The reasons urged for the change was, that those who pay their subscriptions in kind often give articles which are next to worthless. The late Daniel O'Connell was one of a tribe of drinkers, who were known as three-bottle men. One day he was taken to task by a lady of temperance principles. 'They tell me, sir,' said the female reformer, 'that you can sit down after dinner, and drink off three bottles of claret.' "Well, ma'am,' said the great orator, "he who told you 'nat' story told you the truth.' "Three bottles of wine! But, sir, do you drink all that claret without any help?" 'Ha, ma'am, there now you have me. Not quite without help. To drink three bottles of claret I require the help of a pint of port."

The GREAT GLASGOW CHIMNEY.—The tallest chimney in the world is said to be that at the Port Dundas Works, Glasgow, Scotland. Its height from the foundation is 468 feet; above the ground, 454 feet, the foundation being 14 feet deep; the outside diameter, on a level with ground, is 34 feet, at the top 12 feet and 8 inches; thickness at the ground, seven bricks, at the top one and a half bricks; the internal diameter at the base is 20 feet, which gradually contracts at the top to 10 feet 4 inches diameter. There are no other human structures in the world higher than this but the steeple of the Strasburg Cathedral, which is 466 feet above the ground, and that of St. Stephen's Church, in Vienna, which is 465 feet high. The most wonderful part of the story of this lofty chimney is, that having been twisted out of the vertical line to the extent of even feet nine inches, by a violent wind, store the mortar was hardened, human ill has reduced it to a perfect perpendar again. The mortar was sawed

An Awkward Mistake.—The merchants at Victoria who are interesting themselves in the project of supplying the English market with Australian preserved meat, were lacely subjected to a great disappointment. It seems that a telegram was received stating that 38,000 tons of the meat had been sold in London. The news caused much rejoicing. It was subsequently discovered, however, that there had been an error of a letter in the message: An "o" had been substituted for an "i." It should have been 38,000 tins, not tons. The tins only contain a few pounds each.
