, and that its proprietor was in his own seamy domain at once Pope and Emperor, he made a bid, and the island was knocked down to him. It paid its cost by the sale of rabbits."

 Remarkable for another reason was the sale of George IV's wardrobe. That monarch's profusion in articles of dress was, according to a contemporary diarist, "unbounded, because he never paid for them," and, as he remembered every one of them, with the result that his pages were always liable to be called upon to produce some particular coat or uniform, he left at his death an amazing assortment.
 The coats he had worn during fifty years, costumes of all the Orders in Europe, every kind of uniform, splendid furs and pelisses, hunting coats and breeches—these and many other personal belongings were exposed to the gaze of an auction-room audience.
